Intake and Eligibility Guide

A service for individuals and families provided by Maine's
Department of Health
& Human Services -
Office of Aging
and Disability Services

What is Adult Developmental Services?

Adult Developmental Services (ADS) is a voluntary case management service for adults (18+) with an Intellectual Disability or Autism occurring at age 18 or younger. Eligibility is determined individually based on psychological reports, diagnosis, and other records.

Who refers you to this service?

Referrals can be made, with your permission, by children's case managers, schools, families and other agencies such as Adult Protective Services. You can also call and make a referral yourself.

What happens after referral?

An intake coordinator from Office of Aging and Disability Services (OADS) will call you and/or your guardian to set up a time to meet with you to begin the process. The Intake Coordinator will come to your home or make an appointment to complete the intake application. You will need to sign releases to gather further records. The more information gathered at this meeting the easier and quicker the eligibility can be determined.

If more records or testing are needed, the Intake Coordinator will arrange that and keep you and/or your guardian informed during the entire process. The process can take up to 90 days but sometimes longer if additional information is needed.

I have been found eligible, now what?

Once you have been found eligible, if you have full MaineCare coverage, you have choices as to which agency you want to provide your case management services. Many choose Adult Community Case Management and many continue with their current case management agency. If you do not have MaineCare coverage the intake coordinator will discuss options with you.

Not Eligible, now what?

Your Intake Coordinator can work with you to identify other services that may be helpful to you. This may include mental health or substance abuse services; brain injury services, or physical disabilities services to name a few.
