

Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife

Maine Golden Eagle Study

Documenting golden eagle presence, habitat use, and movements in Maine through community science.

Photo by Dave Brandes

We are working to better understand the elusive, state Endangered golden eagle and we need your help!

The focus of this project is establishing a network of trail cameras to detect the presence of golden eagles, but there are several ways for birders, hunters, landowners, trappers, and wildlife enthusiasts to participate! You can choose to:

Set up and monitor a baited camera trap

Host a camera trap on your land

Supply lead-free bait***

Report golden eagle observations

To learn more about the Maine Golden Eagle Study and to sign up, visit mefishwildlife.com/goldeneaglestudy

For additional questions, please contact
Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Raptor Biologist, Erynn Call, at erynn.call@maine.gov

*animals harvested or dispatched without lead ammunition

