Re: Request to Investigate Maine Wildlife Conservation Council

Yesterday afternoon, the Commission received a request to investigate the completeness of campaign finance reporting by the Maine Wildlife Conservation Council (MWCC). On January 7, 2014, the MWCC registered with the Commission as a ballot question committee (BQC). It is the principal campaign committee opposing Question 1. The MWCC has filed six regular campaign finance reports.

Complaint by Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting

The Question 1 proponents (Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting) argue that the MWCC was required to include in its campaign finance reports the donation of paid staff time of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife (DIFW):

- According to Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting, MWCC has paid for three television advertisements featuring DIFW employees, property and equipment. Only one of the three advertisements is viewable online. It features the voices and images of DIFW employees Judy Camuso, Jennifer Vashon, and Randy Cross throughout the entire advertisement, except for the closing frame in which a narrator urges "Vote No on 1. It's bad for Maine." The theme of the advertisement is that the state's biologists and game wardens oppose Question 1. In the ad, Ms. Vashon refers to the initiative's sponsors as a "Washington D.C. special interest group." It is unclear whether this is the view of the DIFW or the MWCC.
- The two other television advertisements feature game wardens Kris MacCabe and Rick LaFlamme. The ads are not viewable online, but Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting have included images of the ads in Appendices 6 and 7.

- Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting contends that the use of DIFW employees and equipment at a September 2013 rally and press conference constitute an in-kind contribution to the MWCC.
- Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting alleges that MWCC has failed to report a contribution of $10,000. Based on a preliminary conversation with MWCC, the Commission staff is hopeful that this issue can be resolved without further investigation.

The Commission does not have jurisdiction over the propriety of DIFW spending public funds on staff time and communications to oppose Question 1. Those issues are being considered in litigation in the Maine state courts. I have attached a decision by the Maine Superior Court declining to refrain the DIFW from engaging in those activities.

Relevant Election Law

A BQC is an organization that does not qualify as a PAC and that has raised or spent more than $5,000 to influence a ballot question. (21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B) BQCs are required to register with the Commission and file campaign finance reports with the Commission, similar to PACs. The BQC filing status was enacted in 2000, after a court ruling concerning the constitutionality of the PAC definition. The BQC statute, § 1056-B, was significantly revised by the Legislature in 2008 in response to financial activities to influence 2006 ballot questions.

The BQC statute is set out below in its entirety, with certain sentences highlighted for emphasis.

21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B. Ballot question committees

A person not defined as a political action committee who receives contributions or makes expenditures, other than by contribution to a political action committee, aggregating in excess of $5,000 for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign as defined by section 1052, subsection 1, shall file reports with the commission in accordance with this section. For the purposes of this section, "campaign" does not include activities to influence the nomination or election of a candidate. Within 7 days of receiving contributions or making expenditures that exceed $5,000, the person shall register with the commission as a ballot question committee. For the purposes of this section, expenditures include paid staff time spent for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign. The commission must prescribe forms for the registration, and the forms must include specification of a treasurer for the committee, any other principal officers and all individuals who are the primary fundraisers and decision makers for the committee.

1. Filing requirements. A report required by this section must be filed with the commission according to the reporting schedule in section 1059. After completing all financial activity, the committee shall terminate its campaign finance reporting in the same manner provided in section 1061. The committee shall file each report required by this section through an electronic filing system developed by the commission unless granted a waiver under section 1059, subsection 5.

2. Content. A report must contain an itemized account of each expenditure made to and contribution received from a single source aggregating in excess of $100 in any election; the date of each contribution; the date and purpose of each expenditure; the name and address of each contributor, payee or creditor; and the occupation and principal place of business, if any, for any person who has made contributions exceeding $100 in the aggregate. The filer is required to report only those contributions made to the filer for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign and only those expenditures made for those purposes. The definitions of “contribution” and “expenditure” in section 1052, subsections 3 and 4, respectively, apply to persons required to file ballot question reports.

2.A. Contributions. For the purposes of this section, “contribution” includes, but is not limited to:

- A. Funds that the contributor specified were given in connection with a campaign;
- B. Funds provided in response to a solicitation that would lead the contributor to believe that the funds would be used specifically for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign;
- C. Funds that can reasonably be determined to have been provided by the contributor for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign when viewed in the context of the contribution and the recipient's activities regarding a campaign; and
- D. Funds or transfers from the general treasury of an organization filing a ballot question report.

3. Forms. A report required by this section must be on a form prescribed and prepared by the commission. A person filing this report may use additional pages if necessary, but the pages must be the same size as the pages of the form.

4. Records. A person filing a report required by this section shall keep records as required by this subsection for 4 years following the election to which the records pertain.

A. The filer shall keep a detailed account of all contributions made to the filer for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign and all expenditures made for those purposes.

B. The filer shall retain a vendor invoice or receipt stating the particular goods or services purchased for every expenditure in excess of $50.

The term "contribution" is defined in 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1052(3) in the subchapter of the Election Law that relates to PACs and BQCs. Subsections § 1052(3)(A) and 3(D) are relevant:

3. Contribution. "Contribution" includes:

A. A gift, subscription, loan, advance or deposit of money or anything of value made to a political action committee, except that a loan of money by a financial institution made in accordance with applicable banking laws and regulations and in the ordinary course of business is not included; ... or

D. The payment, by any person or organization, of compensation for the personal services of other persons provided to a political action committee that is used by the political action committee to initiate or influence a campaign.

Preliminary Information on behalf of Commission Staff

At your November 3, 2014 meeting, the Commission staff recommends considering whether the Commission should conduct an investigation in response to the request by Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting. (Commission Rules, Chapter 1, Section 5(2)) The Commission staff would be pleased to conduct any investigation you believe is appropriate.

The Legislature has decided that when an organization compensates its employees for services provided to a PAC, that is a contribution that must be reported by the PAC:

D. The payment, by any person or organization, of compensation for the personal services of other persons provided to a political action committee that is used by the political action committee to initiate or influence a campaign.

(21-A M.R.S.A. § 1052(3)(D)) The employer's purpose in donating the services to the PAC is not an element in this definition. In Section 1056-B, the Legislature has directed that the same definition applies to BQCs. (21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B(2), last sentence)

In recent election years, it has become common for multiple political groups supporting or opposing a ballot question to form a coalition PAC or BQC. Some of the groups pay their employees to provide campaign-related services to the PAC or BQC. These services can include

- calling voters, or delivering campaign literature door-to-door
- designing paid communications, or
- raising funds for the PAC or BQC.

You saw examples of these activities in your consideration of the 2009 same-sex marriage issue. Organizations such as the Human Rights Campaign and National Gay & Lesbian Task Force paid their employees to provide services to the No on 1 PAC, which reported the paid staff time as in-kind contributions.

PACs that are influencing candidate elections also report the receipt of paid staff time donated by other organizations. This year, a prime example of this is the Committee to Rebuild Maine's Middle Class, which is a coalition of the Maine People's Alliance and labor organizations. When the constituent organizations pay their employees to donate services to the coalition PAC, the PAC reports the paid staff time as contributions.

The Commission staff has compiled for your general reference examples of in-kind contributions of paid staff time reported by PACs and BQCs in 2014. Please see the attached table. Due to the short time frame, the information is preliminary, but it provides you with a general sense of the breadth of paid staff time that PACs and BQCs have reported receiving in this year's election alone.

One issue implicit in this complaint is whether paid staff time provided by a public agency to a PAC or BQC should be treated differently than paid staff time donated by private advocacy organizations. The campaign finance law is silent on this question.

Regardless whether you believe an investigation is appropriate, the scope of the financial activity discussed in the complaint may be relatively small compared to the size of the overall campaigns. In Appendix 11, Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting conservatively estimates that the value of DIFW staff time is at least $3,880 (this is an estimated minimum, and not intended to be complete). In comparison, each side on Question 1 has financial activity in the range of $2 million. In the last two reports filed with the Commission, MWCC disclosed the following totals:

	October Quarterly	11-Day Pre-General
Deadline	10/06/2014	10/24/2013
Length of Report Period (roughly)	10 weeks	3 weeks
Cash Receipts during period	$886,363	$360,005
In-Kind Contributions during period	$87,503	$9,049
Expenditures during period	$1,053,877	$577,214

Nevertheless, some members of the public will attach greater significance to the disclosure of DIFW staff time because of the use of government employees in a campaign advertisement and because of the prominence of the DIFW in the overall campaign messaging of MWCC.

Thank you for your consideration of this memo.

Executive Director

Re: Request for Investigation of Maine Wildlife Conservation Council for Violations of State Campaign Finance Law

Dear Mr. Wayne:

Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting hereby requests that the Commission on Governmental Ethics and Election Practices ("Commission") investigate the Maine Wildlife Conservation Council ("MWCC"), a ballot question committee ("BQC"), for repeatedly failing to report contributions, in violation of State campaign finance law (21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B). As detailed in this complaint, over the past year, the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife ("IF&W") made multiple significant in-kind contributions to MWCC in support of MWCC's campaign to oppose Question 1 on the November 4, 2014 ballot (titled "An Act to Prohibit the Use of Dogs, Bait or Traps When Hunting Bears Except under Certain Circumstances"). MWCC did not report those contributions on any of its finance reports, as required by law.

Additionally, MWCC failed to report significant financial contributions (totaling at least $10,000) that it accepted through its other name, "Save Maine's Bear Hunt and Management Programs" (a.k.a. "Save Maine's Bear Hunt"). MWCC and Save Maine's Bear Hunt are effectively the same entity, and MWCC routinely solicits contributions via Save Maine's Bear Hunt.¹ However, MWCC has failed to report contributions given to Save Maine's Bear Hunt, as required by law.

Every BQC's periodic finance reports are available to the public online through the Commission's website, and are an extremely important source of information that members of the public rely on to inform their votes on election day. Thus, it is of the utmost importance that

MWCC report each and every contribution from each “single source” (both cash and in-kind) and “each contributor” (including IF&W), to ensure that this public resource accurately represents the amount and sources of funding for the campaign. See 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B(2). This is especially true with respect to Question 1, as MWCC has repeatedly grossly misrepresented the resources spent in opposition to this ballot question and made campaign financing a focus of the political debate.²

Therefore, Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting requests that the Commission conduct a thorough investigation, as authorized pursuant to 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1003, to determine whether MWCC has failed to report in-kind or cash contributions made by IF&W (or any other source) to either “Maine Wildlife Conservation Council” or its other name, “Save Maine’s Bear Hunt.”

MWCC’s Legal Obligations to Report In-Kind Contributions

Under Title 21-A of the Maine Revised Statutes (“Statute”), MWCC is required to report in-kind contributions. MWCC is registered as a BQC under 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B. As a BQC, MWCC must file periodic finance reports containing “an itemized account of each . . . contribution received from a single source aggregating in excess of $100 in any election; the date of each contribution; . . . [and] the name and address of each contributor . . .” 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B(2). Notably, a BQC must still report contributions from a single source that aggregate to $100 or less, but simply is not required to itemize those contributions. See Commission on Governmental Ethics and Election Practices, Guidance on Reporting as a Ballot Question Committee at 2 (2008) (“BQC Guidance”).

The Statute defines “contribution” to include “a gift, loan, advance or deposit of money or anything of value.” 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1052(3)(A). In the BQC context, “contribution” includes, but is not limited to, those: “that the contributor specified were given in connection with a campaign”; “provided in response to a solicitation that would lead the contributor to believe that the funds would be used specifically for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign”; and “that can reasonably be determined to have been provided by the contributor for the purpose of initiating or influencing a campaign when viewed in the context of the contribution and the recipient’s activities regarding a campaign.” Id. § 1056-B(2-A). The Statute defines “influence” as “to promote, support, oppose or defeat.” Id. § 1052(4-A).

² See, e.g., James Cote, Maine Voices: Voters should reject Humane Society’s meddling in Maine bear harvest, Portland Press Herald (Oct. 2, 2014), <http://www.pressherald.com/2014/10/02/maine-voices-voters-should-reject-humane-societys-meddling-in-maine-bear-harvest/>; Talkin’ Maine, Interview with SAM’s David Trahan and Maine Wildlife Conservation Council’s James Cote, <http://vimeopro.com/mbtv11/talkin-maine/video/84950297>, at 29:26 (Jan. 25, 2014).

Contributions include not only cash donations, but in-kind contributions, as well. An in-kind contribution includes “anything of value other than money made . . . for the initiation, support or defeat of a ballot question.” 94-270 M.R.C. Ch.1, § 1(12) (2014). Additionally, “the provision of any goods or services without charge or at a charge that is less than the usual and customary charge for such goods is an in-kind contribution. Examples of such goods and services include, but are not limited to: equipment, facilities, supplies, personnel, advertising, and campaign literature.” Id. § 6(4). The Commission has specified that “paid staff time” is a type of in-kind contribution that must be reported. See Commission on Governmental Ethics and Election Practices, Guidebook for Political Action Committees & Ballot Question Committees at 16 (2012) (“Guidebook”). An employer has made an in-kind contribution when it “has authorized an employee to provide services without charge . . . during the employee’s paid work-time.” 94-270 M.R.C. Ch.1, § 6(5).

MWCC Failed to Report In-Kind Contributions from IF&W

Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting has gathered evidence showing IF&W’s substantial in-kind contributions to MWCC and urges the Commission to investigate further. The available evidence demonstrates that over the course of the last year, IF&W has contributed significant taxpayer dollars to MWCC’s campaign. These contributions (including staff time, speaking engagements, campaign literature, facilities and equipment) were all items or services “of value” that were given to MWCC “for the . . . defeat of a ballot question.” 94-270 M.R.C. Ch.1, § 1(12). Therefore, these contributions were legally required to be reported by MWCC, but MWCC has not reported any such in-kind contributions from IF&W (and it is unclear if additional in-kind donations from IF&W or other sources have similarly been shielded from the public).

IF&W’s unreported in-kind contributions to MWCC include:

1. Save Maine’s Bear Hunt Rally. On September 23, 2013, MWCC and IF&W hosted a “Save Maine’s Bear Hunt” rally and press conference to announce the formation of a coalition in opposition to Question 1.
 - The rally was held on a Monday on IF&W’s lawn outside its headquarters in Augusta, Maine. See Appendix 2 (Documentation of Save Maine’s Bear Hunt Rally).
 - IF&W Commissioner Chandler Woodcock delivered a prepared statement at the event. The statement was also printed on IF&W letterhead and made publicly available through IF&W’s website. Id.
 - IF&W biologists Judy Camuso and Jennifer Vashon attended the event in their official capacities, in uniform. Id. It appears from photographs of the event that Vashon also spoke at the event. Id.

- IF&W contributed staff time to prepare for the rally, campaign literature on IF&W letterhead, and a venue and equipment for the event. *Id.*³
These contributions do not appear on any of MWCC's financial reports, nor did MWCC report any expenditures for such services. See Appendix 3 (MWCC Initial Financial Report).

- 2. First MWCC TV Advertisement. Beginning on September 17, 2014, IF&W biologists Jennifer Vashon, Judy Camuso, and Randy Cross appeared in a TV advertisement paid for by MWCC. This advertisement is promoted on MWCC's official YouTube channel, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eJ9G5ygWrC0>, and until recently was featured on the front page of MWCC's website opposing Question 1, <http://savemainesbearhunt.com/>. See Appendix 4 (Documentation of First MWCC TV Ad).⁴
 - Vashon, Camuso, and Cross appear in their official capacity and in IF&W uniform and seem to use agency property while acting in the ad, including communication equipment, binoculars, and possibly an IF&W truck. Id.
 - Speaking on behalf of "Maine's biologists and game wardens," IF&W employees state that they "strongly oppose Question 1" and then provide information that is attributed as "Source: Maine Department of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife."
 - A total of thirteen IF&W employees appear in the advertisement in uniform. Id.
 - These contributions do not appear on any of MWCC's financial reports, nor did MWCC report any expenditures for such services. See Appendix 5 (MWCC October Quarterly Report).

- 3. Second MWCC TV Advertisement. Beginning on approximately September 30, 2014, IF&W game warden Rick LaFlamme was featured in a TV advertisement paid for by MWCC. See Appendix 6 (Documentation of Second MWCC TV Ad).⁵

⁵ Just like MWCC's first TV advertisement, this advertisement states "Paid for by Maine's Fish and Wildlife Conservation Council" and provides no address, in violation of 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1055-A(1).

- LaFlamme appears in his official capacity, in uniform, and is driving an IF&W truck, emblazoned with decals of the agency's logo, and using agency property, including an IF&W radio and sirens. Id.
 - LaFlamme states that "Maine's biologists and game wardens strongly oppose Question 1," and then provides information that is attributed as "Source: Maine Department of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife."
 - A total of thirteen IF&W employees appear in the advertisement in uniform, including Vashon, Camuso, Cross, and IF&W game warden Chris MacCabe. Id.
 - These contributions do not appear on any of MWCC's financial reports, nor did MWCC report any expenditures for such services. See Appendix 5 (MWCC October Quarterly Report).
4. Third MWCC TV Advertisement. Beginning on approximately October 13, 2014, IF&W game warden Chris MacCabe was featured in a TV advertisement paid for by MWCC. See Appendix 7 (Documentation of Third MWCC TV Ad).⁶
- MacCabe appears in his official capacity, in uniform.
 - MacCabe provides information that is attributed as "Source: Maine Department of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife."
 - MacCabe states that "Maine's game wardens and bear biologists strongly oppose Question 1."
 - A total of thirteen IF&W employees appear in the advertisement in uniform, including Vashon, Camuso, Cross, and LaFlamme. Id.
 - These contributions do not appear on any of MWCC's financial reports, nor did MWCC report any expenditures for such services. See Appendix 8 (MWCC 11-Day Pre-General Report)

Thus, it is clear that IF&W has made at least four significant in-kind contributions to MWCC in order to influence MWCC's campaign opposing Question 1. These events required substantial IF&W staff time (for preparation, attendance, speaking, and filming), transportation costs, supplying of a venue, campaign literature, and equipment, the value of which directly benefited MWCC.

The staff time contributed by IF&W employees attending and preparing for the Save Maine's Bear Hunt rally and the TV advertisements are in-kind contributions. IF&W employees appeared at the rally and in MWCC commercials in their official capacities and in uniform, touting IF&W's official position opposing Question 1 and directly supporting MWCC. There is no dispute that IF&W employees not only participated in all four events during paid work-time, but also with the agency's public authorization and endorsement. IF&W contributed its staff time at the rally and in the commercials to "promote" and "support" MWCC's campaign. Therefore, MWCC was required to report itemized accounts of all of these contributions of staff time. See 21-A M.R.S.A. §§ 1052(4-A), 1056-B(2-A). MWCC was also required to "include a description of those staff activities and the number of hours of staff time that were contributed" separate from any other in-kind contributions from IF&W. See Guidebook at 16.⁷

In addition to IF&W's staff time, MWCC was also required to report IF&W's other in-kind contributions. IF&W contributed the services of guest speakers and TV advertisement actors; services with value in excess of the mere hours contributed, given its employees' authoritative position and ability to sway voters. IF&W also contributed venue and equipment for the IF&W rally and the advertisements, and campaign literature in the form of Commissioner Woodcock's prepared statement on IF&W letterhead. It appears that IF&W authorized its employees to provide their time to MWCC during paid work-hours; thus, a Commission investigation could reveal if there are additional in-kind contributions from IF&W that were not reported. If MWCC did in fact compensate IF&W for its services, staff time, facilities, campaign literature, and supplies, then MWCC would be required to report these costs as expenditures. See 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B(2).

That MWCC has seen fit to report these types of contributions from other sources on its finance reports is further evidence of a violation for not reporting the same from IF&W. For example, MWCC has reported "speaking at events throughout this reporting period" as in-kind contributions, and "media production" and "commercial production" in the context of expenditures. See Appendix 9 (MWCC 42-Day Post-Primary Report).

All of IF&W's contributions "can reasonably be determined to have been provided by [IF&W] for the purpose of . . . influencing [MWCC's] campaign when viewed in the context of the contribution and [MWCC's] activities regarding [its] campaign." 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B(2-A). They were all items or services of value given for the purpose of defeating a ballot question. 94-

⁷ MWCC is required to report all donated staff time and other contributions from each contributor, no matter the contributor's identity. See 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B(2). However, the identity of the contributor influences the format of MWCC's reporting requirements. It appears that IF&W qualifies as an "organization" under the Statute, (a term the Commission has agreed is necessarily broader than the terms "person" or "corporation"), and thus MWCC must "include a description of those staff activities and the number of hours of staff time that were contributed." Guidebook at 16. Furthermore, the staff time must be reported as a separate entry from IF&W's other in-kind contributions, no matter the fair market value of the staff time contributed. See id. But even if IF&W is not an "organization," MWCC must still report IF&W's staff time (in one entry with other IF&W in-kind contributions that together have a fair market value exceeding $100, identifying IF&W's name and address, and the date of each contribution). See 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1056-B(2). And even if IF&W's in-kind contributions total $100 or less (which is highly unlikely), MWCC must still report these contributions, including staff time. See BQC Guidance at 2.

270 M.R.C. Ch.1, § 1(12). MWCC reported none of IF&W's in-kind contributions. See Appendices 2, 5, 8, 10, 11.

MWCC Failed to Report Significant Cash Donations

As further evidence of a lack of transparency and compliance with campaign finance laws, MWCC also failed to report a $10,000 check from Maine Bowhunters Association. MWCC does business and accepts donations both through MWCC and through Save Maine's Bear Hunt. For example, in June 2014, the Maine Bowhunters Association (MBA) advertised to its members that it made a $10,000 contribution to Save Maine's Bear Hunt. See Appendix 10 (Unreported $10,000 Check). Although the check was made payable to "Save Maine's Bear Hunt," it is clear that such recipient is operated by MWCC; however MWCC did not report such donation. See Appendix 9 (MWCC 42-Day Post-Primary Report). Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting believes there may be other contributions donated in name to Save Maine's Bear Hunt that MWCC has unlawfully failed to report.

Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting's Request for Investigation

Over the last year, MWCC has received from IF&W unreported in-kind contributions that amount to thousands of dollars in facility and equipment costs, guest speaking services, advertising and acting services, printed literature, travel expenses, and staff time.⁸ IF&W appears to have also received at least $10,000 in unreported cash contributions. Under 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1003, the Commission "shall make the investigation if the reasons stated for the request show sufficient grounds for believing that a violation may have occurred." 21-A M.R.S.A. § 1003 (emphasis added). Thus, the Commission must investigate MWCC to ascertain whether the BQC has complied with all relevant reporting requirements, as is essential to inform the voting public.

MWCC's nondisclosure of these substantial financial and in-kind contributions not only violates the law, but also undermines the democratic process by grossly misrepresenting to the public the resources spent in opposition to Question 1. MWCC's anti-Question 1 campaign repeatedly emphasizes its relative lack of funding compared to the funding of Question 1 proponents, and repeatedly attacks proponents of Question 1 with respect to the sources of their funding. However, as MWCC has nefariously hid its in-kind contributions from IF&W, as well as at least $10,000 in cash contributions to Save Maine's Bear Hunt, MWCC has systematically misled the public in an attempt to influence voting on the ballot measure.⁹ Further, it is imperative that the public is informed when a state agency is contributing tax-payer dollars to a campaign in order to influence a ballot initiative.

⁸ Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting cannot know the exact dollar amount that represents the fair market value of IF&W's in-kind donations, since none of them were reported. However, by Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting's own conservative estimate (see Appendix 11 (Calculations of IF&W Staff Time)), IF&W contributed over $3,800 in staff hours alone, not including the added value of guest speaking services, acting services, etc.

Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting thanks the Commission for its attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Katie Hansberry
Campaign Director

Dear Michael:

Bear Issue Update: Anti-hunting Money Pours into Maine

Thank you so much for your help in defeating the animal rights lobby's campaign to ban bear hunting in Maine. The contributions we received in October and November of last year gave the Maine Wildlife Conservation Council a solid financial foundation to pay the initial expenses of setting up the campaign. Here's the latest news on the attack on your hunting rights:

HSUS = Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting

In October we said that HSUS would bankroll the campaign to ban bear hunting. The media wrote that we were exaggerating, and that both campaigns take money from out of state. Official election filings with the Maine Commission on Governmental Ethics tell the real story. While the sportsmen's campaign received over 70 percent of its funding from Maine and greater New England, the state of Maine is barely visible on the anti-hunter's financial filings. The Washington DC- based Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) is responsible for over $750,000 dollars, of the $758,000 total raised and spent to ban Maine's bear hunt! (98% percent of all funds raised to ban the bear hunt.) That's just not right.

Sportsmen are Uniting and Raising Money

While sportsmen cannot match the over flowing bank account of HSUS, things are coming together. We have already raised $600,000, enough to fund the campaign's entire overhead and polling that will help us create the right education about bears, and the real agenda of HSUS to ban all hunting.

The Path to Victory

To win, the Maine Wildlife Conservation Council (MWCC) must spend $1.9 million for television, radio, newspaper and social media advertising to combat the anti's propaganda and lies. That's where you come in. Your contribution will help fund the advertisements and education that will win the day in counties such as York and Cumberland where a huge number of voters reside. Please make a donation to our advertising campaign today. It will make a difference.

www.savemainesbearhunt.com | www.facebook.com/savemainesbearhunt.com

The Sacrifice for Victory

Like you, many sportsmen and women, conservation clubs, small businesses, guides, outfitters, landowners and others have been asked to make additional donations to their first contribution. Unfortunately that is what it will take to overcome the anti's multi-million dollar war chest. The good news is that our network of Maine and New England donors is proof that our message is getting out. Please, keep Maine's hunting traditions alive and thriving for the next generation. Send your contribution today using the enclosed donation card.

Sincerely,

David Trahan, Executive Director

Maine bear hunting referendum opponents unveil coalition

Woodcock speaks during a press conference announcing a broad coalition of groups that oppose a proposed referendum that would outlaw the hunting of bears by hound, trap or bait in Augusta on Monday, Sept. 22, 2013. Buy Photo

By John Holyoke, BDN Staff

Posted Sept. 23, 2013, at 2:25 p.m.

AUGUSTA, Maine — Weeks after animal rights groups announced that they'd seek a referendum that would ban hunting bears with hounds, traps or over bait, those who support the state's bear hunting status quo unveiled their own coalition on Monday during a press conference outside the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife office.

All three official gubernatorial candidates for the 2014 election, six candidates for Maine's seats in the U.S. House of Representatives, more than 20 organizations and labor unions, and nearly 80 sitting Maine senators and representatives from both sides of the political aisle support the existing hunt and defend its role as a management tool.

“Just as we were asked 10 years ago [during a failed referendum attempt], once again Maine voters are being asked, ‘Who should be entrusted with the care of Maine’s wildlife?’” said Chandler E. Woodcock, commissioner of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. “Please make no mistake. This is not about hunting methods, but a referendum on how we manage and control wildlife in this state.”

Woodcock said Gov. Paul LePage is among those who oppose the proposed referendum, which is expected to be on the November 2014 ballot. According to Woodcock, both he and LePage expect Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife biologists to play a key role in the debate.

“It would be foolhardy for the people of Maine to remove some of the best biologists in the country from the opportunity to manage this species, and we appreciate the opportunity,” Woodcock said. “Our biologists have full permission from myself and from the governor to involve themselves in the biology of the question, and it’s critical. Last time, the referendum was defeated because of the biology and the management.”

Over the summer, citing the failure of Maine’s legislature to take any action that would change the way bears are hunted in the state, the Humane Society of the United States and other groups banded together to propose another referendum. The resulting group, Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting, says that the state’s current practices are cruel and unsporting.

Woodcock dismissed those claims.

“Hunting and trapping are the primary tools for controlling the size of wildlife populations, and this proposed referendum would seriously compromise our ability to control the bear population by eliminating our most effective tools,” Woodcock said. “This referendum is not about one method over another. It is about outlawing the most effective methods we have for controlling the bear population. These methods account for over 90 percent of our bear kill annually.”

Late last week, referendum opponents announced the formation of the Maine Wildlife Conservation Council and the hiring of James Cote as its coordinator.

David Trahan, executive director of the Sportsman’s Alliance of Maine, said that efforts to defeat the proposed referendum are far ahead of similar efforts made a decade ago. He praised the willingness of politicians, business owners, and sportsmen and women to step forward and share their opinions.

Trahan blamed the Humane Society of the United States for the referendum effort and pledged support for the state’s wildlife biologists. Trahan also told the assembled crowd that an uncontrolled bear population could create hazards for people and would have economic impacts on parts of the state that are already struggling.

“The proposed referendum threatens rural economies and our hunting heritage and undermines the expertise of our tremendous biologists at the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife," Trahan said.

Don Kleiner, the executive director of the Maine Professional Guides Association, said the annual bear hunt is an essential economic engine that his membership depend upon.

"For many of our members, Maine's bear hunt is a critical component of their livelihood," Kleiner said. "Bear hunting brings jobs and income to a hard-pressed rural economy. In 2004, when an almost identical referendum was proposed to Maine voters, we learned that the state could lose between 563 and 770 existing jobs if the question were to pass. We also learned that up to $62.4 million in average annual economic activity could be lost, and almost half of the bear guides in Maine would have to close their businesses."

Statement of Chandler E. Woodcock, Commissioner, Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife

September 23, 2013

Just as we were asked ten years ago, once again Maine voters are being asked, "Who should be entrusted with the care of Maine's wildlife?"

Should it be our biologists and wardens, trained professionals with years of experience managing Maine's black bear population?

Or should it be a group of well-funded, out-of-state activists who are more concerned about advancing their agenda than they are the welfare of our own residents, our traditions, and the natural resource economy.

Bear hunting in Maine provides many benefits to the state. It supports jobs and businesses in rural Maine. It provides nearly 5% of the department's annual revenue, funding protections and care for wildlife, citizens and visitors throughout the state. Bear hunting also keeps the bear population at a desirable level, keeping bear/human conflicts at a manageable number and people and property safe.

Ten years ago, this same referendum question, funded by the same national animal rights group was defeated at the ballot box. Now, just ten years later, they are back again, well-funded and once again looking to impose their agenda on Maine.

Please make no mistake, this is not about hunting methods, but a referendum on how we manage and control wildlife in the state.

Hunting and trapping are the primary tools for controlling the size of wildlife populations, and this proposed referendum would seriously compromise our ability to control the bear population by eliminating our most effective tools.

This referendum is not about one method over another, it is about outlawing the most effective methods we have for controlling the bear population. These methods account for over 90 percent of our bear kill annually.

Without removing a substantial part of our bear population each year, the population will grow at a much faster rate, and more bear/human conflicts will occur. These conflicts cost the people of Maine, and can jeopardize your property and safety. Just this month, a school in southern Maine kept its students in for recess since a bear was seen roaming near the school. Maine averages over 500 bear/human conflicts a year, and if this referendum passes, the number of incidents such as this will grow.

Maine has one of the largest bear populations in the United States estimated at over 30,000, but since they are actively hunted, we do not have the thousands of conflicts that other states have, states that have much smaller bear populations, but much larger bear problems.

Maine's bear management program is one of the most extensive and comprehensive in North America. Our wildlife biologists are some of the most experienced and respected in their field. Their hands-on work and years of experience handling, researching and observing Maine's black bears make them uniquely qualified to manage Maine's bear population.

Our biologists know that if this were to pass, the bear population would rise and we would be unable to control future growth. We would see an increase in the number of human bear/conflicts that would cost the state and residents money. We would have to remove more bears lethally from problem areas. Funds lost from bear hunting would also impact department programs. Statewide, it would result in lost jobs and income for guides and supporting industries in rural areas of the state that already are hurting from the recession.

Maine currently has a healthy, well-managed bear population that allows a variety of recreational opportunities for viewing and hunting with limited conflicts.

This proposed referendum has the potential to impact our economy, safety, and our wildlife populations.

It is for those reasons that Governor LePage and the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife is opposed to this referendum.

Maine's bear hunt is highly regulated by one of the best bear management programs in North America. Now a Washington DC special interest group wants to change the way we manage bears. Question 1 would ban the most effective method we use to control bears and prevent attacks. That's why Maine's bear Biologists and Wardens strongly oppose Question 1. It's a serious threat to public safety. Vote NO on 1.

TOTAL CASH CONTRIBUTIONS				$885,882.55

IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS

- In-kind contributions are goods and services (including facilities) that a candidate received at no cost or at a cost less than the fair market value. they include all goods and services purchased for the campaign by the candidate or supporters if the campaign does not expect to reimburse the candidate or supporter. These contributions may come from the candidate, candidate's family, supporters, PACs, party committees, or other entities.
- For contributors who gave more than $50, the names, address, occupation, and employer must be reported. If "information requested" is listed instead of occupation and employer, the candidate is waiting to receive that information.
- In-kind contributions of $50 or less can be added together and reported as a lump sum.
- If the candidate received a discount on goods and services, the amount of the discount must be reported as an in-kind contribution.
- Total contributions (cash and in-kind) from the same source (except the candidate and candidate's spouse or domestic partner) may NOT exceed $350 in any election for the legislative candidates, $750 for county candidates, or $1500 for gubernatorial candidates. For party candidates, the primary and general elections are considered separate election. For non-party candidates, there is only one election, the general election.

IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS

- In-kind contributions are goods and services (including facilities) that a candidate received at no cost or at a cost less than the fair market value. they include all goods and services purchased for the campaign by the candidate or supporters if the campaign does not expect to reimburse the candidate or supporter. These contributions may come from the candidate, candidate's family, supporters, PACs, party committees, or other entities.
- For contributors who gave more than $50, the names, address, occupation, and employer must be reported. If "information requested" is listed instead of occupation and employer, the candidate is waiting to receive that information.
- In-kind contributions of $50 or less can be added together and reported as a lump sum.
- If the candidate received a discount on goods and services, the amount of the discount must be reported as an in-kind contribution.
- Total contributions (cash and in-kind) from the same source (except the candidate and candidate's spouse or domestic partner) may NOT exceed $350 in any election for the legislative candidates, $750 for county candidates, or $1500 for gubernatorial candidates. For party candidates, the primary and general elections are considered separate election. For non-party candidates, there is only one election, the general election.

IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS

- In-kind contributions are goods and services (including facilities) that a candidate received at no cost or at a cost less than the fair market value. they include all goods and services purchased for the campaign by the candidate or supporters if the campaign does not expect to reimburse the candidate or supporter. These contributions may come from the candidate, candidate's family, supporters, PACs, party committees, or other entities.
- For contributors who gave more than $50, the names, address, occupation, and employer must be reported. If "Information requested" is listed instead of occupation and employer, the candidate is waiting to receive that information.
- In-kind contributions of $50 or less can be added together and reported as a lump sum.
- If the candidate received a discount on goods and services, the amount of the discount must be reported as an in-kind contribution.
- Total contributions (cash and in-kind) from the same source (except the candidate and candidate's spouse or domestic partner) may NOT exceed $350 in any election for the legislative candidates, $750 for county candidates, or $1500 for gubernatorial candidates. For party candidates, the primary and general elections are considered separate election. For non-party candidates, there is only one election, the general election.

IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS

- In-kind contributions are goods and services (including facilities) that a candidate received at no cost or at a cost less than the fair market value. they include all goods and services purchased for the campaign by the candidate or supporters if the campaign does not expect to reimburse the candidate or supporter. These contributions may come from the candidate, candidate's family, supporters, PACs, party committees, or other entities.
- For contributors who gave more than $50, the names, address, occupation, and employer must be reported. If "information requested" is listed instead of occupation and employer, the candidate is waiting to receive that information.
- In-kind contributions of $50 or less can be added together and reported as a lump sum.
- If the candidate received a discount on goods and services, the amount of the discount must be reported as an in-kind contribution.
- Total contributions (cash and in-kind) from the same source (except the candidate and candidate's spouse or domestic partner) may NOT exceed $350 in any election for the legislative candidates, $750 for county candidates, or $1500 for gubernatorial candidates. For party candidates, the primary and general elections are considered separate election. For non-party candidates, there is only one election, the general election.

The Maine Bowhunter

The Official Newsletter of Maine Bowhunters Association

Summer 2014

*Maine Bowhunter's Association Member Brittany

Inside This Edition

Read about Brittany's exciting archery moose hunt! Election Results! The greatest banquet in MBA's history and the awards that were received there! Another tasty venison recipe! 4H archery! A poll on what you want from MBA! And much more!

A Lifetime MBA Member's Perspective of This Years Banquet

By

Joe Hall

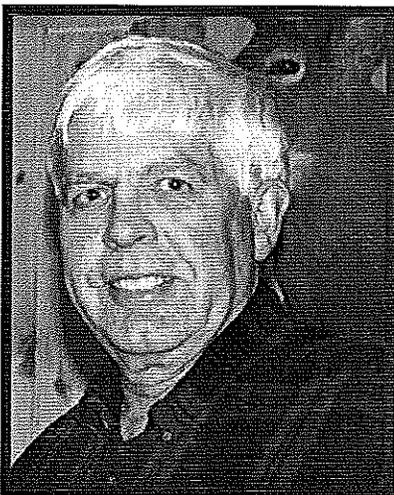

This years Banquet was unique in several ways. My home and bowhunting camp are both located in north Brewer. It was a short trek across town to Jeff's Catering & Event Center for the occasion! There my wife Alcinda and I joined a gathering of like-minded folks, sponsored by Senator Susan Collins, with proceeds directly in support of archery and bowhunting. Also 25% of profits to be dedicated to fighting the bear referendum coming for a vote this fall!

Inside we enjoyed playing several games and entered raffles & drawings for chances to win various archery-bowhunting equipment, firearms, a hunting blind, canoe etc. We had the winning bid on two silent auction offerings which included hunting videos and local folk music CDs! The live auction was very competitive and entertaining as usual! The dinner tables were nicely set and the meal was more than worthy of the admission price! The guest speaker, Jennifer Vashon joined by (fellow bear biologist) Randy Cross, did a nice job explaining Maine's current black bear management & study program. Jennifer also explained the importance of defeating the bear referendum for all residents.

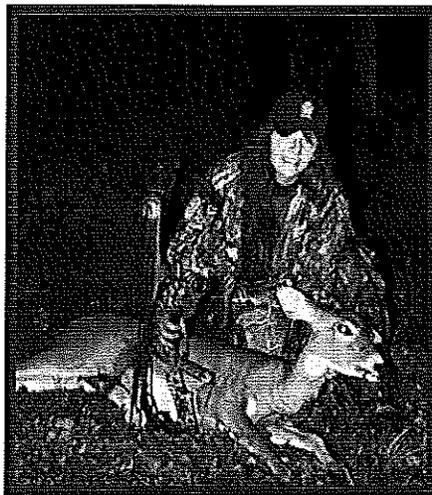

Seeing Lance Farrar's (2012) Maine archery record buck on the wall was special to me! Beautiful animal! I would like to thank the MBA Banquet Committee members and all the volunteers for a great night out!

Dick Cole was the 2013 recipient of the award for largest black bear

Ruth Hunt was the 2013 Bowhunter of the Year

New President Deanna Page Presenting a $10,000 check from your MBA to James Cote to help fight the bear referendum

The Maine Bowhunters Association is doing our part to fight this referendum. If you haven't donated yet, please go to www.savemainesbearhunt.com and donate today!

IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS

- In-kind contributions are goods and services (including facilities) that a candidate received at no cost or at a cost less than the fair market value. they include all goods and services purchased for the campaign by the candidate or supporters if the campaign does not expect to reimburse the candidate or supporter. These contributions may come from the candidate, candidate's family, supporters, PACs, party committees, or other entities.
- For contributors who gave more than $50, the names, address, occupation, and employer must be reported. If "information requested" is listed instead of occupation and employer, the candidate is waiting to receive that information.
- In-kind contributions of $50 or less can be added together and reported as a lump sum.
- If the candidate received a discount on goods and services, the amount of the discount must be reported as an in-kind contribution.
- Total contributions (cash and in-kind) from the same source (except the candidate and candidate's spouse or domestic partner) may NOT exceed $350 in any election for the legislative candidates, $750 for county candidates, or $1500 for gubernatorial candidates. For party candidates, the primary and general elections are considered separate election. For non-party candidates, there is only one election, the general election.

IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS

- In-kind contributions are goods and services (including facilities) that a candidate received at no cost or at a cost less than the fair market value. they include all goods and services purchased for the campaign by the candidate or supporters if the campaign does not expect to reimburse the candidate or supporter. These contributions may come from the candidate, candidate's family, supporters, PACs, party committees, or other entities.
- For contributors who gave more than $50, the names, address, occupation, and employer must be reported. If "information requested" is listed instead of occupation and employer, the candidate is waiting to receive that information.
- In-kind contributions of $50 or less can be added together and reported as a lump sum.
- If the candidate received a discount on goods and services, the amount of the discount must be reported as an in-kind contribution.
- Total contributions (cash and in-kind) from the same source (except the candidate and candidate's spouse or domestic partner) may NOT exceed $350 in any election for the legislative candidates, $750 for county candidates, or $1500 for gubernatorial candidates. For party candidates, the primary and general elections are considered separate election. For non-party candidates, there is only one election, the general election.

BACKGROUND

Before the court is the plaintiffs Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting and Katie Hansberry (collectively, "MFBH")'s motion for a temporary restraining order. MFBH argues that defendant Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife ("DIFW" or the "Department") is engaged in illegal campaign activity against Question 1—a ballot initiative that would ban bear baiting, hounding, and trapping—on the November 2014 ballot.

In November, Maine voters will have an opportunity to vote on Question 1, which reads: "Do you want to ban the use of bait, dogs or traps in bear hunting except to protect property, public safety, or for research?" Plaintiff Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting is a Maine Ballot Question Committee and proponent of Question 1. Plaintiff Katie Hansberry is a Maine resident who serves as Campaign Director for Plaintiff Mainers for Fair Bear Hunting.

The Department is a Maine state agency charged with, among other things, preserving, protecting, and enhancing the inland fisheries and wildlife resources of the State; encouraging the wise use of these resources; and effectively managing these resources. 12 M.R.S. § 10051. The Commissioner of DIFW and DIFW have the responsibility, pursuant to 12 M.R.S. §§ 10053(1) and 10103(2), to manage all wildlife resources in Maine. When necessary to accomplish their statutory duties, the Commissioner and DIFW have the statutory duty, pursuant to 12 M.R.S. §10105(1), to authorize the taking of wildlife, including bears, subject to conditions and restrictions established by the Commissioner and DIFW. Pursuant to 12 M.R.S. § 10056, they are also charged with increasing the public's knowledge and understanding of wildlife resources and the management of those resources, and with the promotion of such resources. The Commissioner and DIFW have the authority, pursuant to 12 M.R.S. § 10108(2), to implement programs to promote the hunting of Maine wildlife, including the hunting of bears. Such programs "may include coordination of activities between the public and private sectors and utilization of promotional missions, exhibits, brochures, technical assistance and expertise as necessary to develop and promote" hunting activities in Maine, including the hunting of bears.

According to Andrea Erskine, Deputy Commissioner of DIFW, DIFW, and its Commissioner, based on their experience and expertise, consider bear baiting, hounding, and trapping to be legitimate forms of bear hunting in Maine.

¹ See affidavit of Andrea Erskine, dated October 14, 2014, and filed with the court on October 17, 2014.

Erskine Aff. ¶ 9. This has been so historically since at least 1989. Erskine Aff. ¶¶ 9, 11. The Commissioner and DIFW consider these methods to be not only the most effective forms of management of Maine's bear population, but also to be necessary and essential. Erskine Aff. ¶ 9. They believe the elimination of these forms of bear hunting in Maine would severely handicap their ability to effectively manage Maine's bear population. Id. DIFW takes the position that if bear baiting, hounding and trapping were not permitted in Maine, the Maine bear population would grow and expand until bear numbers became limited by the amount of food their habitat could produce. Id. If this were to occur, more bears would die of starvation and disease and would be killed in order to prevent conflicts with people, and public safety and property damage concerns as the result of bear activity would increase dramatically. Id.

The Commissioner and DIFW, since at least 1989, have consistently interpreted their statutory directives and authority as requiring them to publicly encourage and promote bear baiting, hounding and trapping as legitimate forms of bear hunting and as effective and necessary forms of bear management in Maine. Erskine Aff. ¶ 10. The Commissioner and DIFW have also consistently interpreted their statutory directives and authorities as obligating them to engage in affirmative public outreach efforts on bears, bear hunting (including bear baiting, trapping, and hounding), and bear management in Maine, as well as on DIFW's views and positions on those issues. Id. ¶ 10.

Historically, DIFW has taken a variety of actions to fulfill their statutory directives and to inform the public on DIFW's views on bears, bear hunting (including bear baiting, hounding and trapping) and bear management. DIFW's Bear Fact Sheet, about which the plaintiffs complain, has been publicly available since at least 2004. Erskine Aff. ¶ 11, Ex. A, B, C. More recently, DIFW's actions, also about which the Plaintiffs complain, include the Commissioner holding a press conference and issuing a statement in response to the announcement that the ballot question had been approved; DIFW employees appearing in and expressing DIFW's views during television advertisements that were filmed, produced and paid for by Maine Wildlife Conservation Council ("MWCC"); and DIFW employees attending as guests banquets held by Maine Bowhunters Association and MWCC. Erskine Aff. ¶ 16. At this point, DIFW has no plans to expend additional agency funds or resources to create YouTube videos supporting bear baiting, hounding or trapping prior to the November 2014 ballot question. Erskine Aff. ¶ 14. Nor does DIFW plan to make any changes or updates to its informational Bear Fact Sheet, or to create any other DIFW visual media projects involving bears, bear baiting, hounding or trapping, or bear management prior to the November 2014 ballot question. Id. DIFW does, however, intend to continue to disseminate information to the public by releasing additional YouTube videos that were completed before the filing of the lawsuit, and to otherwise continue to encourage and promote through its existing website resources, social media, verbally, and in written form bear baiting, hounding and trapping as legitimate forms of bear hunting and as effective and necessary bear management practices in Maine, and to oppose ballot initiative Question 1. Id.

DIFW opposes Question 1 because if it passes, it will lose the only effective tools available to control the State's bear population. DIFW argues that it is protected by the government free speech doctrine. MFBH contend that this doctrine does not apply because they do not raise constitutional claims, rather they contend that DIFW is engaged in an unauthorized and ultra vires use of public funds for campaign activity, the full nature and extent of which remains unknown to the plaintiffs because of DIFW's slow response to plaintiffs' FOAA requests. Plaintiffs contend that once the election is over, there is no possible relief to remedy the alleged violations by DIFW. MFBH seek in this motion to stop DIFW from "unlawfully and irreparably influencing the outcome of the election via impermissible political activity." (Pl.'s Mt. 18.) MFBH argues that the Department cannot use its resources, including staff time, to advocate only one side of a controversial question and undoubtedly influence the outcome of the election. Plaintiffs' motion asks this court to order DIFW "to cease further use of [DIFW] resources on campaign activity; to immediately remove partisan political content from [DIFW's] website, YouTube channel, Facebook page and other media outlets; to immediately terminate the dissemination of television advertisements produced using DIFW staff time and resources." (Pl.'s Mt. 20.)

The intervener Maine Wildlife Conservation Council ("MWCC") is a Ballot Question Committee formed to influence the statewide referendum on Question 1. MWCC owns the TV advertisements and opposes the plaintiffs' motion as an impermissible prior restraint on its free speech rights. There is no dispute, for the most part, that DIFW and the Ballot Question Committees, such as MWCC, are working with DIFW to influence the outcome of the referendum; therefore, the court will not repeat here the specific claims of the plaintiffs concerning the ways that DIFW's campaign activity exceeds the authorized "fair comment” and “dissemination of information”. Rather, the court will address whether DIFW can be restrained as plaintiffs request.

Even if the plaintiffs were to prevail on their ultra vires argument, they have failed to demonstrate that the government free speech doctrine is inapplicable, they will suffer irreparable harm, and the public interest will not be adversely affected by granting the TRO. The alleged harm is that DIFW’s activity will influence the outcome of the election, notwithstanding the effort of the plaintiffs to reach out to the voters to inform them of the value and benefits of enacting the referendum. Influencing the outcome of the election is precisely what DIFW hopes to do. DIFW believes, based on its experience and expertise, that it is obligated to publicly encourage and promote bear baiting, hounding and trapping as legitimate forms of bear hunting and as effective and necessary forms of bear management in Maine.

DISCUSSION

Temporary Restraining Order

On a motion for a temporary restraining order (TRO), the moving party has the burden to demonstrate that

- (1) it will suffer irreparable injury if the injunction is not granted;
- (2) such injury outweighs any harm which granting the injunctive relief would inflict on the other party;
- (3) it has a likelihood of success on the merits (at most, a probability; at least, a substantial possibility); and
- (4) the public interest will not be adversely affected by granting the injunction.

Bangor Historic Track, Inc. v. Dep’t of Agric., 2003 ME 140, ¶ 9, 837 A.2d 129.

“Failure to demonstrate that any one of these criteria are met requires that injunctive relief be denied." Id. at ¶ 10 (citation omitted). Plaintiffs bear the burden of demonstrating these factors weigh in favor of an injunction. Esso Standard Oil Co. v. Monroig-Zayas, 445 F.3d 13, 18 (1st Cir. 2006) (citation omitted).

³ The court need not address the lack of standing claim raised by the Department and the intervener because of the outcome of this decision.

Likelihood of Success on the Merits

1. Legal Standard

The only Maine case that has addressed the issues of whether state officials can advocate for or against a ballot measure and whether the officials may use public funds to support their advocacy is Campaign for Sensible Transportation v. Maine Turnpike Authority, 1991 Me. Super. LEXIS 228 (Oct. 8, 1991). In that case, Justice Alexander found that no other Maine cases addressed the issues but noted that "precedent in other states suggests that absent specific legislative authorization, public agencies may not spend public funds to take sides in elections and attempt to influence results." Id. at *6.

Plaintiffs in that case alleged that the Turnpike Authority improperly used public funds "to oppose an upcoming referendum on Turnpike widening and transportation planning." Id. at *1. Plaintiffs alleged that the Turnpike Authority had published newsletters and hosted luncheons that were designed to influence the election. The court relied on Citizens to Protect Public Funds v. Board of Education of Parsippany-Troy Hills, 98 A.2d 673 (N.J. 1953) and Stanson v. Mott, 551 P.2d 1 (Cal. 1976).

In 2004, the Maine Attorney General at the time, G. Steven Rowe issued an opinion about his understanding of the law regarding "whether state and local government officials can advocate for or against a citizen initiated ballot measure, and whether those officials can use public funds to further those efforts." Op. Me. Att'y Gen. 04-05. The opinion characterized Campaign for Sensible Transportation as clearly stating the guiding principles of the law "in a manner that is consistent with the case law from other jurisdictions." Id. at *3. The opinion concludes,

Governmental bodies and officials may not expend public funds solely or primarily for purposes of partisan advocacy without express authorization, and even where authorized, these activities are subject to constitutional limits. They may disseminate information on matters such as citizen initiatives and may express their views as public officials. We have found no case concluding that public resources such as personnel time cannot be used in support of these allowable activities. However, the line between appropriate dissemination of relevant information and activities that constitute improper advocacy by government agencies and officials is not easy to define in the abstract. Such determinations are fact-dependent and may be complex, particularly in situations such as this where the subject matter of the issue before the voters has a direct and substantial impact upon the duties and responsibilities of those government agencies and officials.

Id. at *3 (footnote omitted). Contrary to DIFW and MWCC's arguments, Citizens to Protect Public Funds and Stanson, upon which Campaign for Sensible Transportation is founded, are still good law where the invalidation of the expenditures was based on legislative enactment (or an absence thereof) and not on the First Amendment. See, e.g., Kidwell v. City of Union, 462 F. 3d 620, 629 (6th Cir. 2006) (Martin, J. dissenting); Santa Barbara County Coal. Against Auto. Subsidies v. Santa Barbara County Assn. of Gov'ts, 84 Cal. Rptr. 3d 714, 722 (Cal. Ct. App. 2009) ("Although a government agency cannot spend public funds in a partisan campaign for the passage or defeat of a ballot measure, we conclude that, in this case, the activity . . . was not electoral advocacy because it was in furtherance of its express statutory duties and occurred before Measure A was qualified for placement on the ballot.") However, this is not the only analysis to consider. In the proper case, the government speech doctrine may apply, as DIFW and MWCC argue here.

2. Ultra Vires

Before considering the impact of the government speech doctrine to this case, the court considers whether DIFW's activities are ultra vires, as alleged by plaintiffs, who contend that there is no specific legislative authorization for DIFW's campaign activities. Even though Campaign for Sensible Transportation concluded that "absent specific legislative authorization, public agencies may not spend public funds to take sides in elections and attempt to influence results", 1991 Me. Super. LEXIS 228, at *6, this court concludes that DIFW's activities are authorized by the constellation of statutes directing DIFW's responsibilities. Here DIFW's statutory authorizations and directives are sufficiently broad to encompass its activities with respect to the management of bears and Question 1. DIFW is charged with "the administration and enforcement of the inland fisheries and wildlife laws and . . . the responsibility for the management of all inland fish and wildlife in the State." 12 M.R.S. § 10103(2). DIFW is directed "to preserve, protect and enhance the . . . wildlife resources of the State; . . . to ensure coordinated planning for the future use and preservation of these resources; and to provide for effective management of these resources." 12 M.R.S. § 10051. Plaintiffs concede that this includes "the authority to administer hunting and trapping programs consistent with wildlife management goals set by subdivision of the Department, conduct studies of wildlife populations, and promote and educate the public about Maine's resources." Pl.'s Compl. p. 4. These grants of authority are not comparable to the far more limiting list of enumerated functions of the agency in Campaign for Sensible Transportation.

Furthermore, the Department is mandated to "encourage the wise use of [wildlife] resources." 32 M.R.S. § 10051. Thus, DIFW is statutorily required "to attempt to persuade" the public to make wise of these resources, or to make wise use "more appealing or more likely to happen." Merriam-Webster Online Dictionary, "encourage," <http://merriam-webster.com/dictionary/encourage>, last visited 10/22/2014. The Department is also charged under 12 M.R.S. § 1056 with "increas[ing] the public's knowledge and understanding of inland . . . wildlife resources and the management of these resources." This statutory language expressly directs DIFW to advocate for its positions regarding wildlife management, including bear management. Additionally, in "implement[ing] a program designed to promote . . . wildlife resources and attract hunters . . . to the State," the Commissioner is granted discretionary authority to "coordinat[e] . . . activities between the public and private sectors and utilize[e] . . . promotional missions, exhibits, brochures, technical assistance and expertise as necessary to develop and promote hunting . . . activities within the State." 12 M.R.S. § 10108. Thus, this Court finds that there is express legislative authorization for the activities DIFW has engaged in this campaign against Question 1.

3. Government Speech Doctrine

The next question is whether the government speech doctrine applies to the facts in this case. The government speech doctrine provides that government speech "is not restricted by the Free Speech Clause." Adams v. Me. Mun. Ass'n, 2013 WL 9246553, at *16 (D. Me. 2013) (quoting Pleasant Grove City v. Summum, 555 U.S. 460, 469 (2009)). In other words, "the Government's own speech is exempt from First Amendment scrutiny." Johanns v. Livestock Mktg. Ass'n, 544 U.S. 550, 553 (2005). "Whether the protections of the government speech doctrine are available . . . depends on the content of the challenged speech and the legal theory argued by the challenger." Adams, 2013 WL 9246553, at *19. In Adams, the District Court followed the Fourth and Sixth Circuits “in declining to craft a bright line political or campaign speech exception to the government speech doctrine.” Id. at *22. The District Court observed that MMA’s advocacy activities related to initiatives that it perceived would have serious consequences for municipal governments. Id. The District Court in Adams resolved all of the federal claims, including a count alleging “the government taking sides” and “direct governmental interference with an initiative”, as sounding under the Free Speech Clause of the First Amendment and held that “the government speech doctrine applies to MMA’s advocacy activities.” Id. at *23.

MPBH’s claim in Count II of their Complaint also sounds under the Free Speech Clause even though plaintiffs take great care to say they are not mounting a constitutional challenge. Although at first blush, an ordinary citizen may question the appearance of uniformed Game Wardens in advertisements paid for by a private group and advocating for a particular point of view, the government speech doctrine protects expenditures on speech-related activities when the “speech is germane to a legitimate government interest”, Adams, 2013 WL 9246553, at *19 (citing Kidwell v. City of Union, 462 F. 3d 620, 626 (6th Cir. 2006)), and whether the government entity is subject to democratic accountability and political safeguards. Id. at *21 (quoting Bd. of Regents of Univ. of Wis. System v. Southworth, 529 U.S. 217, 235 (2000)).

The doctrine of government speech arises most often in the context of complaints that government speech expressing or promoting particular viewpoints violates the free speech rights of citizens with opposing views. Plaintiffs’ argument is best summed up by DIFW as, “by voicing a viewpoint in opposition to Plaintiffs’ own, DIFW has interfered with Plaintiffs’ ability to deliver its message." Def.'s Opp. at n.2. Although Plaintiffs take great care to state that their claim is not a constitutional claim, this court concludes that there is a free speech argument. Plaintiffs' claim in their Complaint that DIFW has impaired their "constitutional right to advance Question 1," and also that DIFW's actions have "harmed Plaintiffs' campaign." Pl.'s Compl. at p. 22. Thus, Plaintiffs' claim in Count II clearly sounds in free speech and the government speech doctrine applies. The law has consistently held over the last twenty years, that when governments "engage[] in their own expressive conduct, then the Free Speech Clause has no application." Pleasant Grove City, 555 U.S. at 467.

Pursuant to the government speech doctrine, a governmental entity "is entitled to say what it wishes," Rosenberger v. Rector & Visitors of Univ. of Va., 515 U.S. 819, 833 (1995), and to choose "viewpoints when the government itself is speaking." Griswold v. Driscoll, 616 F.3d 53, 58-59 (1st Cir. 2010) (citing Pleasant Grove City, 555 U.S. at 467.) Moreover, after choosing its message, as the Supreme Court provided:

Compelled support of government – even those programs of government one does not approve – is of course perfectly constitutional, as every taxpayer must attest. And some governmental programs involve, or entirely consist of, advocating a position. The government, as a general rule, may support valid programs and policies by taxes or other exactions binding on protesting parties. Within this broader principle it seems inevitable that funds raised by the government will be spent for speech and other expression to advocate and defend its own policies.

Johanns, 544 U.S. at 559 (internal quotation marks omitted.) Thus, the government speech doctrine allows governmental entities to expend funds on position-based speech.

Government accountability protects those who disagree with government actions or speech, and belies the need for additional first amendment protections.

The governmental speakers, after all, are "ultimately accountable to the electorate through the political process, which is the mechanism to test disagreements." Newton v. Page, 700 F. 3d 595 (1st Cir. 2012) (citing Bd. of Regents of Univ. of Wis. Sys., 529 U.S. at 235; Sutcliffe v. Epping Sch. Dist., 584 F. 3d 314, 331 n.9 (1st Cir. 2009)). The Supreme Court has observed that "[w]hen the government speaks, for instance to promote its own policies or to advance a particular idea, it is, in the end, accountable to the electorate and the political process for its advocacy. If the citizenry objects, newly elected officials later could espouse some different or contrary position." Bd. of Regents of Univ. of Wis. Sys., 529 U.S. at 235. Here, DIFW is a government agency, ultimately accountable to the electorate, and the speech at issue is germane to DIFW's statutory directives. Hence, the government speech doctrine applies and blocks Plaintiffs' claim to the extent it is premised upon first amendment rights. Thus, Plaintiffs are unlikely to prevail on the merits of their claim in Count II.

Irreparable Injury, Balancing of Harms and Public Interest

Plaintiffs have failed to articulate an irreparable injury. Plaintiffs allege that the injury is the continued use of agency funds to oppose Question 1 and to affect the outcome of the referendum vote. First, DIFW has stopped and does not intend to expend any additional funds on the campaign. Second, the TV advertisements are the property of MWCC and the plaintiffs have advanced no basis for enjoining MWCC. Third, the speech the plaintiffs seek to enjoin is part of the marketplace of ideas that best supports democracy. This decision should not be read as an endorsement of DIFW's campaign activities as a matter of policy; but, rather a subscription to the point of view articulated by the District Court in Adams that "more speech is better than less, and the Plaintiffs remain free to make their own voices louder and more persuasive in the marketplace of ideas." Id. at *25. If Plaintiffs do not like DIFW's speech, its remedy is to vote out of office or limit the conduct of those officials by law by petitioning the Maine Legislature to pass a law limiting DIFW's ability to fund and participate in campaign activities either on its own or in conjunction with other groups such as Ballot Question Committees.

Restricting speech on contested public issues is directly contrary to the public interest, which favors a robust and dynamic public discourse. See Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1, 48-49 (1976) (noting that the First Amendment "was designed to secure the widest possible dissemination of information from diverse and antagonistic sources, and to assure unfettered interchange of ideas for the bringing about of political and social changes") (internal citations and quotation marks omitted). It is the voters, not the Plaintiffs or the courts, to assess the relative merits of conflicting speech. See First Nat'l Bank of Boston v. Bellotti, 435 U.S. 765, 790-91 (1978) ("[T]he fact that advocacy may persuade the electorate is hardly a reason to suppress it . . . the people in our democracy are entrusted with the responsibility for judging and evaluating the relative merits of conflicting arguments.") The public interest would be adversely affected if Plaintiffs' request for a TRO were granted when DFIW's speech is on topics squarely within "its competence as governor." Kidwell, 462 F. 3d at 626. "If the citizenry objects, newly elected officials later could espouse some different or contrary position." Bd. of Regents of Univ. of Wis. Sys., 529 U.S. at 235. In the meantime, DIFW's advocacy activities are based on their experience and expertise and relate to initiatives that it perceives would have serious consequences for their effective management of Maine's bear population.

Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order is DENIED.

Date: October 22, 2014

Joyce A. Wheeler, Justice

⁵ Given the decision in this case, the court does not address whether the relief requested by Plaintiff would constitute prior restraint on either DIFW or MWCC. The court also does not need to address any other arguments raised by any of the parties.
