Maine Bureau of Insurance Reduces Rate Increases Sought by Long-Term Care Insurer

Maine Bureau of Insurance Superintendent Bob Carey announced today that the Bureau has reduced premium increases requested by Genworth Life Insurance for many of their long-term care insurance products. This decision followed a thorough review and actuarial analysis of rates by the Bureau.

"The Bureau's analysis dug into the details to ensure the rate requests were actuarially justified," Carey said. "While the Bureau reduced many of the requested rates, for some policyholders the rate change will still result in a steep annual premium increase. I encourage policyholders to consult with their insurance broker or other trusted resource, to consider their options to determine the best course of action." Carey advised.

Many long-term care insurers originally issued policies that were underpriced. These insurers are now seeking large premium increases to generate revenue necessary to pay claims when they come due. The largest rate increases are for policies that have lifetime benefits with inflation protection.

The Bureau's decision requires Genworth to spread out any approved rate increases that exceed 25% over a two or three-year period, which can provide policyholders time to plan. For one of its long-term care insurance policies, Genworth's requested rate increase of 233% was reduced to 76%, which will be spread over three years at 20.8% each year. For another policy, Genworth requested a rate increase of 124%. That request was reduced by the Bureau to 50%, which will be spread over two years at an annual rate of 22.5%. The table below provides additional details on each policy.

Approved rate increases will take effect 90 days after the company notifies policyholders.
