Caribou, Aroostook, Maine

William Bubar son of John & Elizabeth Bubar, [John was said to be the first man to die at Ft. Fairfield, Maine] received homestead farm, Lot #10, conveyed to him from by B. W. Norris, Jan 11, 1861 [Containing 77 acres more or less]. Receiving and excepting however one half acre where schoolhouse now stands to be surveyed in a square lot east of highway road commencing on east side of said highway road at the lower line of said lot #10 which one half acre is set apart for public use and for no other purpose. Originally this lot was intended to be a schoolhouse lot, but became a cemetery at some time later on. These land records were found at Houlton, Maine in 1997 by Brent Bubar, surveyor, William's great-grandson five times removed. Work was begun to remove trees and brush from this area in 1997 total restoration was finished in 1999. Many neighbors and friends were a part of this restoration:

Cutting and removing trees Brent Bubar, Bob Carlow, Nancy & Bayfield Bubar, Matthew & Bethany Bubar also Linda Bubar. Harvey Kelley's farm equipment was used to remove rocks and level ground. Judson Drake spent many hours removing tree stumps with his backhoe, then it was raked by many helping hands and Judson. Much research has been done to find who is buried here, little has been found but the following has been obtained by word of mouth or few death certificates found. C Bubar has many spellings over the years - Boobar, Boubar, Boober, Bubier, Boobour, it is now in Aroostook County spelled Bubar.

These records compiled by Nancy Patten Bubar, 39 Russ St., Caribou, Maine Tel: 492-4961

Doyle Flat or Farm Cemetery

Caribou, Aroostook, Maine

Located on the Grimes Road

This is an overgrown cemetery which has not been maintained for many years. It is rumored that there be at least 25 graves here. There is at least one CIVIL WAR SOLDIER here. If this is truly what they called Doyle Flat in early settlement, in one account it states that Alexander Cochran the earliest Cochran settler is buried at Doyle Flat, it is not known for sure Alex's actual burial place some claim it's Grimes, seems we will never know the resting places of most of these early settlers for sure, as they were usually buried on their own land and graves were not marked. Information is from stones found there and Caribou City Death Certificates December 1999

I cleaned Sharpe Stone and John Bubar Stone 1997 and acquired John's Civil War Papers from National Archives 1998. Information given to me July 13, 2000 by Raymond Walton said that the farm next to the Doyle farm was Samuel Bishop then Samuel Warks and that there was a burial ground there starting when Sam Bishop had it. This land was owned by Leon Hale at one time, then by Tom Sutherland. Tom Sutherland sold this land to the State of Maine and they dug a gravel pit in area of burial ground, the Hunter Gravestones at Grimes Cemetery came from this burial ground.

This area was known as Kelley Eddy. I have entered one known grave from death certificates of person buried at Sam Wark Cemetery below.

Compiled by Nancy Patten Bubar July 13, 2000

It has been learned this land belonged to first settler John Bubar so would be better called the John Bubar Cemetery, a first settler of Eaton Grant along with his father and brothers of which the Fort Fairfield Bubars are descendants. The Civil War headstone here is that of his son John. He had three sons go to Civil War, William buried at Grimes, and James buried at Arlington National Cemetery, killed during Civil War.

Caribou, Aroostook, Maine
Located on the Grimes Road

Early Burial Ground for Eaton Grant Settlers & Their Descendants

This is recorded information of people buried at Grimes Cemetery Dated March 15, 2000. Information has been obtained by old death certificates found at Caribou City Office 1999, From old cemetery records and direct from headstones found at cemetery, also by word of mouth from relatives that have knowledge their family members are buried there, but there is not a stone for them. Where you find the parents listed the information has been obtained from death certificates in most cases, but in some cases may have come from research. Names and information as been printed just as found on death certificates, dates on death certificates would be more reliable than on headstones. You will see that dates vary from information found on headstones. Names also vary as people often spelled names just as they thought they sounded and it depended upon whom was entering the information. Many names have been changed over the years in their spelling some examples as follows:

Past: Booby, Boubur, Boober .....now Bubar
Kelley, Kelly ..... now Kelley
Caulkins Calkins.....now Calkins
Cochrane Cochran.....now Cochran
Cota Cote.....now Cote
Dross Durost Drost.....now Durost or Drost
Laveck Levesque.....now Levesque
O'Neill O'Neil O'Neal.....now spelled mostly O'Neal
Sommers, Somers.....now Somers
Giggey Giggie Guiggey.....now still spelled all three ways
Whitenacht Whitnecht .....now Whiteneck
Warks Works.....now Wark

I have done my best to list all information as I have proved it from history and records, hoping this will be of benefit to those who want to know where their ancestors are buried. Where it is possible I have tried to list families together, as they are most likely buried together. I have cleaned many headstones at Grimes Cemetery in the past years so that inscriptions could be read and most likely will do more in the future. Much work was done in grading, seeding graves and removing bushes in 1999 by Cemetery Association They also marked many graves that had no stones. I have reread all Headstones and made corrections and additions May & June 2000. Have cleaned and repaired some stones. My husband Bayfield and I marked Abner, Lydia "Lettie" and Olive Bubar graves. Compiled by, Nancy [Patten] Bubar, July 10, 2000-Updated Aug 2, 2001

Please advise me of any additions and corrections not included here at 207 492-4961, please include dates also when informing of anyone known buried here which has not been printed in this record.

Land for Grimes Cemetery was donated by Patrick Kelley, he was an Eaton Grant early settler and this was his land. In early years it was called Kelly Cemetery; we're not sure when the name was changed to Grimes Mill Cemetery. The following is copied from earlier records done by Kenneth and Avis Armstrong in 1980-1983. Allowed to become over grown through the years, this cemetery was reclaimed sometime in the 1940's by James "Jack" Stewart, Haze McDougal, Herb Searles and Ace Walton. Raymond Walton as told to me June 2000, "In the 1950's The Caribou Grange decided to take Grimes Cemetery as project and also worked at restoration." Raymond also told of digging grave by hand himself, using planks to stay up the sides in the sandy soil. He said many farmers in the area dug graves by hand for family members. For many years it was cared for by Haze McDougal, then by Earl Lewis. In 1999 Caretaker was Bryant Lewis, also Bryant's brother Robert was caretaker in previous years

INTRODUCTION

First, I would like to thank the following people who have either contributed information or helped me gain access to records so that I could acquire that information: Attorney Phil Roberts, Stephen Dorsey, Gloria Flannery, and especially the staffs at the Fort Fairfield Public Library and Southern Aroostook Registry of Deeds who have been very patient in dealing with all of my inquiries.

Like many residents of the Fort Fairfield area, I had, until two years ago, always assumed that the partially fenced burial area on the west side of St. Denis Cemetery, West Riverside Avenue, Fort Fairfield, was part of the Catholic cemetery. It wasn't until I came across the obituary of my great-great grandfather, George W. Dean, which stated he was buried in the Houghton Burying Ground, that I discovered this section was separate from, although adjoining, the St. Denis cemetery. Upon a visit to the little cemetery, I discovered the markers of others who were, in their obituaries or death records, said to be buried at Riverside Cemetery (before the current Riverside Cemetery was established), Old Riverside Cemetery, West Riverside Cemetery, Houghton Cemetery, or the Houghton Burial Ground. This little bit of information so piqued my curiosity that I decided to attempt a research on the history of the cemetery. Nearly two years later, this manuscript is the summary of my research.

The cemetery is located adjacent to the St. Denis Cemetery, on West Riverside Avenue, Fort Fairfield, on the westerly side of St. Denis cemetery. The ground is somewhat higher than that of the Catholic cemetery and a metal marker is placed near the most westerly drive of the Catholic cemetery, not far in from West Riverside Avenue. This appears to be the corner post of the lot. I have a copy of a land deed which gives the dimensions of the Houghton Cemetery in 1881 when William Houghton, great-great grandfather of John Houghton, sold it to the Riverside Cemetery Corporation, the current owner.

Some of the burial lots are fenced as it was the fashion of the times to fence in family lots. A significant part of the cemetery is now heavily wooded, but a walk through the trees will show a few raised "beds" which were most certainly burial lots. I did not find any headstones in the wooded area, but did see a Knights of Columbus marker. If any stones do exist in that area, they are probably knocked down and are certainly covered with many, many years of ground and tree mulch. A sketch of the cemetery was done in 1984 by Gloria Flannery who did quite a bit of research on the cemetery at that time and she has given me copies of the records she acquired. She depicted 6 markers/stones at the lower end (north) for Fred Bishop, Bishop children, L.B., Minnard, and G.B. Those stones are no longer present and the area appears now to be a tilled field.

This cemetery is the final resting place for some of the pioneer settlers of Fort Fairfield with surnames of : Smith, Dorsey, Doran, Dean, Barnes, Burtchell, Higgins, Lovely, Bishop, and others.

The earliest burial I found was Mary Ann Bishop in 1842. The latest was of Miles H. Dorsey, Jr. in 1936, a veteran of the Spanish American War in 1898. Since it was in use before 1880, this cemetery is considered to be an "ancient burial ground". Records show several Civil War veterans are buried there.

HISTORY

The ownership of the land on which the cemetery is located appears to have taken the following course (copies of the land deeds referenced will be found later in this manuscript):

From Wilmot T. Ashby's "The Early History of Aroostook County", written in 1910-1912, pages 68 and 82: In 1820, during the time when the ownership of Aroostook County was being disputed between New Brunswick and the United States, the New Brunswick government issued some land patents to test their right to ownership. Benjamin Weeks of Woodstock was given six hundred acres of unsurveyed land on what was then known as the Johnson Brook, within the boundaries of Fort Fairfield, for which he was supposed to build mills on the brook. Several years went by, during which the dispute about the boundaries continued. By 1839, when the land finally went to Maine and Aroostook was set apart as a separate county, Mr. Weeks, who was still holding the British Land Patent which included much of the land in the village of Fort Fairfield, was concerned that he might lose his land as the State of Maine began to hand out land grants. He traded his land patent with William Johnston for land on "the Reach". The US Government honored the patent and Johnston was able to hold on to the land.

On October 10, 1839, Benjamin Weeks of Township Letter D (part of today's Fort Fairfield) on Aroostook River, yeoman, sold to William Johnson of Township Letter G, Range 2, a parcel of land in Letter D bounded on the east by John Dorsey, then along the river and bounded by John Radicer (Rediker), including two lots containing about 160 acres. This deed is recorded at Vol. 1, Page 224 at the Southern Aroostook Registry of Deeds.

On June 29, 1840, William Johnston of Letter D, Aroostook County, yeoman, sold to John B. Wing of Abbot, Piscataquis County, yeoman, a parcel of land in Letter D bounded on the east by John Dorsey, on the west by land formerly in the possession of John Rediger, on the north by the Aroostook River and extending back from the river, containing 350 acres, the same land conveyed to Johnston by Benjamin Weeks. This deed is recorded at Vol. 1, Page 275 at the Southern Aroostook Registry of Deeds.

On May 26, 1841, Richard Hawks of Letter D, Range 1, yeoman, signed a Quitclaim Deed to John B. Wing of Letter D, yeoman. The property conveyed is described as lot number one according to the survey of Thomas Sawyer in 1840 with lot number two on one side, and the bank of the river on another side, containing about forty acres. The deed is recorded at Vol. 2, Page 85 at the Southern Aroostook Registry of Deeds. I could find no other record of Richard Hawks and no explanation of how he came to acquire the property. It may be that he was a squatter and Wing bought him out to have clear title. Perhaps Weeks or Johnston had sold him a portion of the lot.

On May 27, 1846, John B. Wing of Letter D Plantation executed a Deed to Thomas Fisher, also of Letter D Plantation. The land conveyed was described as "Lot number One in Township Letter D, first Range of Towns west from the east line of the State according to a plan of survey made by Thomas Sawyer in 1840". This Deed is recorded at the Southern Aroostook Registry of Deeds at Vol. 6, Page 104. On the same day, Wing signed a second deed to Fisher, recorded at page 105, for what appears to be the adjoining lot, bordering John Dorsey. I have found records which refer to Thomas A. Fisher and am not certain if Thomas Fisher, who purchased the land in 1846, and Alonzo Fisher, who transferred the land to Stephen Phipps before 1869, are the same individual or if they might be father and son.

On November 10, 1869, Parker B. Burleigh, Land Agent for the State of Maine, executed a deed under the terms of the Webster-Ashburton Treaty and the Treaty of Washington, to Stephen Phipps of Fort Fairfield. The Deed states that the lot conveyed had been granted to Alonzo Fisher (which further indicates that Thomas Fisher and Alonzo Fisher were the same individual), a settler who was the occupant of the premises, under the terms of the several Commissioner's Reports which occurred after the Aroostook War. According to this deed, Alonzo Fisher had subsequently assigned his right to the property to Stephen Phipps and this deed was being executed to quiet the title. The lot is described as Lot One in Township Letter D, Range One, containing 16.6 acres. The deed was not recorded until March 22, 1871, at Book 40, Page 211.

On March 11, 1871, Stephen E. Phipps deeded Lot One containing 16.6 acres, along with Lots 46 & 47, to William Houghton of Fort Fairfield. The deed was recorded March 22, 1871 at Book 41, Page 208. William Houghton came to Fort Fairfield from Anson, Maine and was the great-great grandfather of John E. Houghton.

On December 29, 1881, William Houghton of Fort Fairfield sold to The Riverside Cemetery Corporation, a "lot of land containing a little more than one acre that is now used as a cemetery on the North side of Aroostook River on the river road being part of lot numbered One according to Sawyer's survey of Township Letter D, in the First Range, now part of the town of Fort Fairfield and bounded as follows: Commencing at the South east corner of said Cemetery lot a cedar post standing North easterly of the highway road; thence Northeasterly by a line at a right angle with said road nine and one-quarter rods to the North east corner, a cedar post, thence North westerly parallel with said road eighteen rods to the North west corner a cedar post, thence at a right angle with said road South west nine and one-quarter rods to the South west corner a cedar post standing on the Northerly side of said road, thence Southeasterly parallel with said road eighteen and one third rods to first bounds". The Deed is recorded at Book 76, Page 252 at the Southern Aroostook Registry of Deeds in Houlton. Sawyer's Survey was dated September-October 1840 and is available at the Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 5, Page 41.

Attorney Phil Roberts had a search done at the Registry in the Fall of 2001 and there were no transactions found where Riverside Cemetery Corporation had transferred the property. Therefore, it appears the current title to the Houghton Cemetery is with Riverside Cemetery Corporation.

The "Roe & Colby Atlas of 1877" shows "Lot 1, W.H"., with a small area marked "cem."

Several old newspaper articles add to the history:

The "Aroostook Valley Sunrise" of May 16, 1877: "Many citizens of this town are interested in the Cemetery on the North side of the river, upon the farm of Mr. Houghton, called "Riverside". Application has been made for incorporation, and the first meeting for the purpose of organization will be at Mr. Trafton's office..... The last resting place of our friends, and sooner or later of ourselves, should not be neglected, but, on the contrary, be made pleasant and familiar to our thoughts by being adorned and beautified as tokens of affection, for those who "go before". This article shows that the cemetery was in existence before 1877, was on land owned by Houghton, and was originally called "Riverside". This also marks the beginning of the Riverside Cemetery Corporation. The membership of the Corporation, for many years, included the names of Hacker, Trafton, Haycock, and others.

On July 23, 1883, Jerre T. Hacker and Lizzie E. Hacker deeded Lot 6, 27 acres, as a gift to the Riverside Cemetery Corporation to be used as a cemetery with provisions that no portion of it could be disposed of in any way and that it be called "Riverside Cemetery". The deed is recorded at Book 81, Page 377 at the Southern Aroostook Registry of Deeds. It was from this point that some of the obituaries and death records began to use "Old Riverside Cemetery" or "Houghton Cemetery/burial ground" for the original cemetery. Each year, the newspaper would have an article or two describing the Memorial Day events which had taken place. In each of them, the old soldiers had marched, with band, to the old cemetery for their ceremonies. It was not until 1913 that they began holding the ceremonies at the new Riverside Cemetery. Records show the first body buried at the new cemetery was that of Almon S. Richards on July 2, 1884.

"The Northern Leader" dated March 31, 1893 has an article entitled "History of Fort Fairfield", which was part of a weekly series. In this particular segment, the author states that Stephen E. Phipps arrived in Fort Fairfield in 1842 and, after several years, bought "what is now the Houghton farm on the north side of the Aroostook river".

In the April 6, 1894 issue of "The Northern Leader" appears an article which states "Our Catholic friends desire to make arrangements for a portion of the cemetery grounds, to be set apart for the burial of persons of their faith. By the usages of their church the grounds are consecrated and set apart for the exclusive burial of members of their society." An article appears in the paper a short time after stating that the Riverside Cemetery Corporation will be meeting to discuss the petition of the Catholic Church, but I found nothing further as to whether or not the petition was granted or in which of the two cemeteries they were petitioning for land.

A write-up of the annual meeting of Riverside Cemetery Corporation appears in "The Northern Leader", January 11, 1895. It says: "The Corporation holds what is known as the "Upper lot", bought of Mr. Houghton in 1881, and twenty-seven acres, a free gift from Mr. and Mrs. Hacker in 1883. There is nominally due from lots taken on the Houghton lot about $400, very little of which is likely to be collected."

In the "Fort Fairfield Review" June 8, 1910, an article entitled "The Old Soldiers" states that five soldiers, members of Kilpatrick Post No. 61, Grand Army of the Republic, are buried in the Houghton burying ground. There were other Civil War veterans buried in the cemetery after that date, one of them being George W. Dean.

By 1914, the cemetery was already showing signs of neglect. This article appeared in the "Fort Fairfield Review” September 23, 1914: “One of the most neglected spots we have seen for years is the old Houghton burying-ground, so called, on the north side of the Aroostook river. It is now mostly grown up to bushes, largely evergreens, it being hard to find what few gravestones there are, many of them having already fallen down. It seems as if it is a matter of not a great many years before this burying-ground will in some manner be used for other purposes, the comparatively few remaining graves probably having the bodies they have so long held placed in other burying-grounds.” And, indeed, some of the families did relocate their deceased members to the new cemetery.

In 1916, an attempt was made to erect a fence around the Houghton cemetery as evidenced by the following from the “Fort Fairfield Review” June 28, 1916: “K. C. Haycock is collecting money for the building of a fence around the old Houghton burying-ground, Riverside avenue west. This is indeed a worthy object. St. Dennis’ church will pay half of the expense of a fence between that burying-ground and the Catholic burying-ground.” Mr. Haycock was the local undertaker for many years.

The “Fort Fairfield Review” of May 16, 1923 has two articles which are of some interest. One refers to the annual meeting of the Riverside Cemetery Corporation which was held at the office of Trafton & Roberts. M. P. Roberts was secretary. (Melvin Philip Roberts was the father of attorney Phil Roberts.) The second article says “Fort Fairfield contains two of the worst looking, most neglected and most discreditable graveyards to be found in Maine - the Houghton burying ground and the Haines burying ground so called.”

Just twenty-five years earlier, in 1898, a book was published by Geo. W. Morris, Portland, Maine, entitled “Scenic Gems of Maine, illustrating many of the most beautiful and interesting places in the State of Maine”. On page 178 is an article on Fort Fairfield which states: “On the north side of the river are found two pretty burying-grounds, Houghton Cemetery on Riverside Avenue, west, and Riverside Cemetery on Riverside Avenue, east”. There is also a picture of the river showing what I believe is the new cemetery.

One of the most interesting items I have found to date are copies of a burial record book for the “Old Cemetery”. The copy I received only contains burials from 1888 to 1909, but it does include a record of lot purchases showing the lot number, name, number of graves and dimensions of the lot. There were 127 lots, although it appears all were not sold. The record book appears to be in the same handwriting as the burial records of (new) Riverside Cemetery during the same time period, so I have assumed the books were kept by Kimball C. Haycock, undertaker. Mr. Haycock died October 1925 and, according to various articles in the “Review”, was for many years treasurer and superintendent of Riverside Cemetery Corporation. Attorney Phil Roberts told me that his office, at one time, had possession of two notebooks which contained a listing of all the burials at the Houghton cemetery, also known as the Protestant Cemetery. Several years ago, he gave the notebooks to the town manager. Both Mr. Roberts and I have made inquiries at the town office, but it appears the notebooks are among the many items which were lost in one of the Spring floods. The copies I received are from one notebook. It may have been one of the ones to which Mr. Roberts referred as it covers only about a twenty year period and the cemetery was in existence at least by 1842. The last burial appears to have been in 1936.

BURIAL RECORDS

I have attempted to transcribe the information from the "Old Cemetery" notebook as accurately as possible, but you, the reader, must be aware that some of the copies are not clear and there may be some errors. The names are spelled as they appear in the record.

BURIAL RECORDS FROM OTHER SOURCES

The following are burial records which I have obtained from the headstones at the cemetery and from sources such as town office death records, church burial records, newspapers, and burial records for the new Riverside Cemetery, 1884-1925. Some individuals may be entered more than once, as I have tried to note each record that I found.

From the headstones:

SMITH, ELLEN M., d. Apr 1889, 16y8d
ELLEN M., d. 3 Apr 1873, 24y
EMILY J., d. 15 Apr 1882, 16y

MARY E., d. 22 Dec 1876, 1y8m, child of Miles & Margaret MILES H. JR., Maine (stone is sunken into the ground and the rest cannot be seen),
Two military markers are present, one is marked World War, this is probably Miles Jr. Other sources say 46 US Vol. Inf. The other marker may be for Miles Sr. who was an English soldier and likely served in the Civil War after settling in Fort Fairfield.

DORAN, (in Dorsey Lot)
JAMES, 1837 - 3 Nov 1881, 44 years (JAMES DURAN, was a Private, Co. G.,

State of Maine.

Whereas the Legislature of the State of Maine, by Resolves approved Feb. 21, 1843, and the Legislature of Massachusetts, by Resolves approved March 24, 1843, entitled "Resolve authorizing the appointment of Commissioners to locate grants and determine the extent of possessory claims under the late treaty with Great Britain," authorized the Land Agent to convey to certain settlers therein described the lots of land respectively to which by said treaty and resolves they were entitled:—And by other resolves dated respectively April 12, and 24, 1854, the Land Agent of Maine was further authorized to convey certain other lots to settlers as described therein, the first named resolve being entitled a "Resolve authorizing the appointment of commissioners to locate grants and determine the extent of possessory claims under the late treaty with Great Britain," and the latter a "Resolve in favor of claimants, under the treaty of Washington, of lands the title to which is now in the State." And by further Resolve bearing date Feb. 23, 1867, amending said resolves, further provision is made for the conveyance of said lots:—And whereas the following described premises were set off by the Commissioners under said Resolves to Alongo Fisher, as the occupant and owner of the possession of said premises, and the said Alongo Fisher has since assigned his said right, and the same is now held and owned by Stephen Phipps of Fort Fairfield in the County of Aroostook, and State aforesaid, And said Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in the year 1853, conveyed their moiety of the public lands previously owned in common and undivided, to the State of Maine, and said State has assumed to perform all the obligations aforesaid of said Commonwealth in the premises:—Now, therefore, Know all Men by these Presents, That I the undersigned Parker P. Burleigh Land Agent of said State of Maine, in consideration of the premises and for the purpose of quieting the owner in the title of said land to which by the terms of said treaty and resolves he is entitled, do hereby under and by virtue of the authority aforesaid, in behalf of said State, give, grant, release and convey unto said Stephen Phipps, the following described lot or parcel of land, situate in Township Letter D, in Range One, to Phipps.

A MUCH NEEDED WORK.—Many citizens of this town are interested in the Cemetery on the North side of the river, upon the farm of Mr. Houghton, called "Riverside." Application has been made for incorporation, and the first meeting for the purpose of organization will be at Mr. Trafton's office on Saturday next, at 7 P. M. It is very desirable that there may be a general attendance of our citizens. The last resting-place of our friends, and sooner or later of ourselves, should not be neglected, but, on the contrary, be made pleasant and familiar to our thoughts by being adorned and beautified as tokens of affection, for those who "go before."
TEMPERANCE MEETING.—As the result of the labor of Mr. Baruum in this village, our citizens had a meeting last evening (Tuesday), and organized a

Cemetery Grounds.

Our Catholic friends desire to make arrangements for a portion of the cemetery grounds, to be set apart for the burial of persons of their faith.

By the usages of their church the grounds are consecrated and set apart for the exclusive burial of members of their society.

Our attention was first drawn to the setting apart of a part of a cemetery for this purpose at the Soldiers' Home at Washington, D. C., where this plan is carried out. While this is a matter exclusively in the hands of the cemetery corporation, we are free to say that we can see no reason why such an arrangement cannot be amicably carried out.

Our Cemetery.

The annual meeting of Riverside Cemetery Corporation was held January 7th, when the following officers were elected:

J. F. Hacker, President; J. B. Trafton, Clerk; C. W. Johnston, Treasurer; Mrs. J. F. Hacker, Mrs. C. W. Johnston, Mr. J. A. Wallace, Mrs. A. B. Libby, Mrs. Anna Earle and Mr. A. O. French, Executive Committee.

The corporation holds what is known as the "Upper lot," bought of Mr. Houghton in 1881, and twenty-seven acres, a free gift from Mr. and Mrs. Hacker in 1888. There is nominally due from lots taken on the Houghton lot about $400, very little of which is likely to be collected.

The corporation has expended on the Hacker lot to date about $3000. This includes laying out the grounds, making roads, fencing, building receiving tomb, bringing water from the water works, building fountain, etc. The care and responsibility in all these works has fallen mainly upon the efficient treasurer, who not only serves without compensation but who has advanced about $250 to complete payments on fountain, etc., which amount is now due to him, and should be paid at once.

The corporation has no funds except what is paid for lots. There is due on account of lots engaged on the Hacker lot about $600. Many of these lots have been held several years by families able to pay the price agreed upon, and the meeting decided that if the necessary work at the cemetery was to be carried on, the debt provided for, and funds raised to take care of the grounds, etc., that measures must be taken to collect what is now due.

It was therefore voted, "To instruct the executive committee to take immediate measures to collect amounts due, and to declare lots forfeited that are not paid for in a reasonable time."

It is hoped that our citizens will in the future take an active interest in carrying on the work necessary to make the cemetery a credit to our town.

returned to the soil.

Soldiers' Graves.

By the act of congress, of March 3d, 1893, provisions were made for head-stones for unmarked soldiers' graves, whither they died in the service, or since mustered out or discharged. It is true that these stones are not as expensive as those usually set up by friends, but they mark the graves and give name, rank, company and regiment in which service was rendered and the date of death, and to the true soldiers the most honored mention possible to be made.

Applications are made for these head-stones with the understanding that when furnished and delivered, freight free, at the nearest railroad station, they will be received and set up at the expense of the applicant.

THE OLD SOLDIERS

Kilpatrick Post, No. 61, Grand Army of the Republic, Fort Fairfield, yet contains 34 members, 22 of whom live in Fort Fairfield. Of the others, two live in Caribou, and one each in Waterville, Newport, Togus, Caswell, East Deering, Dexter, Bangor and Faulkton, South Dakota. Five soldiers are buried in the Houghton burying-ground, seven in the Catholic Cemetery, five in Greenridge Cemetery, eight in Maplegrove Cemetery, 18 in Union Cemetery, 37 in Riverside Cemetery, and seven scattered through various parts of Fort Fairfield, a total of 87. All these except the five in Greenridge Cemetery are in Fort Fairfield. Five members of Kilpatrick Post died during the past year—Joseph A. Conant, Daniel Hopkins, A. L. Haines, Warren C. Plummer and L. K. Cary.

K. C. Haycock is collecting money for the building of a fence around the old Houghton burying-ground, Riverside avenue west. This is indeed a worthy object. St. Dennis' church will pay half of the expense of a fence between that burying-ground and the Catholic burying-ground.

* One of the most neglected spots we have seen for years is the old Houghton burying-ground, so called, on the north side of the Aroostook river. It is now mostly grown up to bushes, largely evergreens, it being hard to find what few gravestones there are, many of them having already fallen down. It seems as if it is a matter of not a great many years before this burying-ground will in some manner be used for other purposes, the comparatively few remaining graves probably having the bodies they have so long held placed in other burying-grounds.

RIVERSIDE CEMETERY.

Some Interesting Facts in Regard to Fort Fairfield's Largest Burial Ground.

The burying of the bodies of the dead may correctly be regarded as about a half-way step between the old Indian custom of depositing the bodies in the branches of trees or upon scaffolds, to decay by the action of the sun, rain and atmosphere, and the more modern and hygienic method of cremation. The civilized world long ages ago got beyond the tree-holding and scaffold-bearing ways of disposing of its dead, and, in the ages to come—not so very far distant, either,—we may expect to find that our present system of burying the dead, to disintegrate by the action of the elements under ground, has been left as far behind as have already been left the methods have just referred to.

But, so long as the present method continues to be the general rule, as it is in most of the smaller places and even yet in many of the large cities, it should be a matter of care and pride on our part—yes, even of comfort and almost of joy—to know that our beloved dead repose in fitting places, amid refined and beautiful surroundings, so that, if they could know of their places of burial, they would not be ashamed of them, and would not feel that the living had neglected them or wrongly treated their mortal portion,—so that, if they could literally awaken some fine morning, they would find themselves surrounded by neatly trimmed shrubbery and waving trees, in places where the flowers love to grow and linger, and where the breezes, balmy as on the first great morning in Eden, should tenderly kiss their brows and present them to the bright and glorious sun beaming lovingly down upon them.

With such thoughts in mind, it is with particular satisfaction that we note the recent—in fact the yearly—improvements in our largest Fort Fairfield burial-ground, Riverside Cemetery, so beautifully resting in a bend in the Aroostook river, and looking up and across the stream to the quiet and happy village in which many of its inmates once worked and played, sorrowed and joyed, and felt the galled tongue of malice or the endearing tones of love. But before we go farther we may perhaps give a few historical and descriptive words in regard to this last great bed of so many of our friends.

Riverside Cemetery is situated on the north shore of the Aroostook river, seven eighths of a mile east of the Aroostook river bridge. It contains 27 acres of the land once owned by the late Jere F. Hacker, for use as a cemetery. Its surface is nearly level and does not lend itself easily to the beautifying touch of the landscape artist.

set this spring, and it is the intention of the officers in charge to set out some every spring, so that in the years to come, the appearance of this ground, with its curved avenues of stately trees, may be a surprise to any one who may not have viewed the spot for a long time.

The present officers of the cemetery corporation are: Mrs. Hacker, president; H. W. Trafton, clerk; C. W. Johnston, treasurer and sexton. There is also a board of trustees, but most of the business has heretofore been left almost altogether with the officers named.

To the energy and unflagging interest of Mr. Johnston much of the good management and present excellent appearance of the cemetery is due. With the exception of a few years at the first, when the late S. F. Lord was the sexton, Mr. Johnston has been sexton the entire time, and has also been its treasurer from the start, filling both offices without pay. The public spirit and generosity of citizens who thus give much time and thought to the public good, wholly without remuneration in a financial way, are perhaps not appreciated as they should be. Do we not owe something to such citizens, who, from a desire to further a good work, will thus freely serve the general interests of the community? Do we not at least owe it to them, as well as to ourselves and our departed friends, to do all that reasonably lies in our power to adorn and make a thing of beauty and of public pride the last earthly home of our beloved friends who have gone before?

However, one was employed at the outset, and laid off considerably more than half the area into lots, laying out also necessary drives and walks, indicating the locations in which trees should be planted to the best advantage, reserving grounds for a soldiers' monument, and designating the best site for a fountain. These lots were made large enough to contain about 12 lots of various sizes, such as would usually come from the average hill.

The first body buried in this cemetery was that of Almon S. Richards, July 2, 1884. It is estimated that there are now about 1,000 people buried here, and that some 900 stones and monuments mark the places. At any rate, about 325 lots have been sold, price of each being $15, the buyer in every case choosing his own lot. The funds for the maintenance and improvement of the grounds are obtained wholly from the sale of lots, it is estimated that this method will be sufficient for a score of years to come. A fund of $600 is now in the treasury of the corporation owning and managing the cemetery. In Lake Isle and Caribou the principal vetereries have for some years been maintained by an assessment of $2 per year upon each member of the corporations.

The membership of the Riverside Cemetery corporation numbers about 100 and consists wholly of those owners of lots. A meeting is held every year to choose officers and transact necessary business.

To return a moment to the cemetery itself, we find that some more of the old lots must soon be lotted off, as the demand for new lots is considerable, and cannot much longer be supplied from the lots already marked out. Only about half the area of the whole grant is yet fenced in, and the new lotting must soon be done will not take up all of the grounds already fenced.

Many of the monuments of this ground are beautiful and costly. It has also a good receiving-tomb, also a fountain supplied with water from the opposite side of the river. A circle 100 feet in diameter is devoted to the use of a soldiers' monument, which, it is hoped, may be erected there in the not distant future.

The greatest permanent improvement that has been made, however, is the planting of trees, now numbering about 300. Some of them have been

Dean-Dorsey Cemetery

1842 - 1926

ArFFld05

Fort Fairfield, Aroostook, Maine

Location: This cemetery is located directly north of the Catholic Cemetery on riverside Avenue West, the first road to your left after crossing the bridge in Fort Fairfield. Most of the lots are fenced in. Some of the lots are fenced in, I e The Dean and Higgins lots are inside one fenced off plot. The Smith stone is in a fenced in area by itself. The rest of the stones are directly in back of the Smith and Dorsey area in weed and bushes. There may be other stones hidden there but one needs a machete to find them.

Riverside Cemetery

Riverside Cemetery was relocated to its present location from East River Road

It contains over 8,000 persons, some without markers and those have been noted. I used the care takers map to label sections A to I in a way I could separate the plots and get them into some order. The care takers map is not divided the way, I have divided the sections so if you are visiting the Cemetery it may be a little hard to find the plot you are looking for because many of the old walk ways have overgrown and are not there anymore, as well as some of the center roads. None of the road names are labeled in the Cemetery so that will also not help you in locating a plot if you are looking for one, but the care takers are very helpful and can point you in the right direction. I'm putting the section maps in where they will help identify a plot location in each section as needed.

Section D-4

This section is set up very large almost like two sections together. It starts at the corner of Soldiers Street and Hemlock Street with plot 88 going down Soldiers Street to the corner of Hollyhoc Street ending with plot 90, so there are three plots at the end. Then from plot 88 it goes to 122 backwards to 113 on Hemlock Street. After plot 113 there are two plots to the left 123 and 128, which again has three plots at the end of this row. After 123, the plots go back up Hemlock street for four plots to 127, then there is what looks like the makings of a walkway and the plot 129 , 130 and 136. Looks like they are adding plots as the land is used. After the walkway there's a small corner plot 131 then going up Holly Hoc the plots go to 135. Then there is a big open space, then the Veterans lot to finish off section D-4.

SECTION D – 5

This section is just starting to get filled, the side facing HollyHoc street only has a few headstones and there are six plots listed. I found three stones on the corner of Maple and Soldiers' Street, one up-right, one flat in ground, then another upright. They had nothing on the face or back of any of these stones, maybe wear or there was nothing on them to start.

SECTION F – 4

This section is sort of a triangle but it has no point at one side, and there are walk-ways between some of the plots. Starts on Beech Street with plot 207 goes up to 213. Then there is a smaller triangle inside, on the beech street side with 5 plots, starts with 279 goes up toward Soldiers Circle with two plots 278 and 276, then on Beech Street the last two plots 277 and 275. So it really goes zig-zag back and forth with the numbers.

Section G – 5

This is another double row section, it starts at the corner of Crescent Street and Autumn Street with plot 970, goes down Autumn to the corner of Birch with plot 981 then back down the other side starting with 893, going down another long lost path named East Way ending with plot 992 then it starts back down on the other side of East Way with the first two plots going across both section plots 1005 and 1004 then the row splits going to plot 997 down to 993 then two plots again that go across both section with 1003 and 982 then back down Crescent street starting with plot 1002 back wards to 998 which is back down by 1004. The numbers are there but not in a direct order. I started walking this one just the way of the map until I get to the other side of East Way.

This ends section G.

Section H

This one ends in a half circle at the river and then goes around the corner. This section goes the whole length of the cemetery. I have broken it into three sections starting with H-1 by the river.

Section H - 1

I'm not sure who was buried in this area but it has combined into H-2. It looks like there are no stone in this area, though I'm sure there were persons buried here at one time, just haven't found proof of who.

Section H - 2

This is a small section with only three plots. There are no upright stones in this section at all and it runs into Section H-1 where there are also no stones. The walkway is overrun so its just one big triangle like, with the end empty.

This is the last section in the long row. Its shaped sort of like a boot, the bottom part going wider. Actually in that part the rows don't face like the ones in the long part, they actually face out towards the street outside the Cemetery. They are back to back starting with 1043 going up to 1052. The long part going down are three across, then go to two across and back to three across before the last two rows facing the outside.

Hews (Benjamin) Cemetery

1850

Township 9 R5, Aroostook, Maine

Location: Cemetery located on State Route 11 about 2.25 miles South of the Masardis town line near the Violette Picnic area - turn right onto a logging (so-called Camp Violet Rd.). The graves are on the left just after entering woods (.1 mile) - Cemetery has been listed as the Hews Cemetery and the Hows Cemetery - not sure which is correct.
