The Prisoner Handbook provides information about the Department of Corrections and the operation of the facility. The Handbook will help you know what services are available and what your obligations are. You are responsible for familiarizing yourself with the contents of the Handbook.

You are subject by law to the authority of the Department of Corrections, even if you have not been sentenced. You must comply with the rules of the facility. Staff will enforce the rules.

If you respect the property of others and comply with the rules of the facility, and obey the orders of the staff, more opportunities for personal development will be open to you. The time you spend here can be productive, if you are determined to make it so.

Maine Correctional Center is a Medium/Minimum Male/Female Facility

The Housing Unit Team manages and coordinates all aspects of your daily activities while you are at the Maine Correctional Center

The following signs are posted in common areas:

4. Using only the space provided, clearly state:
   a. the specific nature of your complaint,
   b. the date first affected the prisoner,
   c. and the remedy requested.
5. Sign and date in the appropriate space provided.

7. Place the envelope in the mail box in your housing unit within five days of when it first affected you. You can write “PRIVILEGED MAIL” on the outside of the envelope.
8. If the prisoner does not receive a response or does not receive an agreed upon solution within six or seven days of the date it was placed in the mail, the prisoner should complete another grievance form and submit it directly to the Grievance Review Officer (GRO). Document on the “new/second” grievance form the original complaint and add that you attempted to resolve it with the Supervisor, but you did not receive a response, or you did not reach an agreed upon resolution by the required timeframe. I will verify your claim and if appropriate, I will accept and investigate your complaint. You must have the grievance date stamped, on my desk, by the 15th day from when it first affected you. (Unless it’s a PREA complaints have no time limit and can be on any form). The Supervisor is given only 6-7 days to review and respond to your complaint.

At the end of the GRO’s investigation you will receive a written response and if appropriate further resolution attempts, an appeal form if denied or additional instructions.
10. You cannot appeal a dismissed grievance, this is considered abuse. You can appeal a denied grievance.
11. You have 15 days to submit an appeal. Submit all appeals to the GRO. The 15 days limit is from when the response was signed by the GRO or Warden.
12. Select Prisoners have been chosen as Grievance Process Assistant’s. A Grievance Assistant is another Prisoner who is thoroughly trained in the Grievance Policy and makes themselves available to assist other Prisoners in understanding and properly utilizing the grievance process. They do not advocate for other Prisoner’s or file grievances on their behalf or represent them in any way. Instead they inform them about the proper forms, timelines, options for resolving grievances, etc. Please contact your Caseworker, CCTW, the GRO or one of the Grievance Assistant’s if you have questions, concerns or need assistance with the grievance process.

14. LEVEL SYSTEM: Maine Correctional Center uses a progressive level system to structure privileges based on positive behaviors, program compliance, appropriate interaction with staff and others, the absence of misconduct, and other relevant factors. The level system uses a graduated system of privileges granted to the prisoner which may include, but is not limited to: amount of recreation time available, number of visits allowed, allowable personal property, and access to off-grounds or paying work assignments. Level advancements/regressions are made by the classification board of a prisoner’s assigned unit. Level changes are not made in the name of punishment/discipline but rather is recognition of a prisoner’s current behavior in structuring their access to privileges. Specific levels available and structuring of privileges vary depending on assigned unit. For more information, speak to your assigned case worker.
PART II

FACILITY SERVICES

1. CLASSIFICATION. Classification is the ongoing process of collecting and evaluating information about you to determine your risk and needs level for the purpose of deciding the facility or unit where you will be housed, your treatment needs, and what programs would be suitable. The Classification Officer or designee will chair the Reception Classification Committee.

   A) Unit Classification Committee. The Unit Classification Committee consists of staff members that make decisions about your classification status, job placement, needs assessment, risk evaluation, program participation, etc. The Unit Classification Committee is comprised of unit staff and is chaired by the Unit Manager or designee.

   B) Transfer. Decisions involving a transfer are made at the discretion of the CAO. If you want to be considered for a transfer, initiate a Transfer Request in writing to your Unit Classification Committee and your request will be reviewed.

   C) Prisoner Records. The facility maintains a record of the status of your sentence (including any pending charges) and of your overall performance. Questions about information in your Record should be directed to your Caseworker/Care and Treatment Worker.

2. SENTENCE COMPUTATION AND CREDITS. The Department of Corrections is responsible for the computation of sentences. The Records Office will periodically issue a Good Time Sheet, which will provide information about the computation of your sentence(s). Any questions regarding your sentence or good time should be forwarded to your Unit Team's A.C.O. on a Request Slip.

   A) Pre-Sentence Detention Time (Jail Time). It is your responsibility to write to the Jail Administrator in the county from which you were detained to receive credit for any Jail time served.

   B) PPR’s. PPRs stand for “Prisoner Performance Reports” and are negative reports that can be filed monthly regarding an inmate’s performance either around their Conduct and/or their Work/Educational/Programming performance. PPRs result in an inmate not earning a portion of their good time for a given month due to unsatisfactory behavior.

   Inmates under the 1983, 1995, or 2004 sentencing codes all are eligible to earn good time each month under two general categories. Conduct good time refers to an inmate’s behavior and ability to follow facility rules and interact respectfully with others within a given month. Work/Education/Programming good time refers to an inmate engaging in their assigned work, programming, or educational assignment within a given month. The specific amount of good time accrued for each category depends on the good time code that an inmate was sentenced under (refer to MDOC policy 11.5 for more information).

   A prisoner may receive a PPR for Conduct by any housing area supervisor related to poor conduct within a given month. This conduct can be any violation of the prisoner disciplinary policy regardless of whether discipline was initiated or not. Additionally, any inmate who is found guilty of a formal discipline will have a PPR submitted for the month the disciplinary violation occurred in. PPRs for Conduct will result in the inmate not accruing any of their eligible conduct good time for that month.
A prisoner may receive a PPR for Work/Education/Programming from any work or program supervisor if an inmate’s behavior was unsatisfactory during a given month (by having an unexcused absence, failing to follow work/program rules, failing to satisfactorily complete a mandatory component the work/program assignment, etc.) or if an inmate was terminated from or refused a recommended work or program assignment. PPRs related to Work/Education/Programming will result in the inmate not accruing any of their eligible Work/Education/Programming good time for that month. If an inmate was absent from a Work/Education/Programming assignment through no fault of their own (court, medical restriction, facility lock-down, etc.), an inmate will receive a prorated amount of good time for the given month based on the number of days that they were present (refer to MDOC Policy 11.5 for more information).

Special Notes:
- PPRs are separate from the disciplinary process. That is, a PPR can be filed for unsatisfactory behavior even if an inmate did not receive a discipline and even if a discipline is dismissed. The only instance in which PPRs are connected to discipline is that if an inmate is convicted of a formal discipline they will get a PPR for the month the conduct occurred in.
- PPRs result in an inmate not “earning” or accruing good time in a given month.
- PPR’s do not cause good time that was already earned to be taken away. Because the good time was never earned, it cannot be requested back or returned at any time for any reason. PPRs are not punishment; they are a lack of a reward due to unsatisfactory behavior.
- Refusing or getting terminated from case-plan recommended programming can result in PPR’s being filed up to 6 months. Refer to MDOC policy 11.5 or speak to your caseworker for more details.
- PPRs cannot be appealed. All sentence calculation issues (including PPRs) are grievable in accordance with MDOC policy 29.1.

C) Access to Prisoner Records. To review or receive copies of documents in your record (other than mental health or substance abuse treatment records) you must submit a written request to the caseworker or CCTW. Copies are made at the prisoner’s expense - .25 cents per page.

D) Access to Mental Health or Substance Abuse Records. The psychiatrist or psychologist may deny access if review of record will be detrimental to the mental health of the prisoner. A written request to review must be submitted to the Medical Department or residential substance abuse treatment program.

A completed order form needs to receive the approval of the unit manager and then it is sent to the business office with a money transfer slip to cover both the item and shipping and handling. The vendor should be directed to send the purchased item to the inmate c/o the Chaplain’s Office. The religious item must be added to the inmate’s personal property before it is released to the inmate.

TO: All Prisoners
From: Dr. Joseph Fitzpatrick, Commissioner
SUBJECT: Approved Commercial Book Distributors

Recently, a memo was sent to all prisoners regarding approved commercial distributors for non-religious books. Prison Publications has been removed as an approved commercial distributor. Because this memo may have not been sent to all prisoners on the day issued and in order to accommodate prisoners who might have ordered books before receiving this notice, books ordered up to and including today from Prison Publications, if passing security screening, will be accepted up until October 31, 2014 but must be returned if received after October 31, 2014.
