

01 DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, CONSERVATION AND FORESTRY*670 BUREAU OF PARKS AND LANDS*Chapter 54: BEAR BAITING ON PUBLIC LANDS

PREAMBLE

In accordance with 5 M.R.S. § 8052 and 12 M.R.S. § 1802 the Department of Conservation, Bureau of Parks and Lands adopted rules to regulate bear baiting on Public Lands in 1991. The rules permitted bear baiting on public reserved lands and nonreserved public lands in a manner consistent with the Bureau's land management responsibilities. The rules, last amended in 2002, set bear bait site permit fees, permit application requirements, the lottery process for assigning sites to applicants, the size of bait sites, and other standards.

SUMMARY

There are a disproportionately large number of hunters competing for limited bear baiting stations on Public Lands. These rules provide a process to efficiently and equitably issue permits for bait sites, while minimizing or avoiding land management conflicts and risks to public safety in certain high-use recreation areas. Fees are established to support the Bureau's administrative costs.

These rules also clarify procedures which allow bear baiting on public reserved lands and nonreserved public lands in a manner that will not conflict with land management activities, will ensure safety to all users of these lands and will streamline administration of the bear baiting permit process.

Sec. 1: AUTHORITY AND PURPOSE
