Annual Report of Insurance Fraud and Abuse for 2023

The data contained in this report is based upon annual survey information which insurers are required to report to the Bureau of Insurance pursuant to 24-A M.R.S.A. §2186(4)(A)(B) and Maine Insurance Rule Chapter 920. The report contains information on:

- the number of suspected fraudulent cases and claims, by line of insurance.
- the amounts paid and the amounts denied for those cases and claims.
- the number of suspected fraudulent acts reported to or referred to law enforcement and other agencies.

Number of Suspected Fraudulent Cases and Claims Reported by Line of Business

Table 1 shows the number of suspected fraudulent cases and claims, for 2023, reported by line of business, along with the amounts paid and denied for those cases and claims.

Because one case may involve more than one fraudulent claim, the number of claims may not equal the number of cases of suspected fraudulent activity.

The highest number of suspected fraudulent cases were reported for Auto, followed by Workers' Compensation, then Health.

When looking at the percentage of amounts denied to the total of amounts paid and denied, six lines of business each had more than 10 percent of its suspected fraudulent claim amounts denied: Health (52%), Life (23%), Other Property Lines (18%), Auto (17%), Homeowners (15%), and All Other Lines (13%).

NOTES:

1. Some companies reported cases but did not report claims, and some reported claims but did not report cases.
2. The paid and denied amounts displayed for each line of business may include payments and denials beyond those associated with the cases and claims listed for the line of business. This occurs when cases and claims that were reported in prior years were not paid or denied until this reporting period.
