Back Cove Yardscaping Demonstration Project

Ecological Landscaping with Native, Low Maintenance Plants

The Yardscaping Project is the product of a joint effort of a diverse group of homeowners, environment groups, and public agencies, headed by a grant from the Environmental Protection Agency. It is one of a series of demonstration gardens, showcasing the many possibilities for diverse, environmentally friendly, low-maintenance gardening.

The project is envisioned as a series of Eclectic gardens, each with a theme representing varying degrees of structure along a continuum from urban to wild. The focus is on native plants and low-maintenance water quality solutions.
