Nov-05-2020	Charles Lafitte Foundation (CLF)	Charles Lafitte Foundation (Rolling Deadline)	Funding not identified.	The Charles Lafitte Foundation (CLF) supports organizations working in four main areas: education, children's advocacy, medical research & issues, and the arts. The Charles Lafitte Foundation is the family foundation for Jeffrey and Suzanne Citron. Since 1999, CLF has given to more than 200 organizations and granted more than $11 million in support. CLF supports innovative and effective ways of helping people help themselves and others around them to achieve healthy, satisfying and enriched lives. The Foundation supports organizations working in four main areas: education, children's advocacy, medical research & issues, and the arts. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • EDUCATION: The mission of the Education Program is to encourage the attainment of knowledge and skills and the practice of responsible citizenship through access to effective learning opportunities. The foundation is committed to improving the "quality of life" of children by supporting programs which encourage children to reach their fullest potential. The best chance a child has to reach that goal is to be provided with sufficient education, health care, housing, and love. As one of the primary outlets of human creativity, art is a vital resource in developing and maintaining healthy communities. As school budgets are often short on cultural opportunities, the foundation will favor educational programs that encourage students to release their creativity, inspire them to learn, and empower them with achievement. • CHILDREN'S ADVOCACY: Bettering the lives of children is central to CLF's purpose. Ultimately, the goal is to help children reach their fullest potential, which means sufficient education, healthcare, shelter and care. The foundation sponsors programs that mitigate the hardship that confronts and impedes too many children. This means targeting issues like child abuse, adequate foster housing, literacy and hunger. Improving children's education is essential to achieving positive outcomes for children and youth of all ages. It also creates communities where children and families can thrive. After-school programs 	[Health and Social Services, Natural and Cultural Resources]		Deadline not identified.

				enhance and strengthen the educational experience, helping to keep children in school, gain self-esteem and thrive. We also encourage children to be their own advocates. Check out the Charles Lafitte Foundation Kid's Corner. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • MEDICAL RESEARCH AND INITIATIVES: CLF supports and encourages health research and education, leading to better healthcare, disease prevention, and healthier lives. Through education, public awareness of basic wellness issues can be illuminated and healthy lifestyles and habits encouraged. The foundation looks for efforts that stress quality of life, including disease prevention, and often focuses on specific groups with serious and neglected problems. Through research, medical advancements are explored and tested, resulting in the therapies and treatments of tomorrow. Other medical initiatives, such as long-term patient housing and palliative care, require serious attention and solutions. • THE ARTS: Exposure to the arts is vital to fostering and sustaining healthy communities. With diminished civic support and declining patronage, most arts organizations are increasingly challenged. Innovation, creativity, initiative, and risk taking are intrinsic to artistic expression, inspiring audiences to dig deeper into their personal potential and freeing minds to contemplate dreams. CLF goals for arts funding include: (1) cultivating new talent; (2) supporting established artists; (3) providing educational programs that encourage children's creativity; (4) furthering equal access to the arts; and (5) establishing therapeutic arts programs. The Charles Lafitte Foundation prefers underwriting specific projects with distinct goals, and targets grants that will have a notable impact and make a material difference.

Work with communities to create conditions for vulnerable children so they can realize their full potential in school, work, and life. Focus is on increasing access to opportunities that affect the success of the 80 million children who live in the United States. It helps build and strengthen educational and economic institutions so families and children can thrive in stable and nurturing environments. The foundation helps communities create the environments that will lead to success, good health, and valuable learning throughout childhood. It wants all children to have equal opportunity to reshape tomorrow's society in positive and productive ways. Three work areas: Thriving Children, Working Families and Equitable Communities. Achieving strong outcomes for children happens by connecting what families need – at home, in child care settings, at school, at work and in their communities. COVID-19 Disaster Resources Report

	Organizations	"Texans' Views on the COVID-19 Pandemic"	Allocated: $0	Executive Summary: In early March 2020, The Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) reported the first case of COVID19 in the state. Shortly after, local county judges began issuing stay-at-home orders to curb the spread of the disease. As Texas continues to grapple with the repercussions of the pandemic on the healthcare system and economy, Texans continue to worry about the effects of COVID-19 on their own health and finances. We undertook this study to learn from Texans the impact of the pandemic on their lives, including their health, financial condition, and concerns for the future. This report contains our findings for the Texas population as a whole and notes where there are statistically significant differences among demographic groups. When it comes to health care, over a third of Texans report that they or someone in their household skipped or postponed medical care because of the pandemic (36%). Additionally, almost one in three Texans under age 65 are currently without health insurance coverage (29%)¹. Hispanic Texans are more likely to be uninsured than White Texans as are those with lower incomes. Use of virtual resources to access health care are important as residents are encouraged to stay home to curb the spread of COVID-19. However, 22 percent of Texans cannot access telemedicine resources because they either do not have a computer, tablet, or smartphone with internet access, do not know how to talk with a doctor online, or cannot access the internet to talk with a doctor. Older Texans and those in rural areas, and those with lower incomes are more likely to face challenges accessing telemedicine resources. COVID-19 has impacted the mental health of Texans with 46 percent saying that worry or stress related to COVID-19 has negatively impacted their mental health. More than one in ten report feeling nervous, anxious, or on edge nearly every day in past two weeks (13%). Similar numbers report not being able to stop worrying (11%) or having little interest or pleasure in doing things nearly every day (13%). Many Texans have experienced financial hardship as a result of the pandemic (50%). More than a third (37%) say they or someone in their household have lost their job, their business, been furloughed, had their wages or hours reduced, or taken mandatory unpaid leave. Black and Hispanic Texans as well as those with lower incomes are more likely to have faced financial hardship from the pandemic than their counterparts. Sep-21-2021	Department of Health and Human Services	PUBLICATION - HHS/CDC: "COVID-19 Vaccination Program Interim Playbook for Jurisdiction Operations"	Funding not identified. Allocated: $0	This document serves as an interim playbook for SLTTs and their partners on how to plan and operationalize a vaccination response to COVID-19 within their jurisdictions. Immunization with a safe and effective COVID-19 vaccine is a critical component of the United States strategy to reduce COVID-19-related illnesses, hospitalizations, and deaths and to help restore societal functioning. The goal of the U.S. government is to have enough COVID-19 vaccine for all people in the United States who wish to be vaccinated. Early in the COVID-19 Vaccination Program, there may be a limited supply of COVID-19 vaccine, and vaccination efforts may focus on those critical to the response, providing direct care, and maintaining societal function, as well as those at highest risk for developing severe illness from COVID-19. This document serves as an interim playbook for state, territorial (including the US affiliated Pacific Islands [USAPI] of American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, the Federated States of Micronesia, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, and the Republic of Palau), tribal, and local public health programs and their partners on how to plan and operationalize a vaccination response to COVID-19 within their jurisdictions. The document's sections cover specific areas of COVID-19 vaccination program planning and implementation and provide key guidance documents and links to resources to assist those efforts. Many, but not all, of the COVID-19 Vaccination Program activities described may overlap with routine activities; routine immunization and pandemic influenza program activities can serve as a foundation for COVID-19 vaccination planning. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Immunization and Vaccines for Children Cooperative Agreement funding recipients (i.e., "awardees") should use this document to develop and update their COVID19 vaccination plans. Within their vaccination plans, awardees must address all requirements outlined in the playbook and clearly describe their responsibility for ensuring activities are implemented. All awardees have submitted their interim plans to their CDC project officer. At the same time, educators are limited in how they can support their students while school are closed. In the Appalachia region, this new wave of stressors comes on top of the traumatic experiences students are experiencing related to the opioid epidemic. Family and community opioid use has devastating impacts on children and families, especially in this region, with about 170,000 children experiencing a range of stressors and trauma related to parental opioid use, such as losing a parent to an opioid-related death, having an incarcerated parent due to opioid use, or being removed from their home due to an opioid-related issue. 				however organizations may still apply after that date. The systemic shock of COVID-19 reveals the often-invisible essential services of Latino and Latin American immigrant workers across the country: from cultivating, processing, driving, stocking, and delivering food to our tables to caring, serving and offering other services in our homes, hospitals, schools, hotels, construction sites and clinics. The COVID-19 pandemic has deepened the economic and social disparities already impacting our Latino and immigrant communities—made up of mixed-status, undocumented and multi-generational families. "The COVID-19 pandemic has revealed the often invisible and yet essential services provided by Latino and Latin American workers across the country and has deepened the economic and social disparities already impacting our communities. There are countless community leaders and organizations actively providing the first line of defense, building power and leadership in our communities, and ensuring our essential workers are safe and supported. This is why HIP has launched The Essential Fund."
