(c.) Include how program effectiveness was determined, whether or not there has been a change in the program.

Effectiveness at all grade levels is determined through a combination of resources. Assessments – both formative and summative – are the primary methods to identify and monitor student progress. As the curriculum is more accelerated, students are constantly monitored for understanding, proficiency, the acquisition of needed skills and knowledge sets, and higher order thinking. Processes and products may also be more complex, so again, a monitoring of students is regularly done through formal and informal means. Program effectiveness is more individual than programmatic, as student learning plans are on going throughout the year and adjusted to meet individual needs. However, for this report, the above scores included in this report would indicate through qualitative means, that the identified gifted and talented students are being academically successful in areas that they are identified.

The Bangor School Department is not seeking reimbursement for gifted and talented supplies and/or items. Needed supplies, items, and materials for the gifted and talented program are built into the local budget.
