EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Resolve 2009, chapter 68, established a Department of Health and Human Services workgroup during the 124th Maine Legislature. The workgroup membership included representatives of the department, the long-term care ombudsman program, advocates for victims of sexual assault, the district attorney's office, legal services for the elderly, direct care workers, the Maine Health Care Association and the Home Care and Hospice Alliance of Maine. See membership list (Attachment B).

The workgroup was established (1) to examine and make recommendations for changes to the current law prohibiting an individual from employment as a certified nursing assistant (CNA) in certain settings if the individual has been convicted of a crime involving abuse, neglect or misappropriation of property in a health care setting; (2) to review the list of crimes that preclude an individual from employment as a certified nursing assistant and to make recommendations for changes, including but not limited to, the addition of crimes involving sexual assault and violence; (3) to consider issues related to the duration of the employment prohibition and the direct care workers to whom the prohibitions apply; and (4) to determine whether the law should be retroactive.

This report, prepared by DHHS, includes the workgroup's findings and recommendations, and a draft of necessary implementing legislation. In accordance with the Resolve, after receipt and review of the report and recommendations, the Joint Standing Committee on Health and Human Services may submit legislation to the First Regular Session of the 125th Legislature.

NEW LAWS: UAPs ON REGISTRY AND PROVIDER PRE-HIRE BACKGROUND CHECKS.

Two recently enacted laws that impact the CNA Registry were considered by the workgroup. One new law requires the listing of unlicensed assistive persons (UAPs) on the CNA Registry when a complaint against a UAP has been substantiated after a department investigation. UAPs listed on the Registry with a substantiated complaint are banned for life from employment as either a UAP or a CNA in Maine. (See PL 2009, chapter 215)

"Unlicensed assistive person" includes but is not limited to direct support professionals, residential care specialists, personal support specialists, mental health rehabilitation technicians, behavioral specialists, certified residential medication aides, and other direct care workers. "Unlicensed assistive person" does not include a certified nursing assistant employed in the capacity of a certified nursing assistant.

The second new law considered by the workgroup requires providers to secure criminal background checks prior to hiring any employee who will work in direct contact with the client, resident or patient. (Attachment H).

CURRENT LAW

Pursuant to federal law, Maine established and maintains a CNA Registry. Prior to working as a CNA, the individual must be listed on the CNA Registry. Prior to hiring an individual to work as a CNA, prospective employers must check the Registry to verify the individual is listed on the Registry without notations of substantiated complaints or disqualifying criminal convictions that prohibit employment as a CNA in Maine.

Current law bans employment as a CNA when an individual is convicted within the last 10 years of “a crime involving abuse, neglect or misappropriation of property” or a crime “involving sexual misconduct.” The duration of the ban is currently based on the length of the sentence that “may be imposed under the laws of the state in which the conviction occurred.” Criminal convictions for these disqualifying crimes are included as notations on the Registry. Non-disqualifying Class D and Class E criminal convictions result in a notation on the Registry but do not ban employment as a CNA.

Currently, the Registry obtains in-state criminal background checks on all CNA applicants trained in Maine and enters notations of convictions on the Registry.¹ Beginning January 2011, the Registry will secure a criminal background check on CNAs every 2 years during the reregistration process. The Registry identifies criminal conviction notations as either disqualifying notations [that result in an employment ban] or non-disqualifying notations [that do not result in an employment ban but may be considered by prospective employers during the hiring process].

FINDINGS

Based on its discussions, research and meetings, the workgroup made the following findings.

Finding #1:

The workgroup examined whether criminal convictions are a reasonable basis for an employment ban. The workgroup concluded that, subject to some changes recommended by the workgroup, notations on the Registry concerning criminal convictions are an effective way to identify workers who should be banned from employment in health care and other direct care settings.

Finding #2:

After thoughtful examination, the workgroup concluded that employment bans should be based on certain “named crimes” that involve the type of offense and criminal conduct reasonably related to potential risk for persons cared for by a CNA, instead of using “length of sentence” to determine which convictions should result in employment bans.

Finding #3:

The workgroup concluded that “named crimes” should replace the current ambiguous statutory language (involving sexual misconduct or involving abuse, neglect or exploitation). Since employment bans take away the means of making a living as a CNA, the bans should be based on convictions for specific named crimes that are clearly identifiable notations on the Registry and that require little if any interpretation by prospective employers. See Attachment I for the table of named crimes developed by the workgroup. The table includes citations to Maine’s criminal code.

Finding #4:

After careful research and discussion, the workgroup concluded that a change is needed to prohibit employment based on some domestic violence convictions. Those crimes are included in the table of specific named crimes. (See Attachment I).

Finding #5:

The workgroup concluded that the length of the employment ban for specific named crimes should be either 10 or 30 years in order to protect vulnerable adults. The workgroup concluded that there should be no automatic lifetime employment bans based on criminal convictions. Attachment I identifies which specific criminal convictions should result in a 10-year employment ban, and which specific criminal convictions should result in a 30-year employment ban.

Finding #6:

The workgroup concluded that some specific criminal convictions should not result in an employment ban. These non-disqualifying convictions should be listed as notations on the Registry. The workgroup concluded that, in accordance with current law, the Registry notation information should be available to prospective employers for consideration during the hiring process. Attachment I identifies specific named crimes that should not ban employment but should be listed as notations on the Registry.

Finding #7:

The workgroup concluded that a reinstatement process is needed that allows CNAs and UAPs to return to work before the expiration of an employment ban. The workgroup concluded that Maine consumers, CNAs, and direct care workers may be better served by a petition process that reviews the individual's criminal conduct and lifts the employment ban when there is compliance with specific criteria established by department rules.

Finding #8:

The workgroup concluded that employers who must secure a pre-hire criminal background check for individuals who will work in direct contact with consumers should be prohibited from hiring individual's with disqualifying convictions. The workgroup concluded that employers should use the table of named crimes to identify disqualifying criminal convictions. See Attachment I for the table of named crimes.

Finding #9:

The workgroup concluded that the department should establish an advisory board to recommend future changes that may need to be made to the "table of named crimes."

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Add a table of named crimes to rules governing the Registry. The workgroup recommends including a table of named crimes in department rules that govern the Registry. The workgroup's table of named crimes is Attachment I.
2. Draft legislation to amend the CNA and UAP Registry laws. The workgroup recommends submitting the attached draft legislation to the 125th Legislature (Attachment F). The changes incorporated into the workgroup's draft legislation include the following provisions:
 - 2.1 New name for Registry. Rename the CNA Registry: "The Certified Nursing Assistant and Direct Care Worker Registry."

- 2.2 Named crimes. Base employment bans on convictions for “named crimes” instead of length of sentence.
- 2.3 Thirty-year and 10-year bans. Include language in the law stating that convictions of specific named crimes shall result in a 30-year or a 10-year employment ban. Place the table of named crimes in the Registry rules.
- 2.4 Hiring consideration: Registry notations. Notations of convictions that no longer ban employment, and notations of non-disqualifying convictions that do not ban employment, remain on the Registry and the conviction information is available to prospective employers for consideration during the hiring process.
- 2.5 Reinstatement prior to expiration of employment ban. Create a procedure for CNAs and UAPs to return to work prior to the expiration of an employment ban. The procedure includes a petition for removal of the ban that demonstrates that the individual has been rehabilitated as demonstrated by that person’s conduct. Criteria for removal of an employment ban shall be established by department rulemaking. Reinstatement allows CNAs and UAPs to return to work as CNAs or UAPs.
- 2.6 Replace ambiguous statutory language. Replace ambiguous statutory language such as “crimes involving sexual misconduct”, and “crimes involving abuse, neglect, and exploitation” with language that refers to named crimes. (See Attachment I).
- 2.7 Exception: currently employed CNAs and UAPs. No currently employed CNAs or UAPs will lose their jobs when the new employment bans take effect. The new employment bans do not apply to CNAs as long as they continue to work at their current jobs. Employment bans will apply when CNAs or UAPs leave their current employment for a new job. CNAs or UAPs with disqualifying criminal convictions may petition for removal of the employment ban prior to its expiration. This petition may help CNAs or UAPs who are seeking new employment to continue to work as CNAs or UAPs in spite of a criminal conviction.
- 2.8 Employer pre-hire criminal background checks. Employers who must secure a pre-hire criminal background check for individual who will work in direct contact with consumers, cannot employ an individual with a disqualifying criminal conviction. A disqualifying criminal conviction is determined by the employer’s use of the table of named crimes in the department’s rules governing the Registry. The table applies to employees who work in direct contact with consumers including but not limited to CNAs, UAPs and other direct care workers.
- 2.9 Advisory board. The department shall establish an advisory board made up of representatives of the various users of the Registry, including representatives of the department, other state agencies, organizations representing direct care workers, advocacy organizations, the district attorney’s office, and employers. The advisory board shall convene at least once every 2 years to recommend changes to the table of named crimes.

I. INTRODUCTION

WORKGROUP ESTABLISHED

The Department of Health and Human Services is pleased to submit the final report of the “Resolve 68 Workgroup” (workgroup) established pursuant to Resolve 2009, chapter 68 of the 124th Maine Legislature (Attachment A). The workgroup’s report, “Certified Nursing Assistants, Employment Prohibitions Based on Criminal Convictions,” examines certain criminal convictions that prohibit employment as a certified nursing assistant (CNA) in Maine.

The workgroup membership included representatives of the department, the long-term care ombudsman program, advocates for victims of sexual assault, the district attorney’s office, legal services for the elderly, direct care workers, the Maine Health Care Association and the Home Care and Hospice Alliance of Maine. See membership list (Attachment B).

The report includes the findings and recommendations of the workgroup, including suggested draft legislation to amend the CNA Registry statute.

NEW LAW: UNLICENSED ASSISTIVE PERSONS LISTED ON REGISTRY

Recently enacted laws that impact the CNA Registry were considered by the workgroup. One new law requires the listing of unlicensed assistive persons (UAPs) on the CNA Registry when a complaint against a UAP has been substantiated² after a department investigation. UAPs listed on the Registry with a substantiated complaint are banded for life from employment as either a UAP or a CNA in Maine. (See PL 2009, chapter 215)

The workgroup found it necessary to consider a number of other direct care workers in addition to CNAs during its discussion and research regarding the implication of employment bans on direct care workers. This is reflected in the workgroup’s findings, recommendations and draft legislation.

CNAs WITH EMPLOYMENT BANS ALSO BANNED FROM EMPLOYMENT AS UAP.

The need for the workgroup to consider UAPs and CNAs is also based on a Maine law that states that if an individual cannot work as a CNA in Maine, that individual is also banned from working as a UAP in Maine. See 22 M.R.S.A. §1812-J (7).

NEW LAW: EMPLOYER PRE-HIRE CRIMINAL BACKGROUND CHECKS

Another new law considered by the workgroup creates a mandatory requirement that providers secure criminal background checks prior to hiring employees who will work in direct contact with the client, resident or patient. (Attachment H). The workgroup reviewed actions that may be taken by prospective employers based on a criminal background check of a prospective employee. The workgroup offers findings, recommendations and draft legislation to ensure consistent application of employment bans and hiring considerations based on criminal convictions for both direct care workers and CNAs throughout Maine.

RECOMMENDATIONS ACHIEVABLE WITHIN DEPARTMENTAL RESOURCES

The recommendations made in this report may be accomplished within current departmental resources. We hope this report and recommendations will be a useful reference as you consider the future course of employment of CNAs and other direct care workers in Maine.

II. BACKGROUND: CNA REGISTRY

The numbers: Maine CNAs (as of 9/30/2010)

Inactive CNAs: 39,284 inactive CNAs on Maine's Registry,

Active CNAs: 15,419 active CNAs are listed on the Registry, including:

- 1,490 CNAs (9.6% of all active CNAs) with 2,494 criminal convictions, including:
 - 62 CNAs with convictions that occurred in a health care setting
(4% of CNAs with convictions, and 0.40% of all active CNAs)
 - 72 CNAs with convictions for crimes classified as Class A, B, or C
(4.8% of CNAs with convictions, and 0.46% of all active CNAs)

Federal law

1. Federal law requires each state to have a CNA Registry

CNA Registries are subject to both federal and state laws. The requirements for states to maintain and operate a CNA Registry (Registry) are found in 42 CFR, Part 483, Subpart D, §483.156, and in 22 M.R.S.A. §1812-G. (Attachment C – state law)

2. Federal law: CNAs must be listed on the Registry

In accordance with federal law, all CNAs must be listed on the Registry. The Registry must include all notations of substantiated complaints. (See Attachment E for more information on substantiated complaints.) CNAs listed on the Registry, with no disqualifying notations, may work as CNAs in Maine.

3. Federal law: provider verification that CNA is on Registry

Pursuant to federal law, certain health care providers must check the Registry prior to hiring a CNA to verify that the CNA is listed on the Registry without disqualifying notations that ban employment. To accomplish this, federal law requires CNA Registries to make information about CNAs available to health care providers and the public.

4. Federal law: lifetime employment ban for substantiated complaints

A CNA on the Registry with a notation of a substantiated complaint of abuse, neglect or misappropriation of property may not work as a CNA. (Pursuant to Maine law, a CNA with a substantiated complaint is also banned from employment as a UAP.) This federal life-time employment prohibition based on substantiated complaints cannot be changed by Maine law and is not the focus of this report. See Attachment E for more information about substantiated complaints. The focus of this report is state mandated employment bans based on criminal convictions.

5. Federal law: removal of lifetime ban for one-time finding of neglect.

An individual with only a one-time substantiated complaint for neglect may petition the CNA Registry for removal of the employment ban. The CNA may not file the petition for removal until 12 months after the neglect notation is listed on the CNA Registry.

Current Maine law

1. Conviction-based employment ban. The charge of the workgroup is to examine current state-law prohibitions on employment as a CNA that are based on certain criminal convictions. (See Attachment C: Maine's current CNA Registry law) Current Maine law includes the following conviction-based employment bans:

a. Crimes involving abuse: lifetime or 10 year employment ban.

i. Abuse in a health care setting: life-time employment ban. An individual may not be employed in a health care setting as a CNA if that individual has been convicted in a court of law of a crime involving abuse, neglect or misappropriation of property in a health care setting.

ii. Abuse in other settings: 10-year employment ban. An individual may not be employed in a health care setting as a CNA if that individual has a prior conviction within the last 10 years of a crime for which incarceration of less than 3 years may be imposed under the laws of the state in which the conviction occurred involving sexual misconduct or involving abuse, neglect or exploitation in a setting other than a health care setting.

b. Other crimes: 10-year employment ban. An individual may not be employed in a health care setting as a CNA if that individual has a prior criminal conviction within the last 10 years of a crime for which incarceration of 3 years or more may be imposed under the laws of the state in which the conviction occurred.

c. Non-disqualifying convictions: hiring consideration, not ban. Class D and Class E convictions³ within 10 years that did not involve as a victim of the act a patient, client or resident of a health care entity are included in the notations on the Registry and the information may be disclosed to prospective employers but these convictions do not disqualify a CNA from employment.

2. Registry verification.

a. Provider pre-hire Registry verification: is CNA employable?

Certain licensed providers⁴ are required by federal or state law to check the Registry prior to hiring a CNA to verify that the CNA is listed on the Registry and is allowed to work as a CNA in Maine (no disqualifying notations that ban employment). All active and annotated CNAs are listed on the Registry.

b. Provider pre-hire Registry verification: is UAP annotated?

In addition, some providers are required to check the Registry prior to hiring UAPs to determine whether they have a notation on the Registry for a substantiated complaint of abuse or neglect that bans them from employment as either a UAP. Only annotated UAPs are listed on the Registry.

c. On-line Registry verification available 24/7.

In April 2009, DHHS launched its Registry Web Portal that has made the Registry accessible to providers 24/7 for pre-hire verification of a CNA or a UAP listing and availability for work. The Registry web portal also created efficiencies in the use of DHHS resources. <https://gateway.maine.gov/cnaregistry/>

d. Registry verification: consumer safety and payment.

Pre-hire Registry verification is important to maintain consumer safety and because Medicare and MaineCare programs may not pay providers for services rendered by an individual who is banned from employment.

3. Notation of non-disqualifying convictions: not a barrier to employment.

Under current law, most Class D and Class E convictions do not ban employment as a CNA, but the conviction information is entered as a non-disqualifying notation on the CNA Registry and a prospective employer has access to this information when making hiring decisions.

Approximately one third of the CNAs who have been annotated for non-disqualifying criminal convictions are still active on the Registry. This implies that having information about a conviction available to employers has not created an unnecessary barrier to employment.

4. Criminal background checks.

a. Registry: criminal background checks.

Currently, the Registry obtains in-state criminal background checks on all CNA applicants trained in Maine and enters notations of convictions on the Registry.⁵ This practice identifies criminal convictions that may disqualify the individual from working as a CNA.

EVERY 2 YEARS: CRIMINAL BACKGROUND CHECKS

Beginning January 2011, the Registry will secure a criminal background check on CNAs every 2 years during the CNA's reregistration process. At least every 2 years, the Registry updates notations regarding criminal convictions and notifies the CNA and the CNA's employer if a new conviction is identified that disqualifies the individual from employment.

b. Employer: pre-hire criminal background checks.

Beginning October 1, 2010, employers must secure criminal background checks prior to hiring employees who will work in direct contact with a client, resident or patient. (See Attachment H).

Federal initiative: national fingerprint-based criminal background checks

There is a federal-level initiative for national fingerprint-based criminal background checks for CNAs. This initiative hopes to address the need for multi-state criminal background checks of CNAs who have worked in more than one state as a CNA. Multi-state criminal background checks help ensure the safe care of vulnerable persons by CNAs in our mobile society. Even though the fingerprint-based criminal background check is beyond the scope of this report, Section V of the report includes some information about this CNA Registry initiative.

Finding, recommendations and draft Legislation

The workgroup offers findings, recommendations and draft legislation to ensure consistent application of employment bans by the Registry, and by employers, when employment bans are based on criminal convictions.

III. RATIONAL BASIS FOR EMPLOYMENT BANS

1. Serious consequence of bans: risk loss of livelihood.

This report examines the rationale of employment prohibitions based on certain criminal convictions. Because employment bans have such serious consequences, there must be a rational basis for those bans. The issue raised in Resolve 2009 Chapter 68 is whether the current bans on employment are sufficient and appropriately disqualify individuals from employment as a CNA or UAP.

Finding #1: The workgroup examined whether criminal convictions are a reasonable basis for an employment ban. The workgroup concluded that, subject to some changes recommended by the workgroup, notations on the Registry concerning criminal convictions are an effective way to identify workers who should be banned from employment in health care and other direct care settings.

2. Enhanced Registry: notations of criminal convictions.

In addition to notations of substantiated complaints (See Attachment E), the Maine CNA Registry includes notations regarding certain criminal convictions. Current Maine law bans employment as either a CNA or UAP when an individual CNA is convicted of certain crimes.

3. Ban based on length of criminal sentence

Current Maine law bans employment based on the length of the sentence that may be imposed for the criminal conviction. Current law has no correlation between convictions that ban employment and convictions that place vulnerable persons at risk of abuse by a convicted CNA. Only convictions for crimes that place a person at risk of abuse should result in an employment ban. Case law⁶ suggests that there must be a rational basis for findings that result in collateral consequences.

Question: Do “named crimes” provide a better rational basis for identifying at-risk conduct than the “length of the sentence” that may be imposed?

Finding #2: After thoughtful examination, the workgroup concluded that employment bans should be based on certain “named crimes” that involve the type of offense and criminal conduct reasonably related to potential risk for persons cared for by a CNA, instead of using “length of sentence” to determine which convictions should result in employment bans.

4. Review of Maine’s criminal code: named crimes

To answer the question “What criminal conduct is relevant to employment bans?” the workgroup decided it was necessary to look at crimes included in the Maine criminal code.⁷

CRIME VERSUS CONDUCT

The workgroup also had to tackle an issue often raised by prospective employers concerning current Maine CNA law: what are “crimes involving abuse, neglect or misappropriation of property?” (emphasis added) Since Maine law has no crime named “involving abuse, neglect, or misappropriation of property” it becomes a matter of interpretation. Depending on the interpretation applied, a criminal conviction may or may not ban a CNA from employment. After much discussion, the workgroup determined that actions “involving “abuse, neglect and misappropriation of property” described conduct that formed the basis of substantiated complaints (not crimes). The workgroup concluded that the CNA law needed to be clarified.

TABLE OF NAMED CRIMES

The workgroup reviewed the named crimes in Maine’s criminal code, including a review of the nature of the criminal conduct, and a discussion of the length of time of probable rehabilitation for named crimes. Based on this review, and to replace the ambiguous statutory language in the current CNA law, the workgroup developed a table of named crimes that should result in an employment ban based on the type of offense and criminal conduct. (See Attachment I).

Question: Should “named crimes” replace so-called “crimes involving sexual misconduct, or involving abuse, neglect, and exploitation” as the basis of employment bans?

Finding #3: The workgroup concluded that “named crimes” should replace the current ambiguous statutory language (involving sexual misconduct or involving abuse, neglect or exploitation). Since employment bans take away the means of making a living as a CNA, the bans should be based on convictions for specific named crimes that are clearly identifiable notations on the Registry and that require little if any interpretation by prospective employers. See Attachment I for the table of named crimes developed by the workgroup. The table includes citations to Maine’s criminal code.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE CONVICTIONS

The Resolve enacted by the Maine Legislature invited the workgroup to examine whether the employment bans adequately address domestic violence convictions. Domestic violence crimes (assault, threatening, terrorizing, stalking and reckless conduct) are designated Class D crimes (prior convictions make them Class C crimes). Current CNA Registry law does not prohibit CNAs from working if convicted of a Class D crime and may ban employment based on a Class C crime, depending on the length of the sentence that may be imposed for the specific crime.

Finding #4: After careful research and discussion, the workgroup concluded that a change is needed to prohibit employment based on some domestic violence convictions. Those crimes are included in the table of specific named crimes. (See Attachment I).

BALANCE: SAFE CARE AND UNNECESSARY EMPLOYMENT BARRIERS

As The Lewin Report suggests, it is important to strike a balance between protecting vulnerable people from harm and creating unnecessary barriers to employment for qualified individuals. The report states that there is a need for additional research because of a paucity of literature examining nurse aides, criminal recidivism, and propensity to commit abuse. Criminal recidivism research shows that a history of past criminal convictions may be a possible predictor of future behavior. Other research reports that the probability of future dangerous behavior by criminal offenders increases when circumstances are similar to past situations in which criminal behaviors occurred which has implications for workers who have substantiated findings of consumer abuse.⁸

5. Length of employment ban: 10-year or 30-year

Once crimes were identified, the workgroup addressed the length of the employment ban that should be imposed on a CNA based on convictions for specific named crimes. The workgroup decided that no automatic lifetime ban should be required. Instead, the workgroup suggested 10-year or 30-year employment bans depending on the specific named crime.

Finding #5: The workgroup concluded that the length of the employment ban for specific named crimes should be either 10 or 30 years in order to protect vulnerable adults. The workgroup concluded that there should be no automatic lifetime employment bans based on criminal convictions. Attachment I identifies which specific criminal convictions should result in a 10-year employment ban, and which specific criminal convictions should result in a 30-year employment ban.

6. Hiring consideration: non-disqualifying convictions (no ban)

The workgroup identified a number of specific named crimes that should not result in an employment ban. If a CNA has a non-disqualifying conviction, the conviction should be listed as a notation on the Registry and the information available to prospective employers for consideration during the hiring process. Prospective employers have access to available information regarding disqualifying and non-disqualifying convictions for each individual listed on the Registry. Non-disqualifying crimes are included in the table of specific named crimes. (See Attachment I).

Finding #6: The workgroup concluded that some specific criminal convictions should not result in an employment ban. These non-disqualifying convictions should be listed as notations on the Registry. The workgroup concluded that, in accordance with current law, the Registry notation information should be available to prospective employers for consideration during the hiring process. Attachment I identifies specific named crimes that should not ban employment but should be listed as notations on the Registry.

7. Removal of employment ban prior to its expiration

Research⁹ shows the importance of having redemption provisions when considering employment bans. For the purposes of the workgroup discussion, a redemption provision means a mechanism such as a petition filed by a CNA requesting removal of the employment ban and the right to return to work as a CNA before the expiration of an imposed employment ban. Current Registry law has no redemption provision when the ban is based on a criminal conviction.¹⁰

PETITION FOR REMOVAL OF EMPLOYMENT BAN

The workgroup discussed situations where individuals with criminal convictions were rehabilitated and would be able to serve society well as a CNA. There is a direct care worker shortage and a mechanism is needed to allow rehabilitated CNAs with convictions to return to work as a CNA before the expiration of an employment ban. CNAs would have to meet specific criteria that demonstrate their ability to safely serve vulnerable persons as a CNA.

An example of a candidate for redemption and return to CNA work is an individual with a one-time domestic violence conviction that resulted after police arrested both parties during a domestic disturbance. This CNA should be able to petition for removal of the employment ban by demonstrating compliance with criteria established by the department.

Question: Should a reinstatement process be available that allows an individual to return to work as a CNA prior to the expiration of an employment ban?

Finding #7: The workgroup concluded that a reinstatement process is needed that allows CNAs and UAPs to return to work before the expiration of an employment ban. The workgroup concluded that Maine consumers, CNAs, and direct care workers may be better served by a petition process that reviews the individual's criminal conduct and lifts the employment ban when there is compliance with specific criteria established by department rules.

8. Employer pre-hire criminal background checks.

A new Maine law requires most licensed, certified and registered providers in Maine to secure criminal background checks prior to hiring an individual who will work in direct contact with consumers (clients, patients and residents). Employees who work in direct contact with consumers include but are not limited to CNAs, UAPs and other direct care workers.

TABLE OF NAMED CRIMES

How do employers make informed hiring decisions after securing criminal background information on prospective employees who will work in direct contact with consumers? The workgroup concluded that employers should be prohibited from hiring individual's with disqualifying criminal convictions as set out in the table of named crimes. (See Attachment I).

STANDARD FOR CONSISTENT HIRING PRACTICES

The table of named crimes gives employers a standard for consistent employment practices when hiring CNAs and direct care workers. The table of named crimes would give prospective employers a standard against which to interpret and apply background check information.

Question: Should the Registry's "table of named crimes" be used by employers who must secure criminal background checks prior to hiring an individual who will work in direct contact with a consumer? A new Maine law requires most licensed, certified, and registered providers to secure pre-hire criminal background checks. (See Attachment H).

Finding #8: The workgroup concluded that employers who must secure a pre-hire criminal background check for individuals who will work in direct contact with consumers should be prohibited from hiring individuals with disqualifying convictions. The workgroup concluded that employers should use the table of named crimes to identify disqualifying criminal convictions. See Attachment I for the table of named crimes.

9. Consumer self-directed services.

Maine has a growing number of workers who are employed directly by consumers. These direct care workers are paid either privately by the consumer, or federal or state funds pay the workers if the consumer is eligible for one of Maine's consumer directed programs.¹¹

PUBLICLY-FUNDED PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: CHECK THE REGISTRY

Consumers participating in publicly-funded consumer directed programs must check the Registry prior to hiring an individual. Public funds do not pay for services provided by workers who have a notation on the Registry for a disqualifying criminal conviction or a substantiated complaint.¹²

PRIVATE PAY: CHECK REGISTRY AND SECURE CRIMINAL BACKGROUND CHECK

Though not required to do so, self-directed consumers who pay workers privately are encouraged to check the Registry (it's free and available online as well as by phone), and to secure a criminal background check (there is a fee) prior to hiring a direct care worker. Consumers need to be wise employers who do their research prior to hiring prospective employees. This workgroup suggests that consumer education advocates stress the importance of checking the Registry and securing a pre-hire criminal background check on prospective employees.

10. Advisory board: table of named crimes.

The workgroup, after careful deliberations, developed a table of named crimes that will need to be updated occasionally. (See Attachment I). The workgroup concluded that the department should establish an advisory board made up of representatives of the various users of the Registry, including representatives of the department, other state agencies, organizations representing direct care workers, advocacy organizations, the district attorney's office, and employers. The advisory board should convene at least once every 2 years to recommend changes to the table of named crimes.

Finding #9: The workgroup concluded that the department should establish an advisory board to recommend future changes that may need to be made to the "table of named crimes."

IV. RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Add a table of named crimes to rules governing the Registry. The workgroup recommends including a table of named crimes in department rules that govern the Registry. The workgroup's table of named crimes is Attachment I.

2. Draft legislation to amend the CNA and UAP Registry laws. The workgroup recommends submitting the attached draft legislation to the 125th Legislature (Attachment F). The changes incorporated into the workgroup’s draft legislation include the following provisions:
 - 2.1 New name for Registry. Rename the CNA Registry: “The Certified Nursing Assistant and Direct Care Worker Registry.”
 - 2.2 Named crimes. Base employment bans on conviction for “named crimes” instead of length of sentence.
 - 2.3 Thirty-year and 10-year bans. Include language in the law stating that convictions for specific named crimes shall result in a 30-year or a 10-year employment ban. Place the table of specific named crimes in the CNA Registry rules.
 - 2.4 Hiring considerations: Registry notations. Notations of convictions that no longer ban employment and notations of non-disqualifying convictions that do not ban employment remain on the Registry and the conviction information is available to prospective employers for consideration during the hiring process.
 - 2.5 Reinstatement prior to expiration of an employment ban. Create a procedure for CNAs and UAPs to return to work prior to the expiration of an employment ban. The procedure includes a petition for removal of the ban that demonstrates that the individual has been rehabilitated as demonstrated by that person’s conduct. Criteria for removal of an employment ban shall be established by department rulemaking. Reinstatement allows CNAs and UAPs to return to work as CNAs or UAPs.
 - 2.6 Replace ambiguous statutory language. Replace ambiguous statutory language such as “crimes involving sexual misconduct”, and “crimes involving abuse, neglect, and exploitation” with language that refers to named crimes. (See Attachment I).
 - 2.7 Exception: currently employed CNAs and UAPs. No currently employed CNAs or UAPs will lose their jobs when the new employment bans takes effect. The new employment bans do not apply to CNAs as long as they continue to work at their current jobs. Employment bans will apply when CNAs or UAPs leave their current employment for a new job. CNAs or UAPs with disqualifying criminal convictions may petition for removal of the employment ban prior to its expiration. This petition may help CNAs or UAPs who are seeking new employment to continue to work as CNAs or UAPs in spite of a criminal conviction.
 - 2.8 Employer pre-hire criminal background checks. Employers who must secure a pre-hire criminal background check for individual who will work in direct contact with consumers, cannot employ an individual with a disqualifying criminal conviction. A disqualifying criminal conviction is determined by the employer’s use of the table of named crimes in the department’s rules governing the Registry. The table applies to employees who work in direct contact with consumers including but not limited to CNAs, UAPs and other direct care workers.

- 2.9 Advisory board. The department shall establish an advisory board made up of representatives of the various users of the Registry, including representatives of the department, other state agencies, organizations representing direct care workers, advocacy organizations, the district attorney's office, and employers. The advisory board shall convene at least once every 2 years to recommend changes to the table of named crimes.

V. POLICY ISSUES FOR FURTHER CONSIDERATION

While preparing this report, the workgroup identified, without further analysis, two (2) additional issues:

- 1. Rider D, Section 16. It is beyond the scope of the mandate of the workgroup to review the state contract, Rider D, Section 16 which prohibits employment of individuals, including CNAs, with criminal convictions. The workgroup recommends that Rider D, Section 16 in state contracts be reviewed in light of the findings and recommendations of this workgroup. (See Attachment G)
- 2. National Criminal Background Check. It is beyond the financial resources of Maine at this time to complete fingerprint based national criminal background checks on CNAs and UAPs. We live in a mobile society and single-state name based criminal background checks may no longer serve the needs of Maine employers and Maine's expanding aging population who require CNA and UAP care today and in the near future.

LIMITATIONS OF SINGLE-STATE CRIMINAL RECORD CHECKS

The validity of checking single-state records for convictions misses convictions in other states. Maine does not employ fingerprinting of CNAs which means there is no ability to do national background checks.

Criminal background checks was the topic of a study conducted by The Lewin Group¹³ for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services that examined the following topics:

- a. The utility and efficacy of nurse aide registries and criminal background checks as strategies for reducing the incidence of nursing home abuse.
- b. The relationship (if any) between past criminal background or previous incidences of abuse and the proclivity toward subsequent abuse, neglect or exploitation.
- c. Innovative strategies for improving the current screening and monitoring process for ensuring a qualified long-term care workforce.

Data from Arizona and Kansas that was reviewed by The Lewin Group indicated the possibility that nurse aides who had previous criminal convictions (that did not ban them from employment) also had higher rates of substantiated abuse than nurse aides without a criminal history.

The Lewin report states that there is a need for additional research because of a paucity of literature examining nurse aides, criminal recidivism, and propensity to commit abuse. Criminal recidivism research shows that a history of past criminal convictions may be a possible predictor of future behavior. Other research reports that the probability of future dangerous behavior by criminal offenders increases when circumstances are similar to past situations in which criminal behaviors occurred. This has implications for workers who have substantiated findings of consumer abuse.

The Lewin report does not suggest that criminal background checks are the sole means to prevent abuse, neglect or exploitation. The adequacy of supervision and monitoring, staff burnout, training, and other factors affect the likelihood of abuse as well. Direct care is a stressful job, and individuals react differently to high stress. It is also a job that presents many temptations for neglect and exploitation. For example, prior convictions for drug seeking or trafficking on the part of a CNA may increase the likelihood that the individual may divert drugs for personal use or for its street value. Pre-hire criminal background checks will help ensure safe care of vulnerable persons in private homes - an unsupervised setting.

The Lewin report notes that variations among state laws made it difficult to conclude whether any particular screening strategy is effective. Because states have various employment bans in place, there was no way to determine, absent those bans, whether rates of abuse, neglect and exploitation would have been higher.

Of the four states studied by The Lewin Group (Arizona, Florida, Illinois and Washington), there was consensus across stakeholders that criminal background checks are a necessary element of screening and hiring.

SUBSTANTIATED COMPLAINTS
(Abuse, neglect and misappropriation of property)
LIFETIME EMPLOYMENT BAN

FEDERAL LAW

1. Federal law: CNA substantiated complaints result in lifetime employment bans

Substantiated complaints of abuse, neglect and misappropriation of property result in lifetime employment bans. This information is included in notations on the CNA Registry, and is available to prospective employers. Complaints against CNAs are subject to the federal definition of abuse that has a higher standard of abuse than definitions of adult abuse¹⁴ and child abuse¹⁵ in Maine protective services laws because a substantiated finding of abuse may result in loss of livelihood and potential for future employment. The federal definition of abuse is found in the Code of Federal Regulations:

Abuse means the willful infliction of injury, unreasonable confinement, intimidation, or punishment with resulting physical harm, pain or mental anguish. 42 C.F.R. §488.301.

2. Federally required database: CNA substantiated complaints

In compliance with federal law, states maintain CNA Registry data about substantiated complaints of abuse, neglect and misappropriation of property in health care settings. The information is available to prospective employers. It is viewed as an effective way to identify caregivers who may place vulnerable adults at risk of abuse, neglect or exploitation.

Studies¹⁶ have examined rates of abuse in nursing facilities and whether there are correlations to staffing ratios, worker burnout and other issues. The number of substantiated complaints of abuse, neglect and misappropriation of property is determined through the network of CNA Registries that operate in each state.

CNAs with substantiated findings may not work as a CNA. (Maine law states that a CNA with a substantiated complaint may not work as a CNA or a UAP.) The federal life-time employment prohibition based on substantiated findings cannot be changed by Maine law and is not the focus of this report. The focus of this report is state mandated employment bans based on criminal convictions.

3. Federal law: CNA reinstatement after one-time neglect is substantiated

Federal law has one redemption provision for an individual with a one-time neglect substantiated complaint when it is the only notation. No other reinstatement is available to overcome the lifetime employment ban for substantiated complaints, including repeated substantiated complaints for neglect.

MAINE LAW

1. Maine law added UAPs with substantiated complaints to Registry database.

State law requirements were amended to require the Registry to include unlicensed assistive persons, also called direct care workers, with substantiated complaints for abuse, neglect or misappropriation. See 22 M.R.S.A. §1812-J. (Attachment D). This information is included in notations on the Registry, and is available to prospective employers. Substantiated complaints of abuse, neglect and misappropriation of property result in lifetime employment bans.

Amendments that addressed UAP listing on the Registry resulted in the creation of a new section (§1812-J) for the unlicensed assistive persons language. As a result, some CNA Registry language in section 1812-G that applies to UAPs should be included in the new UAP Registry section. This will be fixed in the draft legislation submitted by the workgroup.

Any substantiated complaint against a certified nursing assistant with specific documented findings by the state survey agency of abuse, neglect or misappropriation of property of a resident, client or patient. Only the state survey agency may investigate complaints against a certified nursing assistant of abuse, neglect, or misappropriation of property of a resident, client, or patient. The registry notation must include but is not limited to the following information:

1. Documentation of the state survey agency investigation, including the nature of the

Sec. 4. 22 M.R.S.A. §1812-G, sub-§6, is repealed.

Sec. 5 22 M.R.S.A. §1812-G, sub-§7, is repealed and the following enacted in its place:

2-B. Criminal background checks. The registry shall secure at least a state-based criminal background check on active CNAs every 2 years during the reregistration process.

2-C. Time limit on consideration of prior criminal conviction. The registry shall examine criminal convictions within the last thirty years when making a decision concerning the impact a conviction has on a CNA's employability.

2-D Conviction for specific named crime. Department rules shall categorize criminal convictions as disqualifying convictions or non-disqualifying convictions. Specific named crimes shall be based on Maine's Criminal Code, chapter 17-A, Part 2 or similar conduct for convictions in other jurisdictions. In determining non-disqualifying criminal convictions, the department shall consider whether moral character and conduct demonstrate that individuals will respect the person and property of the people in their care

A. Disqualifying criminal convictions prohibit employment as a CNA in health and direct care settings as a CNA for either a 30-year or a 10-year period. Disqualifying criminal convictions are included as notations on the registry.

B. Non-disqualifying criminal convictions do not prohibit employment as a CNA. Non-disqualifying criminal convictions are included as notations on the registry.

2-E. Length of employment ban: criminal conviction. Subject to section 2-F, an employment ban that is based on a disqualifying criminal conviction is for a 30-year period or a 10-year period. The department shall adopt rules that specify which disqualifying criminal convictions prohibit employment for 30 years and which disqualifying criminal convictions prohibit employment for 10 years.

2-F. Petition for removal of an employment ban: criminal conviction. An individual may petition the department for removal of an employment ban that is based on a disqualifying criminal conviction prior to its expiration. Removal of the employment ban allows the individual to defined in section 1717, subsection 1, paragraph D and may not hire an individual who:

A. Disqualifying criminal convictions: prohibited employment. An adult day care program cannot employ an individual with a disqualifying criminal conviction to work in direct contact with a consumer. A disqualifying criminal conviction is determined by the employer's use of the table of named crimes in the department's certified nursing assistant and direct care worker registry rules. The table applies to employees who work in direct contact with consumers including but not limited to CNAs, UAPs and other direct care workers.

B. Exception: currently employed CNAs and UAPs. CNAs and UAPs who would otherwise be banned for conduct that is prohibited pursuant to section 1 (A) of this chapter are not banned for that conduct if the CNAs and UAPs were employed as CNAs and UAPs on the effective date of this chapter and the conduct occurred prior to the effective date as long as they continue to work for the same adult day care program. When there is a change of employer, the CNA or UAP is subject to this chapter.

2. Prohibited employment. An adult day care program may not hire an individual who:

(2) A crime for which incarceration of less than 3 years may be imposed under the laws of the state in which the conviction occurred involving sexual misconduct or involving abuse, neglect or exploitation in a setting other than a health care setting.

D. Has any disqualifying criminal conviction.

The department shall adopt rules necessary to implement this section. Rules adopted pursuant to this section are routine technical rules as defined in Title 5, chapter 375, subchapter 2-A.

SUMMARY

This bill implements the recommendations of the workgroup created by Resolve 2009, chapter 68 that reviewed (1) employment bans based on criminal convictions; (2) the rational basis for the employment ban; and (3) the length of the employment ban that prohibits individuals from working as a certified nursing assistant (CNA) or an unlicensed assistive person (UAP).

This bill changes the name of the registry to reflect a recent statutory change that added the listing of UAPs on the registry if they have substantiated complaints of abuse, neglect or misappropriation of property of the client, patient or resident.

This bill amends the CNA Registry law as follows:

1. Amends and adds definitions including definitions of “abuse,” “disqualifying criminal convictions,” and “non-disqualifying criminal convictions” that clarify portions of the law that have been troublesome regarding enforcement by the department, compliance by the CNAs, and interpretation by providers.
2. Replaces ambiguous statutory language with language that states that specific named crimes promulgated by the department’s rulemaking process shall form the rational basis for employment bans for CNAs. Criminal convictions for named crimes replace current statutory language that bases employment bans on the length of the sentence that “may” be imposed.
3. States that not all convictions result in employment bans. When a CNA has a non-disqualifying criminal conviction that does not ban employment, hiring is based on the prospective employer’s discretion.
4. Disqualifying criminal convictions result in 30-year or 10-year employment bans.
5. Individuals with employment bans may petition the department for removal of an employment ban prior to its expiration
6. States that CNAs are not subject to the new employment bans if they are employed as CNAs on the effective date of this new law.
7. An advisory board is established by the department to consider future amendments to the table of named crimes.

This bill amends unlicensed assistive person (UAP) laws as follows:

8. Amends and adds definitions that apply to UAPs that have substantiated complaints, including definitions of “substantiated findings” that prohibit employment and “adverse findings” that do not prohibit employment.
9. Amends the complaint investigation provisions to include determinations that may be made by the department after investigation of a complaint.

10. States that “adverse findings” do not prohibit employment and are not listed as notations on the registry.
11. States that UAPs are not subject to the new employment bans if they are employed as UAPs on the effective date of this new law.
12. States that UAP training programs must notify candidates about the employment restrictions in this chapter prior to acceptance of a student applicant.

This bill also updates statutes that make reference to CNA registry and UAP laws to reflect the above changes.

This bill states that the table of named crimes must be used by employers who must secure pre-hire criminal background checks prior to hiring an individual who will work in direct contact with consumers. Individuals with disqualifying criminal convictions are prohibited from employment.

The Provider shall contact child protective services units within State government to obtain any record of substantiated allegations of abuse, neglect or exploitation against an employment applicant before hiring the same. In the case of a child protective services investigation substantiating abuse, neglect or exploitation by a prospective employee of the Provider, it is the Provider's responsibility to decide what hiring action to take in response to that substantiation, while acting in accordance with licensing standards.
