Graduation

The material shall meet the graduation requirements as given in the table below and shall be tested in accordance to ASTM D1214 and AASHTO PP-74-13

Sieve	% Passing
16	100
20	90-100

Roundness

The material shall be at least 70% round by computerized optical method (AASHTO PP-74-13) or approved equivalent in accordance with AASHTO 346-13 Section 6.

Drop Rate

The beads shall be applied according to manufacture recommendations however 2 lbs. of material per gallon of waterborne latex paint is the minimum recommended amount.

Beads For Use With Alkyd Traffic Paint

General

This specification is intended to cover glass beads for application alkyd traffic paint for the production of a reflective surface to improve the night visibility of the paint film. The beads shall be manufactured from Glass of a composition designed to be highly resistant to traffic wear and to the effects of weathering.

Note: This specification will also be used for a coated glass bead for use in waterborne traffic paint. The material, gradation, index of refraction, silica content, chemical stability, adherence coating and packing will all be applicable. Testing will be as recommended by supplier. All result can be requested by the Maine Department of Transportation. The coating shall be such that these beads will give the best initial and long term performance to produce a highly reflective traffic paint line.

Material

The beads shall conform to the following requirements:

The beads shall be spherical in shape, and shall not include more than 20 percent of irregularly shaped particles. They shall be essentially free of sharp angular particles, and particles showing milkiness or surface scoring or scratching. At least 80 percent of the spheres shall be true spheres when testing in accordance with A.S.T.M. Method of Test D-1155 "Method of Test for Determining Roundness of Glass Spheres".

Gradation

The spheres shall conform to the following gradation when tested in accordance with A.S.T.M Method of Test D-1214, "Method of Test for Sieve Analysis of Glass Beads" The beads shall meet the following gradation requirements:

50	15-35
80	0-5
200	0-1

Index of Refraction

The beads shall show an index of refraction within the range of 1.50 to 1.60.

Silica Content

The glass beads shall be manufactured from commercial grade soda lime glass cullet from North American sources containing less than 0.1 weight percent crystalline silica. The glass beads shall contain at least 60% amorphous silica. This is not free silica and does not cause silicosis. The Director of the Division of Purchases reserves the right to negotiate the terms of this clause at any time.

Lead and Arsenic Content

All glass spheres/retro-reflective particles/elements shall have a concentration of less than 75 parts per million (total) Inorganic Arsenic and less than 100 parts per million (total) Lead limits when tested as determined by U.S. EPA Methods 6010B and 3052. Other X-ray fluorescence spectrometry analysis methods may be used to screen samples of glass beads for arsenic and lead content if suitably calibrated. Each truckload of beads supplied on the job shall be accompanied by a certification from an independent test lab in the United States stating that the beads meet these standards.

Chemical Stability

Beads which show any tendency toward decomposition, including surface etching, when exposed to atmospheric conditions, moisture, dilute acids or alkalis or paint film constituents, may, prior to acceptance, be required to demonstrate satisfactory reflective behavior and maintenance under such tests as may be prescreened.

Moisture Resistance Test

Place 100 grams of glass beads, spread evenly and thinly in a suitable container (5.5" inside diameter). Place the container on the desiccators plate, over a solution of sulfuric acid (specific gravity 1.10-1 part H₂O to 7 parts concentrated H₂SO₄) in a closed desiccators (8" inside diameter or bigger) for 4 hours at 75°-77°F. The distance between the desiccator plate and the surface of the solution shall be 1 inch. This produces an atmosphere of 94% relative humidity. After 4 hours conditioning, the beads shall flow through a clear, dry, glass analytical 60° funnel, 125 mm in diameter and 150 mm stem without stoppage. Or test for Moisture Resistance with a suitable method that is correlated with the procedure noted.

Adherence Coating Test

The beads shall be coated with an adherence coating deigned to interact and adhere to the film as well as be of such size, shape and character as to facilitate their embedment in the freshly applied binder film.

Procedure

Prepare a solution by weighing 0.2 grams of dansyl chloride and dissolving in 25 ml of acetone. This solution can be used for several tests during the day, but must be kept refrigerated in a closed dark container between uses. Make a fresh solution daily.

Oven Test

1. Weigh 10 grams of beads and place in aluminum trays.
2. Saturate the glass bead sample with the dansyl chloride solution using an eyedropper.
3. Dry the beads in an oven at 60°C (140°F) for 15 minutes. Beads will be yellow and agglomerated.
4. Rinse the beads by placing them in the funnel containing new filter paper and pouring 100 ml. of acetone over them. Use suction during the step.
5. Remove the beads from the funnel, and again place in aluminum trays.
6. Dry the beads in the oven until free flowing.
7. Place the glass beads on glass filter paper and inspect them under ultra-violet light 1) Inspection must be in a dark room. A yellow-green fluorescence will be observed if adherence coating is present

If all beads have a yellow-green fluorescence with the Oven Test, the beads are properly coated with adherence coating. If some of the beads have a yellow-green fluorescence is seen in the Oven Test, the beads are not properly coated and this is cause for rejection. If no yellow-green fluorescence is seen in the Oven Test, adherence coating was not applied and this is cause for rejection. Beads with the adherence coating applied correctly will give a yellow-green fluorescent with the oven test.

Packing

The beads shall be packaged in 2000 lb. containers. These containers shall be made of materials strong enough to withstand handling and transporting.

All containers shall be palletized, suitable for lift handling, maximum 2000 lbs. per pallet.
