

MATH CENTER

We can count seed collections.

We can use various strategies to count the total number of seeds in a collection and record our findings to share with others.

