Introduction

Maine Freedom of Access Act (FOAA):

The Purpose

The public’s right to information about government activities lies at the heart of a democratic government.

The Maine Freedom of Access Act (“FOAA”) grants the people of this state a broad right of access to public records while protecting legitimate governmental interests and the privacy rights of individual citizens. The act also ensures the accountability of the government to the citizens of the state by requiring public access to the meetings of public bodies. Transparency and open decision-making are fundamental principles of the Maine Freedom of Access Act, and they are essential to ensuring continued trust and confidence in our government.

Open government is good government and the state is committed to ensuring and protecting your “right to know.”

To review the Freedom of Access Law, go to www.maine.gov/foaa

In its continued efforts to serve as a resource of educating about the FOAA, the Right-to-Know Advisory Committee created this Citizen’s Guide, with the help of University of Maine School of Law 2011 Legal Extern Diana DeJesus, as an easy-to-use tool that will help you navigate through the FOAA.

This Citizen’s Guide was updated in 2012 with the assistance of University of Maine School of Law Legal Extern Katherine Lybrand.
Chapter 1: Freedom of Access Act: An In-Depth Overview

What is the Freedom of Access Act (FOAA)?

It is a Maine state statute that is intended to open the government of Maine by guaranteeing access to the “public records” and “public proceedings” of state and local government bodies & agencies.

FOAA does NOT apply to federal agencies operating in Maine or to federal government records. The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), a similar but different federal statute, applies to the federal government. This federal statute does not apply to state or local government bodies, agencies, or officials.¹

Elected Officials and the Freedom of Access Laws:

All elected officials and public access officers are obligated to complete training on the FOAA. The training, which must be completed less than 2 hours, includes instruction in:

- General legal requirements when dealing with public records and public proceedings
- Procedures and requirements regarding complying with a request for a public record
- Penalties and other consequences for failure to comply with the law

The elected officials that are required to take the Freedom of Access training include:

- The Governor
- Attorney General, Secretary of State, Treasurer of State, and State Auditor
- Legislators
- Commissioners, treasurers, district attorneys, sheriffs, registers of deeds, registers of probate, and budget committee members of any county
- Municipal officers, clerks, treasurers, assessors, and budge committee members of municipal governments
- Officials of school administrative units
- Officials of regional or other political subdivisions, including officials of water districts, sanitary districts, hospital districts, transit districts, or regional transportation districts
- Public access officers

Once training is complete, elected officials or public access officers certify the Freedom of Access training by:

• Submitting a written or electronic record confirming that the training was completed
• Record will be available to the public, must be kept by the elected official or filed with the public entity to which the official was elected.2

Penalties for Failure to Comply with the FOAA

If a state government agency or local government entity whose officer or employee commits a willful violation of the FOAA, he or she may be held liable for a civil violation, which could result in a fine of $500.3

No criminal penalties exist for failure to comply with a request for public records. If, however, there is an intentionally removal, alteration, or destruction of State documents, such act is a Class D crime.4

Enforcement of Freedom of Access Laws

Any aggrieved person may appeal to any Superior Court5 in the state to seek relief for an alleged violation of Freedom of Access Act.6

Relief can be in the form of an injunction issued by the court that directs the government body, agency, or official to comply with the law, such as by making public records available for inspection or copying.

In addition, the Office of the Attorney General or the District Attorneys may bring an enforcement action seeking penalties if the alleged violation is willful.7

What is the Public Access Ombudsman?

The legislature created a public access ombudsman position to review complaints about compliance with FOAA and attempt to mediate their resolution, as well as answer calls from the public, media and legislators about the requirements of the law. The ombudsman is also responsible for providing educational materials about the law and preparing advisory opinions. The ombudsman works closely with the Right to Know Advisory Committee in monitoring new developments and considering improvements to the law.

Chapter 2: Requesting Public Records

Requesting a Public Record: The Basics:

- What exactly IS a “public record?” A public record is
  - Written, printed, or graphic matter, or electronic data with information;
  - Either directly or after a translation into a visual or auditory format;
  - In possession of a state entity or public official; and
  - Used in connected or relating to a public or governmental business.

- Who can request a public record?
  - Per the language of the FOAA, “every person” has the right to inspect and copy public records, whether you are a citizen of Maine or not.

You Want to Request a Public Record: What Do You Do?

- Step 1: Determine which public agency you want to request from.
  - Examples include: Dept. of Health and Human Services, Office of the Governor, and Office of Attorney General.

- Step 2: Determine in which form you will make your request.
  - If in writing – which is NOT mandatory – make sure to:
    - Be specific- include the time frame, subject of record, etc.

Here is an example: What if you want more information about active landfills around your home that accepts wood wastes. How do you make the request?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Written Request</th>
<th>Too broad</th>
<th>Too narrow</th>
<th>Reasonable</th>
<th>Exact</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>“All records on landfills”</td>
<td>“All records identifying landfills within 20 miles of 147 Main Street in Augusta.”</td>
<td>“All landfills in Augusta.”</td>
<td>“All landfills in Augusta that only accept wood waste.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Possible Issues</td>
<td>-Fees to high</td>
<td>-Agency unable to locate request</td>
<td>-may have more records, but still a narrower search</td>
<td>-better chance to locate file with exact request language</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>-Too vague</td>

11 See Appendix C for a sample FOAA written request.
You Requested Public Information: What Happens?

- Step 1: Fees
  - No initial fee for submitting the FOAA request and no fee to inspect records.\(^{12}\)
  - If you would like to copy records, no standard rate is set by the FOAA; an agency may charge a “reasonable fee.”\(^{13}\) Fee amounts include
    - Time spent to
      - Retrieve
      - Search
      - Compile
      - Redact confidential information or
      - Convert records

- Step 2: Determining fee amount
  - Public agency MUST prepare an estimate, which may include the following charge of $15 after the 1st hour for staff time, per request. Further breakdown includes
    - $30 or more- public agency MUST notify you before proceeding
    - $100 or more – public agency may require costs in advance.\(^{14}\)

- Step 3: Determine if unable to pay fee amount
  - A public agency may – but not required to -- waive part or all of the total fee IF
    - Indigent\(^{15}\)
    - Release of public record is in the public interest because it will likely contribute to public understanding of how government works\(^{17}\)
    - Not primarily in commercial interest of the requestor\(^{18}\)

What Happens After You Made Your Request? Do You . . . ?

- Receive acknowledgement of your request from the agency?
  - Yes, within a “reasonable time.”\(^{19}\)
- If asked, have to provide clarification for request?
  - Yes. An agency or official may ask for clarification concerning your request.\(^{20}\)
- Have to state why you want a certain record?

No. Even though an agency is not prohibited from asking, you are NOT required to provide a reason and you CANNOT be denied solely for that reason.21

The Public Agency Has Your Request: What Happens?

- Agency is to make the record(s) available “within a reasonable time.”
- You can schedule time for your inspection, translation, copying as long as
  - It’s within regular business hours
  - It does NOT affect regular daily activities
- An agency must inform you if your request is denied within five (5) working days of the request.22
- For public records that are a mix of public and private information, the agency may
  - Decide if record(s) has any confidential information that needs to be redacted or blackened out; or
  - Deny public access to the document
- Agency is NOT required to prepare reports, summaries, or contemplations of public records.23
- If the public record is electronically stored, the agency or or official must provide the public record either as a printed document or in the medium in which the record is stored.24

You Have Been Denied Your Request: How Do You Appeal?

- Step 1: Was your request a public record?
  - Under the FOAA, certain documents are NOT public record. Examples25 include
    - Those designated by statute;
    - Documents under legal privilege (such as an attorney-client privilege);
    - Medical records; and
    - Juvenile records
- Step 2: File a written Notice of Appeal
  - If you are unsatisfied with an agency’s decision to withhold a record, you can file, within five (5) working days, a written notice of appeal to any Maine Superior Court.26
