Queen City Academy Charter School (QCACS)

QCACS will prepare its students for today's competitive world by focusing on STEM education. QCACS' rigorous academic curriculum will put an emphasis on mathematics and science, but will also balance it with a strong foundation in the humanities. High expectations will be at the core of the education program. An extended learning program, tutoring opportunities, data-driven instructional programs, parent involvement, and collaboration with the area universities and colleges will be important components of the school's program. Moreover, QCACS will implement a character education program, provide a career-oriented college preparation program, and ensure strong student-teacher-parent alliance. QCACS graduates will have the academic and social skills necessary to become successful professionals and exemplary members of their community. QCACS, when fully operational, will serve 420 students in grades 6-12 in Bangor area. The school is proposed to start in 2013-2014 academic year with 120 students in grades six and seven. QCACS Board includes parents, teachers, academicians, business professionals, and existing charter operators with a proven record of success.
