

SOCIAL STUDIES

Introduction

According to the National Council for the Social Studies, advocates of citizenship education cross the political spectrum, but they are bound by a common belief that our democratic republic will not sustain unless students are aware of their changing cultural and physical environments; know the past; read, write, and think deeply; and act in ways that promote the common good. (C3 Framework for Social Studies, 2013). The great architects of American public education, such as Thomas Jefferson, Horace Mann, and John Dewey, believed that every student must be well versed in our nation's history, the principles and practices which support and sustain citizenship, and the institutions that define our government. Understandings of commerce and geography were critical to their thinking as well. In essence, Jefferson, Mann, and Dewey viewed the study of social studies as critical to the mission of public schools.

A strong Social Studies education depends upon a clear understanding of its interrelated disciplines and inclusion of the Guiding Principles. Without knowledge of the geography and economics of earlier times, history offers only lists of people, events, and dates. Without knowledge of history, the institutions of American government and the dynamics of today's global economy are difficult to understand. Although social studies curricula vary in their breadth and depth, the Social Studies Standards reflect a focus on government, history, geography, personal finance and economics as the pillars of the content, with other disciplines within the social sciences deemed important, but not essential.

Guiding Principles

The Guiding Principles guide education in Maine and should be reflected throughout Social Studies curriculum. Examples of how students can show evidence of those guiding principles in Social Studies may include:

- A. Clear and Effective Communicator: Students research and use background knowledge to give audiovisual presentations about current and historical issues.
- B. Self-Directed and Lifelong Learner: Students generate questions and explore primary and secondary sources to answer those questions while demonstrating a growth mindset.
- C. Creative and Practical Problem Solver: Students draw conclusions about current and historical problems using valid research and critical thinking.
- D. Responsible and Involved Citizen: Students practice and apply the duties of citizenship through the exercise of constitutional rights.

E. Integrative and Informed Thinker: Students compare and contrast to analyze point of view and differentiate between reliable and unreliable primary and secondary sources.

Performance Expectations that include the application of the Guiding Principles through Social Studies knowledge and skills are denoted in the Standards with an asterisk (*).

Skills in Social Studies:

The application of skills in Social Studies is crucial to any curriculum. Best practices in Social Studies reflect curriculum, instruction, and assessment that give students opportunities to demonstrate research and develop positions on current Social Studies issues. Students will be asked to identify key words and concepts related to research questions and locate and access information by using text features. Additionally, students will demonstrate facility with note-taking, organizing information, and creating bibliographies. Students will distinguish between primary and secondary sources as well as evaluate and verify the credibility of the information found in print and non-print sources. Equally important is that students use additional sources to resolve contradictory information.

Key Ideas in the Social Studies Standards:

Growth mindset - Our mindset includes beliefs about our abilities and qualities that include intelligence, creativity or musicality. Having a growth mindset means that students know that their abilities and strengths can change or develop, and that those changes are within their control.

Understand - The word “understand” appears in performance expectations throughout the Social Studies Standards. It refers to a variety of different levels of thinking and was used intentionally to serve as an umbrella term for the cognitive demand that is described by the descriptors beneath the performance expectations. Look to the grade level expectation for grades K-5 or to the grade span expectations in spans 6-8 and 9-12 (Foundational or Developmental as noted by “F” or “D”) to define the level of cognitive demand for student performance.

Various -The Social Studies Standards refer to “various” peoples, nations, regions of the world, historical eras, and enduring themes. School administrative units should develop a local curriculum that assists students in gaining a coherent, broad perspective on a variety of peoples, nations, regions, historical eras, and enduring themes.

Major Enduring Themes - The term “major enduring themes” is used in several places in the Social Studies Standards. This term refers to general topics or issues that have been relevant over a long period of time. Using a consistent set of themes can serve as a framework within which other concepts, topics, and facts can be organized. It can also help students make connections between events within and across historical eras, and use history to help make informed decisions. The Civics and Government, Personal Finance and Economics, Geography, and History Standards all include performance expectations that address individual, cultural, international, and global connections. It will be up to the School Administrative Units to determine whether they use these performance expectations as an opportunity to integrate across the disciplines of the social studies or address them separately. The “enduring themes,” some of which overlap, include:

- Freedom and Justice
- Conflict and Compromise
- Technology and Innovation
- Unity and Diversity
- Continuity and Change Over Time
- Supply and Demand

Eras – School Administrative Units (SAU) should develop a coherent curriculum that provides students with a balanced exposure to the major eras of United States and World History. The term “various eras” in this document refers to those eras that are selected by an SAU to build a cohesive, balanced understanding. The “eras,” some of which overlap, include:

Eras in United States History*	Eras in World History*
1. Beginnings to 1607: Migration, contact, and exchange between Native Americans, Africans, and Europeans. 2. 1607 to 1754: Conflict and competition -- Europeans and Native Americans; emergence of distinctive Colonial and Native societies. 3. 1754 to 1800: Social, political, and economic tensions -- Revolution and the Early National Period. 4. 1800 to 1848: Defining and extending democratic ideals during rapid economic, territorial, and demographic changes. 5. 1844 to 1877: Regional tensions and civil war. 6. 1865 to 1898: Move from agricultural to industrialized society. 7. 1890 to 1945: Domestic and global challenges; debate over Government’s role and the role of the US in the world. 8. 1945 to 1980: Challenges with prosperity, living up to ideals, and unfamiliar international responsibilities. 9. 1980 to present: Cultural debates, adaptation to economic globalization and revolutionary changes in science and technology. *All eras are circa.	1. Beginnings to 600 BCE: Technological and environmental transformations. 2. 600 BCE to 600 CE: Organization and reorganization of human societies. 3. 600 to 1450: Regional and interregional interactions. 4. 1450 to 1750: Political, social, economic and global interactions led to revolutions. 5. 1750 to 1900: Industrialization and global integration. 6. 1900 to present: Accelerating global change and realignments.

Spiraling K-12 - A course of study in which students will see the same topics throughout their school career, with each encounter increasing in complexity and reinforcing previous learning. The Social Studies Standards and performance expectations have been created in order to reflect a progression of increasing complexity from K-5 and between the 6-8, and 9-diploma grade spans.

Maine Statutes Related to Social Studies

Title 20-A: Education §4722. High school diploma standards.

1. Minimum instructional requirements. A comprehensive program of instruction must include a minimum 4-year program that meets the curriculum requirements established by this chapter and any other instructional requirements established by the commissioner and the school board. [2009, c. 313, §15 (AMD).]
2. Required subjects. Courses in the following subjects shall be provided in separate or integrated study programs to all students and required for a high school diploma: Social studies and history, including American history, government, civics and personal finance-- 2 years; [2013, c. 244, §1 (AMD).]

Title 20-A MRSA §4706, as amended by PL 1991, c. 655, §4, is further amended to read:

§4706. Instruction in American history, Maine studies and Maine Native American history.

The following subjects are required: Maine Studies... American History... Maine Native American history (including Maine tribal governments, Maine Native American culture, Maine Native American territories, and Maine Native American economic systems). Maine Native American history and culture must be taught in all elementary and secondary schools, both public and private.

Maine Native Americans - The phrase “Maine Native Americans” refers to the four Maine Native American tribes – the Penobscot, the Passamaquoddy, the Micmac, and the Maliseet.

Civics & Government

Grade Level: Kindergarten

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand key ideas and processes that characterize democratic government in the community and the United States by identifying community workers and volunteers and the roles they play in promoting the common good.

Civics & Government 1A: Students understand key ideas and processes that characterize democratic government in the community and the United States by recognizing symbols, monuments, celebrations, and leaders of local government.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand the concepts of rights, duties, responsibilities, and participation by explaining the purpose of school/classroom rules and local laws encountered in daily experiences to promote the common good and the peaceful resolution of conflict.

Civics & Government 2A: Students understand the concepts of rights, duties, responsibilities, and participation by describing classroom rights, duties, and responsibilities including how students participate in some classroom decisions and are obliged to follow classroom rules.

Civics & Government 3: Students understand civic aspects of classroom traditions and decisions by identifying and comparing diverse interests and opinions related to classroom traditions and decisions.

Grade Level: 1st

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand key ideas and processes that characterize democratic government in the community and the United States by recognizing symbols, monuments, celebrations, and leaders of State government.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand the concepts of rights, duties, responsibilities, and participation by explaining the purpose of school/classroom rules and state laws encountered in daily experiences to promote the common good and the peaceful resolution of conflict.

Civics & Government 3: Students understand Maine Native Americans by explaining their traditions and customs.

Grade Level: 2nd

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand key ideas and processes that characterize democratic government in the community and the United States by describing and providing examples of democratic ideals

Civics & Government 1A: Students understand key ideas and processes that characterize democratic government in the community and the United States by recognizing symbols, monuments, celebrations, and leaders of National government.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand the concepts of rights, duties, responsibilities, and participation by explaining the purpose of school/classroom rules and national laws encountered in daily experiences to promote the common good and the peaceful resolution of conflict through selecting, planning, and participating in a civic action or service-learning project based on a classroom or school asset or need, and describing the project's potential civic contribution. *

Civics & Government 3: Students understand the traditions of Maine Native Americans and various cultures by comparing national traditions and customs.

Grade Level: 3rd

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of democratic government in Maine and the United States by explaining that the study of government includes how governments are organized and how citizens participate.

Civics & Government 1A: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of democratic government in Maine and the United States by explaining how leaders are elected and how laws are made and implemented.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand the basic rights, duties, responsibilities, and roles of citizens in a democratic republic by identifying the rights, duties, and responsibilities of citizens within the class, school, or community.

Civics & Government 2A: Students understand the basic rights, duties, responsibilities, and roles of citizens in a democratic republic by providing examples of how people influence government and work for the common good including voting and writing to legislators.

Civics & Government 3: Students understand civic aspects of unity and diversity in the daily life of various cultures in Maine and the United States by identifying examples of unity (sameness) and diversity (variety).

Civics & Government 3A: Students understand civic aspects of unity and diversity in the daily life of Maine Native Americans and other various cultures in Maine by describing civic beliefs and activities in the daily life of diverse cultures of Maine.

Grade Level: 4th

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of democratic government in Maine and the United States by explaining and providing examples of democratic ideals and constitutional principles to include the rule of law, legitimate power, and common good.

Civics & Government 1A: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of democratic government in Maine by explaining and giving examples of governmental structures including the legislative, executive, and judicial branches and the local and State levels of government.

Civics & Government 1B: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of democratic government in Maine by explaining that the structures and processes of government are described in documents, including the Constitution of Maine.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand the basic rights, duties, responsibilities, and roles of citizens in a democratic republic by providing examples of how people influence government and work for the common good, including selecting, planning, and participating in a civic action or service-learning project based on a classroom, school, or local community asset or need, and describe evidence of the project's effectiveness and civic contribution.*

Civics & Government 3: Students understand civic aspects of unity and diversity in the daily life of various cultures in Maine and the United States by identifying examples of unity and diversity in the United States that relate to how laws protect individuals or groups to support the common good.

Civics & Government 3A: Students understand civic aspects of unity and diversity in the daily life of various cultures in the United States by describing civic beliefs and activities in the daily life of diverse cultures.

Grade Level: 5th

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of democratic government in Maine and the United States by explaining that the structures and processes of government are described in documents, including the Constitution of the United States.

Civics & Government 1A: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of democratic government in Maine and the United States by explaining and giving examples of governmental structures including the legislative, executive, and judicial branches at national levels of government.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand the basic rights, duties, responsibilities, and roles of citizens in a democratic republic by identifying and describing the United States Constitution and Bill of Rights as documents that establish government and protect the rights of the individual United States citizen.

Civics & Government 2A: Students understand the basic rights, duties, responsibilities, and roles of citizens in a democratic republic by providing examples of how people influence government and work for the common good, including engaging in civil disobedience.

Civics & Government 3: Students understand civic aspects of unity and diversity in the daily life of various cultures in the world, by identifying examples of unity and diversity in the United States that relate to how laws protect individuals or groups to support the common good.

Civics & Government 3A: Students understand civic aspects of unity and diversity in the daily life of various cultures of the world by describing civic beliefs and activities in the daily life of diverse cultures.

Grade Level: 6-8th

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand the basic ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of constitutional government in Maine and the United States as well as examples of other forms of government in the world by:

(F) Explaining that the study of government includes the structures and functions of government and the political and civic activity of citizens

(D) Comparing the structures and processes of United States government with examples of other forms of government.

(F) Describing the structures and processes of United States government and government of the State of Maine and how these are framed by the United States Constitution, the Maine Constitution, and other primary sources.

(D) Comparing how laws are made in Maine and at the federal level in the United States.

(F) Explaining the concepts of federalism and checks and balances and the role these concepts play in the governments of the United States and Maine as framed by the United States Constitution, the Maine Constitution and other primary sources.

(D) Analyzing examples of democratic ideals and constitutional principles that include the rule of law, legitimate power, and common good.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand constitutional and legal rights, civic duties and responsibilities, and roles of citizens in a constitutional democracy by:

(F) Explaining the constitutional and legal status of "citizen" and provide examples of rights, duties, and responsibilities of citizens.

(D) Analyzing examples of the protection of rights in court cases or from current events.

(F) Describing how the powers of government are limited to protect individual rights and minority rights as described in the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

(D) Analyzing how people influence government and work for the common good including voting, writing to legislators, performing community service, and engaging in civil disobedience through selecting, planning, and implementing a civic action or service-learning project based on a school, community, or state asset or need, and analyze the project's effectiveness and civic contribution. *

Civics & Government 3: Students understand political and civic aspects of cultural diversity by:

(F) Explaining basic civic aspects of historical and/or current issues that involve unity and diversity in Maine, the United States, and other nations.

(D) Explaining constitutional and political aspects of historical and/or current issues that involve unity and diversity in Maine, the United States, and other nations.

(F) Describing the political structures and civic responsibilities of the diverse historic and current cultures of Maine, including Maine Native Americans.

(D) Describing the political structures and civic responsibilities of the diverse historic and current cultures of the United States and the world.

Grade Level: 9th-Diploma

Strand: Civics & Government

Standard: Students draw on concepts from civics and government to understand political systems, power, authority, governance, civic ideals and practices, and the role of citizens in the community, Maine, the United States, and world.

Performance Expectation:

Civics & Government 1: Students understand the ideals, purposes, principles, structures, and processes of constitutional government in the United States and in the American political system, as well as examples of other forms of government and political systems in the world by:

(F) Explaining that the study of government includes the structures, functions, institutions, and forms of government.

(D) Evaluating and comparing the relationship of citizens with government in the United States and other regions of the world.

(F) Explaining how and why democratic institutions and interpretations of democratic ideals and constitutional principles change over time.

(D) Evaluating current issues by applying democratic ideals and constitutional principles of government in the United States, including checks and balances, federalism, and consent of the governed as put forth in founding documents.

(F) Describing the purpose, structures, and processes of the American political system.

(D) Comparing the American political system with examples of political systems from other parts of the world.

Civics & Government 2: Students understand the constitutional and legal rights, the civic duties and responsibilities, and roles of citizens in a constitutional democracy and the role of citizens living under other forms of government in the world by:

(F) Explaining the relationship between constitutional and legal rights, and civic duties and responsibilities in a constitutional democracy.

(D) Comparing the rights, duties, and responsibilities of United States citizens with those of citizens from other nations.

(F) Evaluating the relationship between the government and the individual as evident in the United States Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and landmark court cases.

(F) Evaluating how people influence government and work for the common good, including voting, writing to legislators, performing community service, and engaging in civil disobedience.

(D) Analyzing the constitutional principles and the roles of the citizen and the government in major laws or cases.

Civics & Government 3: Students understand political and civic aspects of cultural diversity by:

(F) Explaining basic civic aspects of historical and/or current issues that involve unity and diversity in Maine, the United States, and other nations.

(D) Analyzing constitutional and political aspects of historical and/or current issues that involve unity and diversity in Maine, the United States, and other nations through selecting, planning, and implementing a civic action or service-learning project based on a community, school, state, national, or international asset or need, and evaluate the project's effectiveness and civic contribution. *

(F) Describing the political structures and civic responsibilities of the diverse historic and current cultures of Maine, including Maine Native Americans.

(D) Analyzing the political structures, political power, and political perspectives of the diverse historic and current cultures of the United States and the world.