Unit 3: Resources in Our Communities

WEEK 5 Day 1

Writing Biography

Deconstruction: Biography Purpose and Stages Individual Construction: Biography Brainstorm

| ContentObjectives        | I can use key details to identify the parts of a biography's orientation andits record of events. (RL.1.3, W.1.3)I can identify someone who provides a service in our community and writeabout why we should interview that person. (W.1.1)  |  |
|------------------------------|--|--|
| LanguageObjective        | I can refer back to the text when answering questions. (SL.1.2)  |  |
| Vocabulary                   | <ul> <li>biography: a genre of writing whose purpose is to tell a person's life story</li> <li>purpose: the reason for doing or creating something</li> <li>stages: the parts of a piece of writing</li> <li>genre: a type of writing</li> <li>orientation: in a biography, the text that introduces the person and his/her</li> <li>significance</li> <li>record of events: things that happened that helped develop the person's identity</li> </ul>   |  |
| Materials andPreparation | <ul> <li>To become familiar with the genre and how it is taught, read Writing:Introduction to Biography (in the Unit 3 Introduction documents).</li> <li>Snowflake Bentley, Jacqueline Briggs MartinPre-mark page numbers in the book to correspond with the lesson.Page 1 begins, "In the days"</li> <li>chart paperPrepare the following Snowflake Bentley chart.Note: Separate strips with events from the book will be affixed tothe Snowflake Bentley chart under Record of Events; make eachspace sufficiently wide to accommodate these strips (about 3 x 10").</li> </ul> |  |

|                                     | Snowflake Bentley  |   |  |   |              |
|-------------------------------------|--|---|--|---|--------------|
|                                     | Orientation:   |   |  |   |              |
|                                     | Who  | When  | Where  | What  |              |
|                                     | Record of Events   | 5:  |     |   |              |
|                                     |  |   |  |   |              |
|                                     |  |   |  |   |              |
|                                     | Conclusion:  |   |  |   |              |
|                                     | Note that 3 sttape or glue,Biography BraNote that thewill be assigninterview and | ainstorm sheet, oe class will chooseed to 4 small groud write about. Eace individual biog | on each of Daysrecord of eventsne copy for each4 people to inteups, based on whch group will con | 1 and 2.strips to the charchildrview, and childreto they would likeduct one interview | ene to   |
| Opening1 minute          | communities.communicate  | more about the  | y important resopeople in our cor  | urce. To learn and  |              |
| Deconstruction18 minutes | However, instyou, you will   | ead of writing abwrite the true lifeake Bently, by Jac  | out something trstory of someon  | o personal recounrue that happenedne else. Let's readIartin, to learn mo                      | d tothis |
| pages 1-2                           | Refer to the SnowflaThe stages of  | •   | ery similar to the   | stages of personc   | וג           |

| recount. Both begin with an orientation. In biography, theorientation introduces the reader to who the biography is about,when and where it happens and what is significant about theperson we are reading about. Let's read the first pages of the bookand add the parts of the orientation to our chart.Read page 1 and the sidebar information on page 2.Think, Pair, Share.What information from the orientation did you hear on thesepages?Circulate to support children's conversations.Ask the following questions, one at a time, to harvest children's ideas andadd information to the chart. Reread parts of the page as necessary. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Who is this biography about?Where was he born?Let's continue reading to find out what is significant about WilsonBentley.pages 2-5Think, Pair, Share.What do we learn about Wilson Bentley on these pages? What washis problem?pages 2-5Think, Pair, Share.What do we learn about Wilson Bentley on these pages? What washis problem?pages 6-7Think, Pair, Share.What do we learn about Wilson Bentley is likes. They includeevents to relate to what is significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's likes. They includeevents to relate to what is significant people. But they don'ttell everything that bappened in those people's likes. They includeevents or lacte to what is significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's likes. They includeevents or relate to what is significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's likes. They includeevents or relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not sav |           | r  |
|--|-----------|--|
| Think, Pair, Share.What information from the orientation did you hear on thesepages?Circulate to support children's conversations.Ask the following questions, one at a time, to harvest children's ideas andadd information to the chart. Reread parts of the page as necessary. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Who is this biography about?When was Wilson Bentley born?Where was he born?Let's continue reading to find out what is significant about WilsonBentley.pages 2-5Think, Pair, Share.What do we learn about Wilson Bentley on these pages? What washis problem?On the chart, complete the What portion of the Orientation. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Biographies tell the life stories of significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's lives. They includeevents to relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not save snowflakes, so he could not share them. The rest ofthe book will include the record of events from his life, related tosnow and sharing the beauty of snowflakes.pages 6-7Think, Pair, Share.What did Wilson Bentley do with snow as a boy?Circulate to support children's conversations. Harvest several children'sideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to thechart.  |           | orientation introduces the reader to who the biography is about,when and where it happens and what is significant about theperson we are reading about. Let's read the first pages of the book  |
| Circulate to support children's conversations.Ask the following questions, one at a time, to harvest children's ideas andadd information to the chart. Reread parts of the page as necessary. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Who is this biography about?When was Wilson Bentley born?Where was he born?Let's continue reading to find out what is significant about Wilson   |           | Think, Pair, Share.What information from the orientation did you hear on these   |
| Ask the following questions, one at a time, to harvest children's ideas andadd information to the chart. Reread parts of the page as necessary. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Who is this biography about?   |           | pages?   |
| add information to the chart. Reread parts of the page as necessary. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Who is this biography about?When was Wilson Bentley born?Where was he born?Let's continue reading to find out what is significant about WilsonBentley.pages 2-5Think, Pair, Share.What do we learn about Wilson Bentley on these pages? What washis problem?On the chart, complete the What portion of the Orientation. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Biographies tell the life stories of significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's lives. They includeevents to relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not save snowflakes, so he could not share them. The rest ofthe book will include the record of events from his life, related tosnow and sharing the beauty of snowflakes.pages 6-7Think, Pair, Share.What did Wilson Bentley do with snow as a boy?Circulate to support children's conversations. Harvest several children'sideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to thechart.   |           | Circulate to support children's conversations.   |
| Bentley.pages 2-5Think, Pair, Share.What do we learn about Wilson Bentley on these pages? What washis problem?On the chart, complete the What portion of the Orientation. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Biographies tell the life stories of significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's lives. They includeevents to relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not save snowflakes, so he could not share them. The rest ofthe book will include the record of events from his life, related tosnow and sharing the beauty of snowflakes.pages 6-7Think, Pair, Share.What did Wilson Bentley do with snow as a boy?Circulate to support children's conversations. Harvest several children'sideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to thechart.  |           | add information to the chart. Reread parts of the page as necessary. See an example of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Who is this biography about?When was Wilson Bentley born?  |
| What do we learn about Wilson Bentley on these pages? What washis problem?On the chart, complete the What portion of the Orientation. See anexample of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Biographies tell the life stories of significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's lives. They includeevents to relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not save snowflakes, so he could not share them. The rest of  |           |  |
| example of a completed chart at the end of the lesson.Biographies tell the life stories of significant people. But they don'ttell everything that happened in those people's lives. They includeevents to relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not save snowflakes, so he could not share them. The rest ofthe book will include the record of events from his life, related tosnow and sharing the beauty of snowflakes.pages 6-7Think, Pair, Share.What did Wilson Bentley do with snow as a boy?Circulate to support children's conversations. Harvest several children'sideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to thechart.  | pages 2-5 | What do we learn about Wilson Bentley on these pages? What was   |
| tell everything that happened in those people's lives. They includeevents to relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not save snowflakes, so he could not share them. The rest ofthe book will include the record of events from his life, related tosnow and sharing the beauty of snowflakes.pages 6-7Think, Pair, Share.What did Wilson Bentley do with snow as a boy?Circulate to support children's conversations. Harvest several children'sideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to thechart.   |           |  |
| What did Wilson Bentley do with snow as a boy?Circulate to support children's conversations. Harvest several children'sideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to thechart.   |           | tell everything that happened in those people's lives. They includeevents to relate to what is significant about the person. We learnedthat Wilson Bentley loved snow and that he had a problem—hecould not save snowflakes, so he could not share them. The rest ofthe book will include the record of events from his life, related to |
| ideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to the chart.   | pages 6-7 |  |
| pages 8-9 Think, Pair, Share.  |           | ideas. Read the corresponding record of events strip and attach it to the  |
|  | pages 8-9 | Think, Pair, Share.  |

|             |      | ulate to support of s. Read the corre |                             | ersations. Harve                    | est several children'sp and attach it to the  |
|-------------|------|---------------------------------------|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------|---|
| pages 10-15 | Circ | ulate to support of s. Read the corre |                             | ersations. Harve                    | est several children'sp and attach it to the  |
|             |      | Snowflake Bentley                     |                             |                                     |   |
|             |      | Orientation:                          |                             |                                     |   |
|             |      | WhoWilson Bentley          | WhenFebruary 9,1865 | WhereJericho,Vermont | Whatwanted to saveand sharesnowflakes |
|             |      | Record of Events                      |                             | with a microsrecorded the       |   |
|             |      |                                       |                             | He drew 100winter for thr       | snow crystals eachee winters.                 |
|             |      |                                       |                             | Wilson Bentleof snowflakes      | ey took photographs5.                         |
|             |      |                                       |                             |                                     |   |
|             |      |                                       |                             |                                     |   |

|  | Conclusion:   |
|--|---|
|  | Tomorrow we will finish reading about Wilson Bentley's life.  |
| IndividualConstruction10 minutes | As I mentioned earlier, you will be writing biographies about peoplewho provide services in our communities. As a class we will come upwith a list of people who we could interview and write about. Yourjob today is to think about someone in our community who providesa service, who you think we should write about.You will fill in this Biography Brainstorm sheet. There are threequestions to answer. The first says Who? On the line, write the   |
|  | person's name. The next says What Service? Here you will write theservice the person provides. The last question is Why? Here you willwrite why you think the class should write about this person.   |
|  | Tomorrow we will review everyone's ideas and decide who we would like to write about.   |
|  | Distribute writing and drawing tools and Biography Brainstorm sheets. As children write, circulate to support them. Collect sheets for use on Day 2.  |
| Closing1 minute               | Today we began learning about the purpose and stages ofbiography, and we came up with ideas about who we might writeabout. Tomorrow we will continue to learn about biography, and wewill choose important community members to interview and writeabout.   |
| Standards(Boston)                    | <ul> <li>RL.1.3. Describe characters, settings, and major events in a story, using key details.</li> <li>W.1.1. Write opinion pieces that introduce the topic or name the book they are writing about, state an opinion, supply a reason for the opinion, and provide some sense of closure.</li> <li>W.1.3. Write narratives in prose or poem form that recount two or more appropriately sequenced events or experiences, include some details about what happened or was experienced, use temporal words to signal order where appropriate, and provide some sense of closure.</li> <li>SL.1.2. Ask and answer questions about key details in a text read aloud or information presented orally or through other media.</li> </ul> |
| Ongoingassessment                    | Listen for and make note of how children discuss the text.Which parts of the orientation do children identify? How muchsupport do they require when identifying the parts of theorientation?  |

| Which events do children identify as significant?Do children refer back to the text to justify their responses?  |
|--|
| Review children's Biography Brainstorm sheets.Who do they recommend?Begin planning for how the class will decide on the biography subjects, andhow and when interviews will be conducted (see Week 5, Day 5 for moredetails about interviewing). |

Notes