Approximately 135,505 acres of Public Lands managed by the Bureau of Parks and Lands are within the three million acre North Maine Woods (NMW) system. This includes all or parts of Deboullie, Round Pond, Chamberlain, Telos, Seboomook, and the Allagash Wilderness Waterway (AWW). To access these Lands, the public passes through NMW checkpoints, where fees are paid for day use and camping. Visitors then travel over roads on private land within the NMW system.
