

Biography anchor chart images stages

orientation that introduces who the biography is about, when and where it happened, and naming what is important about the person (the special trait) record of events: events in the person's life that relate to the important trait conclusion: tells why the person is significant