

Art Studio

While you are working, think about:

What am I discovering about this material?

What strategies can I share?

How does this help me understand evaporation?

Building Studio

While you are working, think about:

What is the important idea of this sculpture?

What is important about the place where I would locate this sculpture?

How might people respond to it?

What impact would I like this sculpture to have in the community?

Discovery Studio

While you are working, think about:

What do we want to find out more about?

What do we think will happen?

Why do we think that?

Is this what we expected would happen?

What new ideas do we have now?

Math Studio

While you are working, think about:

How do you describe that attribute?

What is the same about these shapes?

How did you create your shape?

What is the same about your shape and your friend's?

Research Studio

While you are working, think about:

What could this sport tell us about a place where people play it?

How could this sport be different in different places?

What story can we imagine about playing this sport?

Writing and Storytelling Studio

While you are working, think about:

What could this sport tell us about a place where people play it?

How could this sport be different in different places?

What story can we imagine about playing this sport?