The Department of Environmental Protection has included texts of enacted, unallocated law provisions relating to the codified statutory provisions in this publication. "Unallocated law" provisions are not allocated to the Maine Revised Statute, and are often temporary in effect. Such housekeeping provisions may include application, transition, implementation, appropriation and sunset provisions. Unallocated law has the same legal effect as codified law. The department has not included unallocated law provisions related to subjects such as reporting and rulemaking requirements.

The table of contents and footnotes are not part of the statutory text. Not all previous amendments are indicated.

This handout dated July 18, 2008 includes amendments to the Stormwater Management Law, and the new provision at 38 M.R.S.A. § 439-B, which are contained in the following chapter effective July 18, 2008: :

Chapter 593, An Act to Protect Lake Water Quality
