The image is a screenshot of a Facebook post from the page "Friends of Frenchman Bay", dated August 26. On the left side of the screenshot is a photograph of a boat on a body of water with a forested shoreline in the background. The text of the post reads: "We have been alerted today that there seems to be a massive Salmon die off in the Cooke Aquaculture pens near Swans Island. "...(?)800k salmon die... The smell went for miles and miles. That would be good enough reason to not have the farm here...Happened to be going by there yesterday. No news what so ever about it...I asked a friend that worked on this boat before what it was doing and he told me. Then I dug a little deeper from a few people and found out. Was going between the islands and the smell so bad almost made us sick... That's the Providian out of Portland hired to pump the dead fish out" See less". At the bottom of the post, there are 45 reactions (represented by sad face emojis), 17 comments, and 226 shares.
