Evergreen Cemetery

1795 - 1940

CumPor07

Portland, Cumberland, Maine

Location: 672 Stevens Ave

Began in 1852 due to space limitations of the 2 existing cemeteries, with 55 acres. Later purchases expanded this to over 370 acres.

App. 60,333 buried here. Early burials c1852-1870's have been lost.

This is a small portion of the gravestones prior to 1875. Most burial records can be found at the Evergreen Office.

Pineland Memorial Cemetery

Front Section

1818 - 1981

CumPow08

Pownal, Cumberland, Maine

Many entries out of alphabetical sequence

Location: From Yarmouth, take Rte. 115 and stay on it until you come to the No. Yarmouth Cong. Church, then take a right. This is Rte. 231. Stay on 231 until you come to Pineland Hosp. Continue straight passed it and its pond. About 1/2 mile on the left is the Cemetery. Patient's burial sec. is at the end of the road that runs beside the cemetery. This cemetery may have another name, but unable to find out. Sections are referred to as "Front Section" and "Patient's Section."

Pineland Memorial Cemetery

Patients' Section

1910 - 1975

CumPow08a

Pownal, Cumberland, Maine

Gravesites are laid out by date in Patients' Sec.

Location: From Yarmouth, take Rte. 115 and stay on it until you come to the No. Yarmouth Cong. Church, then take a right. This is Rte. 231. Stay on 231 until you come to Pineland Hosp. Continue straight passed it and its pond. About 1/2 mile on the left is the Cemetery. Patient's burial sec. is at the end of the road that runs beside the cemetery. This cemetery may have another name, but unable to find out. Sections are referred to as "Front Section" and "Patient's Section."

Bayview Cemetery
South Portland, Cumberland, Maine

Bayview Cemetery is located at 781 Sawyer Street in South Portland, Maine. When traveling on Broadway, turn right onto route 77 South (just after the Millcreek shopping plaza). Travel for .7 miles and at the second set of lights take a left onto Sawyer Street. The cemetery will be on the left side of the road. The oldest part of the cemetery- the Quaker Burying Ground, is to the right of the last entrance to the cemetery.

Cemetery was found in the 1990s and one stone was recorded by Karen Ketover for her book Westbrook, Maine Cemeteries. In 2002, thanks to the help of Ken Moody and his wife Janet Grant Moody, we located the site and excavated and reset seven other stones, which had been buried under layers of dirt

When the school was built the remains of the Haskell family were disinterred and reburied in Woodlawn Cemetery, Section D, under a memorial stone pictured above. The stone states: "These stones with remains here buried, removed from Pike Hill lot June 1905. Names of persons known to have been buried there:..." (At the top of the memorial stone is a piece of an original slate headstone containing the names of two children. The letters 'Obt' are used in place of 'died on'.)

Cemetery is neglected but has been protected by the woods. E.D. Muzzy did a transcription of this cemetery in 1973 and all but 1 stone on that list were present in 2003. There are also many footstones and broken pieces of headstones in the cemetery.

An asterisk (*) after a name indicates that no stone with that name was seen in 2002-2003.

The question with is when does a cemetery stop being a cemetery? In 2002 there are only small pieces of unengraved stones seen. The land has been set aside by the city because of its recorded history as the burying place of John Proctor and other family members. Phil Spiller recorded in 1993 that “stones completely shattered by vandalism and scattered. In the 50s stones were in excellent shape and visible in the field where there were no trees.”

The recording here is taken from a report of Katrina Espy, done in 1984. The stone is no longer there.

The land for this cemetery was purchased in 1827. Many stones that were listed on the 1962 survey done by Mrs. Lottie B. (Clark) Gorrie are either missing, broken, or too worn to read; those names are marked by asterisks (*). The cemetery is still active and well kept by the city but has had incidences of vandalism.

Note: surnames are cross-referenced when maiden name was indicated on stone.
