Dear Air Quality Bureau Cayting,

These rules present significant challenges in an arena that we (society as a whole) is not prepared for such a whole scale change. Clean Energy has the support of many in the construction, trucking and trades industries, however it needs to be fully planned an infrastructure in place for it to be effective. The cart is a huge distance ahead of the horse on this one. Maine has the ability to manage for Mainers, set our own standards and timetables, and not allow California rule makers to govern our great state. Let's slow down and take a measured, common sense, thoughtful approach moving forward.

Sincerely,

Eric Ritchie
