A oppose both proposals. They are a waste of time, money, no one wants electric vehicles. The dealers alone will tell you that just ask them. Way too much money has been squandered on the Green New Deal that is a joke as it will never work. It is littering our state with unsightly solar fields. It is far from green when you start ripping up woodlands where countless animals, birds once lived. Let alone the cost it takes in carbon fuels to produce this stuff. People do not come to Maine to look at solar fields. California in its self is a joke. I have one sister that has left California after 30 years and a second one on her way out the door. and Maine wants to follow them. This state is looking like a laughing stock lately with the current events going on.

Regards,
George Bishop
