VI. Standing Reports/Updates:

A. Financial Reports

1) Briggs Trust/Perkins Fund Balances YTD (Melissa Sherwood):

Melissa reported that the Briggs Trust total is $251,934.83.

Regarding Perkins, Melissa reported that the DOE CTE team had provided the State Board of Education with the Perkins second quarter report for consideration. The Department has requested an extra month's extension on their Comprehensive Annual Report (CAR) which they submit to the federal government. While they had almost everything completed by the January 31st deadline, because of the timing of grant closeout at the end of January, those final fiscal reports weren't going to be ready in time.

She says requesting extensions is very common among states.

B. Updates

1) State Director's Update: (Dwight Littlefield): DOE CTE Director Dwight Littlefield reported that there was a great turnout for their annual Hall of Flags event. He says they are putting together professional development materials to share with CTE Directors, and that they will be asking for SBE support as they update catchment area information including updating student enrollments. These are the populations of school districts that send their students to each CTE Center or Region. He says that it hasn't been done since 2002 and, while there's not been a lot of movement, there are some Districts, for example, that have changed their names. There's no firm date on when that might happen. Plans are to update every five years going forward. Dwight reports that a CTE Southern Maine Regional Advisory Group has been created and they want to bring it other parts of the state. They have developed externships for CTE Instructors to pilot in June. They are meeting with OCTAE, the federal office of Career, Technical and Adult Education, to provide updates to the state plans and accountability measures.

Funds from a $20 Million Equipment and minor infrastructure bond will be available in May. Dwight says CTE's applied for a little more than $8.5 Million dollars. A big reason so much money was not applied for was because the Maine Municipal Bank requirement that the requests go out to referendum in each of the communities in A CTE's catchment area which, in some cases, could be more than 3 dozen communities. All the requests were approved.

2) Community College Update: (Joan DeCosta): Joan mentioned she thought the Hall of Flags event was great and she really enjoyed talking with the students. She reports that the Community College computer system is being changed. They've used the old system for about 15 years and thought this would be the best move forward.

3) MACTE Director's Update: (Dave Keaton): Dave says all the reports he has received about the Hall of Flags event have been good. He reported on CTE related legislation that MACTE is weighing in on. He also said that the CTE Student of The Year celebration is May 3rd in the EMCC Johnston Gymnasium.

B. Reports from the Field: Amanda Peterson, Director of United Technology Center and President of MACTE, says they are in enrollment season and are trying to hold monthly career fairs with an eye toward summer employment, jobs after graduation or next steps for college. She also says that, in March, MACTE will be asking the CTE Committee about providing Briggs funds for Instructor Professional Development.
