Hamilton, Joseph, Jr., son of Jonathan Hamilton, Jr., Esq., d. 5 July 1788, aged 15 yrs.

Hamilton, Mrs. Mary. In memory of/Mrs. Mary Hamilton/The amiable and virtuous consort of/Jonathan Hamilton Junr. Esqr./Who departed this life Novr. 23d 1800, Aged 51 years/She was endeared to her friends and acquaintance/By those virtues which adorn human nature/And secure esteem and affection:/A prudent, dutiful, & affectionate Wife,/A peculiarly kind & tender Mother,/A pleasing companion,/A faithful friend,/A compassionate benefactress to the poor/Afflicted and distressed;/Often caused the widow's heart to sing for joy./But alas! she is no more/Here her frail body sleeps in the dust/The spirit has returned to its God/We trust/To be ever with the Lord.

Hamilton, Jonathan. In memory of/Jonathan Hamilton Jnr. Esq./who departed this life Septr. 26th 1802./Aetatis 57./Possessing those qualities which always ensure esteem:/of pleasing deportment,/a firm, vigorous & enterprising mind./a tender Husband/a kind & anxious Father/His zeal for order in Church & State, extensive business/and publick spirit, rendered him a blessing to the community/a friend to religion & religious men/an agreeable companion/and a sincere constant faithful friend/As a merchant/extensively known & much respected/his strict probity & exact punctuality secured to him/the entire confidence of all that knew him;/the smiles of Heaven on indefatigable industry & the best/economy rendered him eminent as a man of property./But alas, neither wealth nor merit can bribe or evade/the grim tyrant death/nor repel the fatal shaft./Hamilton is no more.

Lord, Mrs. Mehitable, widow of Hon. John Lord, d. 7 Aug 1831, aged 65 yrs. Her children have erected this monument in evidence of their grateful and affectionate remembrance of her distinguished excellencies. Her character was marked by uncommon energy, activity, intelligence, and disinterestedness formed upon the religion of the Divine Redeemer, which from an early period she adorned by a consistent profession. In all her domestic and social relations she was trusted and loved and honored. Her home was a scene of uninterrupted kindness, hospitality and rational enjoyment. She communicated instruction and delight in every circle in which she moved, and dispersed widely the blessings of her liberality. Devoted to the interests of vital piety & forward in all benevolent actions, she contributed largely to the advancement of the Church of Christ, and to the influence of its mission. Her whole life was a series of useful labors performed cheerfully amidst infirmities and afflictions, and finished in the assurance of Christian faith. Her worth is treasured up in the hearts of numerous friends and the fruits of her prayers and alms will all be produced when this monument shall have crumbled and her dust shall be forgotten.
