

DEAR

I know this letter may come to you as a surprise. My name is Jason. Years ago, my wife passed out while we were on vacation and was rushed to a facility. After running a biopsy on her she tested positive for ductal carcinoma (Breast cancer). She also had a host of health problem, as a result we were referred to different facilities to consult with a few medical experts. While she was recovering from the trauma of collapsing, you were one of the physicians that cared for her and something magical happened when you first walked through that door. Your charming smile swept me off my feet. Though my wife was in so much pain, I couldn't stop gazing at your beautiful charming face. The mental picture of your beautiful charming face got stuck in my psyche. My wife passed on a few years ago. I haven't been able to get you off my mind. I've been looking for the best possible way since my wife died to express my feelings to you but due to fear of rejection, I got discouraged. I tried to suppress the feeling, but I couldn't, so I had to send you this love note through a paid online service. Due to their policy, they didn't give me your address. The letter was sent out by the service on my behalf. So please don't freak out. I'm not going to stalk you.

I really would like to get to know you if you give me the chance to express myself. If you are married or currently dating anyone, disregard this letter. I don't intend to distract you. If you are single, I really would like you to give me a chance. I've dated a few women since my wife passed on, but my heart keeps yearning for you. Something tells me love life with you will be endless. I'm still afraid that you are going to turn me down and as much as this may seem weird, I want you to know that it wasn't easy for me to summon the courage to express how I feel about you. I had to suppress my ego, pride and fear just to pour out my feelings to you. I'm not sure if this is right but I do know that I want to be with you. My heart is definitely right about you. I believe strongly within me that you and I will be happy together once we get to know each other. If you are single and interested in conversing further, e-mail me at jasonreid239@gmail.com. I believe that if we exchange emails a few times, you will get more comfortable. I'm quite sure you've forgotten what I looked like. I can send you my pictures via email once we open up communication. I'm definitely not a 300 pounds guy with pot belly (smiles). I'll best describe my body physique as athletic. I'm a 67 years old Caucasian man. I'm 6 ft 1, 195 pounds. I'm a business owner. I'll be expecting your email and I also want you to know that you will be making me whole and complete by giving us a chance. Since my wife passed, I've really been lonely. Business has been good but what good is wealth without a partner, someone to cuddle on cold nights. Someone to travel the world with. I love to take vacations when I'm not tied up with work. I've been to numerous countries, there are still a few countries on my list that I will like to visit. It will be nice to visit these countries and other wonderful vacation spots with you.

I consider myself a family-oriented person. Some of the things I like to do are listening to music, going to the movies, the beach, hiking, fishing, sitting in a park, stargazing and cookouts. I enjoy doing just about anything specially in the company of someone special. I Love tennis, baseball, basketball, a bit of football and soccer. I used to play a little sport as a kid, now I only pick a team and try to cheer them to victory. I am not an extreme fanatic and don't believe in violence in sports. I love outdoor activities, nature, water, animals, people, travel, camping & fishing, staying at elegant hotels, eating at fancy restaurants or a pub, cooking a fancy dinner for my lady. I love to relax sometimes watching Netflix with a bowl of popcorn and sometimes I go to the movies, but it's not so much fun when you have to go watch a movie alone. I love listening to good music, going to a concert or theater house. I like to learn new things and am always interested in any type of self-improvement & going to good seminars. Everything else will be revealed once we open up communication. Please feel free to e-mail me. I'm looking forward to your response.

Looking Forward

Jason.
