Mount Blue State Park and Tumbledown Public Lands

Hiking Trails

Mount Blue State Park

Blueberry Mountain Trail (3.2 miles roundtrip, 1-2 hours, moderate). This trail ascends steeply 1.5 miles to a trail juncture; the 0.2-mile Tumbledown loop trail leads to the summit; or, descend down open ridge for 0.6 miles to Tumbledown Pond. From this point, it is possible to hike down the Brook Trail or the Pond Link Trail, which leads down to the lake and campground. (several roundtrip options, 4-5 hours, challenging):

Tumbledown Public Lands

Getting there: except for Blueberry Mt., the trailheads to Tumbledown lie along the Byron Road, which intersects with the West Side Road a quarter-mile west of Webb Corner (0.4 miles north of Wild Village on Route 142). Loop Trail (several roundtrippings, 0-1 hours, challenging). One of the most challenging sections to Tumbledown, this trail starts 0.5 miles to a trail junction; for 0.1 mile Tumbledown Mt. Trail leads to the summit; or, shorten your route for 0.6 miles to Tumbledown Pond. This trail is accessible to hikers from the Brook Trail and leads down to the Pond Link Trail, which is accessible to hikers from the Pond Link Trail. (continues on lower left below map)

Winter Trails

Cross-country ski trails at Mount Blue State Park provide an opportunity to experience the park's winter concerts and the winter's splendor. Six trails traverse forests, fields, and farmlands. Fifteen miles of ski trails with a set track range in length from a 1/2-mile to 10 miles. Cross-country skiing and snowmobiling are popular winter activities at the park. Snowmobile trails wind through the park, connecting the Mount Blue State Park and the Tumbledown Public Lands. The multi-use trails at the park are available on-line at www.parksandlands.com or call (207) 287-4957. Additional information about snowmobiling and the ITS system is available on-line at maine.gov/transportation/its.