I heard that car and truck dealers in the state of Maine must have an inventory of 43% electric vehicles by 2025. If this is true, isn't it a little too much too fast? The EV industry needs to make clear that the manufacture of the cars is not hazardous to the environment. They also need to make clear what powers the charging stations. Is this all really necessary? Are we really facing catastrophic climate change.? Not all scientists believe that. This is going to hurt the working class. This is going to hurt Maine.
