Local Government Record Retention Schedules

Prepared by the Records Management Division
In Accordance with Maine Title 5, Chapter 6, §95-B
Approved by the Archives Advisory Board
August 2018 Edition

Maine Local Government Record Retention Schedules

These retention schedules may be used by all local governments and their agencies and offices.

"Local Government" means a municipality, a quasi-municipal organization (such as a school administrative district, water or sewer district, etc.), an office of county government (such as Register of Deeds, County Sheriff, etc.), and offices of District Attorney.

The schedules list those records which any local agency may create or receive in the course of daily business. For a local agency to have an effective records management program, these retention schedules should be used on a regular basis.

Retention schedules indicate the minimum length of time records must be retained before they may be disposed of legally. This is a replacement of the Chapter 10 Rules for Disposition of Local Government Records. These schedules have been prepared, approved and issued by the Maine State Archives/Archives Advisory Board pursuant to Maine Title 5, Chapter 6, §95-B. This approval provides the legal basis for local agencies to incorporate these schedules as part of an active records management program.

The purpose of these schedules is to:

- establish retention requirements for temporary records and ensure records are retained as long as needed for administrative, legal and fiscal purposes;
- ensure records with enduring historical and other research value are identified and retained permanently; and
- facilitate the systematic disposal of unneeded records.

EXPLANATION OF THE CHANGE

The original purpose was to repeal the Chapter 10 Rule. Statutory authority for this Rule was listed as: 5 MRSA, Chapter 6, §95-B; 30-A MRSA §1705. 30-A MRSA §1705 had already been repealed several years ago. Title 5, Chapter 6 details the duties of the State Archivist. State and Local Government records encompass both of these duties. However, it had become increasingly more and more difficult to meet the needs and demands of our local government constituents and develop proper guidance and procedures required due to the nature of the extensive rulemaking process when there were already specific guidelines written in statute with which both state and local government agencies must comply. State agencies are allowed to submit new schedules and amendments to the Records Management office at any time and have their submissions reviewed in a timely manner. By following the rulemaking practices, local government agencies waited for a very lengthy process for any changes to occur. We found no basis for why the local schedules should be handled differently than the state agency or general state schedules. We looked at the history of both the Archives Advisory Board minutes, the prior Local Government Board and County Boards and did not find any concrete evidence as to why this was put in place other than to give towns and/or the public the opportunity for input. We determined this could easily be accomplished by having an appointed Board made up of people from various backgrounds and having public meetings where local records are discussed.

Local governments will continue to comply with Local Government Schedules created and issued by the Maine State Archives and follow those schedules under 5 MRSA, Chapter 6, §95-B, which states: “Each local government official shall comply with the standards, procedures and regulations issued by the Archives Advisory Board.” It is our plan to continue the local government standards and schedules regulated through the State Archivist and Board, as specified in statute. To that end, the Chapter 10 Rules for Disposition of Local Government Records are now being replaced with Local Government Record Retention Schedules. There will be no disruption in services to the municipalities as this is considered an immediate change. Comprehensive design and direction remain much the same as previous Chapter 10 Rules. Our overall mission is to make this a more efficient and effective process for all parties involved. Schedules will continue to be posted to our website, we will send electronic or paper documentation upon request and we will provide guidance and assistance as we do now.

MANAGEMENT OF RECORDS

DISPOSITION OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT RECORDS

No record shall be destroyed except by these schedules, unless authorized by state or federal law or rule, or other adopted municipal policy, justified and approved by the State Archivist and the Archives Advisory Board. (Records retained per municipal policy may be retained longer, but not less than, state law or rule.) All disposition of records not listed in the Local Government Retention Schedules or which are not otherwise written in Maine statute or Federal law, must be approved in advance, and in writing, by the State Archivist and the Archives Advisory Board.

RECORDS RETAINED

Records which are to be retained shall be preserved by the creating agency or deposited with an approved alternative institution (see pages 7&8) or deposited with the Maine State Archives. The State Archivist shall determine whether or not to accept transfers of local government records, based on space available at the Maine State Archives, condition of the records, and available alternatives to transfer. The State Archivist shall accept all permanent records of any deorganized Maine municipality.

RECORDS AUTHORIZED FOR DESTRUCTION

Once records have fulfilled their administrative, fiscal, or legal function they should be disposed of as soon as possible in accordance with these Records Retention Schedules. Records may be destroyed by shredding, pulping, burning, or other acceptable means.

It is up to the governing body of each respective Local Government Agency to set up final review and disposal procedures for records which have reached the end of their retention time. Any records disposed of must be recorded on Disposition Forms. These forms would be retained permanently. (See Appendix G for sample form.)

Local government agencies must receive and retain a certificate of destruction for any records collected by/sent to recycling facilities to ensure: 1) only records actually due for destruction are collected; 2) records intended for recycling are not at risk of removal by unauthorized persons, both while on site at the local government agency's offices and after removal to the recycling facility; 3) there is reasonable assurance that the recycling process will completely obliterate all information from the records.

RECORD RETENTION SCHEDULES

These record retention schedules shall be used primarily to identify those local government records that should be retained permanently by the local government agency or deposited with an approved alternative institution as described on pages 7&8. These schedules also provide retention periods for records that do not have permanent value. All municipal, quasi-municipal, and county government offices shall follow the records retention requirements as provided.

RECORDS SUBJECT TO AUDIT OR LITIGATION

A Local Government record whose retention period has expired may not be destroyed if any litigation, claim, negotiation, audit, public information request, administrative review, or other action involving the record is initiated or reasonably anticipated; its destruction shall not occur until the completion of the action and the resolution of all issues arising from it. A record can also not be destroyed if the retention period occurs during any of these proceedings.

For further information on Records / Electronic Records see Appendix D.

RECORD STORAGE

APPROVED MEDIA FOR RECORDS STORAGE

Local government records which have been identified as having archival (permanent) value must be maintained on one or more of the following media: paper; microfilm or microfiche produced according to archival standards, as established by the American National Standards Institute. Permanently valuable records (those originally created in paper) may be maintained for convenience on nonarchival media (such as disk or electronic format), but the same records must in every case be maintained on an archival medium or must be maintained in compliance with Title 16: Court Procedure – Evidence (Chapter 3: Records and Other Documents, Subchapter 3: Public Records, §456-A. Admissibility of electronic records). Born digital records must be migrated as necessary to keep them accessible using currently available hardware and software, for the full retention periods required. Where archival records are maintained in digital formats only, such migration may cease only after the records are converted to an archival medium. Digital records systems should provide real time double data storage, with the two mirrored storage sites located in separate rooms at a minimum (geographically separated storage sites shall be provided wherever possible). The system shall be designed to provide full data recovery. Where the records will need to be retained beyond the planned life of the system, agencies must plan and budget for the migration of records and their associated metadata to new storage media or formats in order to avoid loss due to media decay or technology obsolescence.

REQUESTS FOR DISPOSITION

Requests for disposition of records not specified in the disposition schedules may be made in writing to the State Archivist, accompanied by sample copies of the records involved. Communications should be addressed to: State Archivist/Local Government Records, Maine State Archives, 84 State House Station, Augusta, Maine 04333.

ALTERNATIVE INSTITUTIONAL PLACEMENT FOR RECORDS

A. General Guidelines. Nonconfidential records to be retained or authorized to be destroyed according to these schedules, as well as confidential records to be retained, may be deposited with an alternative institution as described in Part B. The local government agency retains legal custody of these records and shall ensure that they are not alienated from the institution except for placement, with approval of the local government agency, in another approved institution or for authorized destruction. The local government agency may regain possession of records deposited in an authorized institution at any time.

Local government agencies shall enter a written agreement with the institution ensuring that issues of custody, regaining possession, security, preservation, and access are clarified; that the institution will, if applicable, comply with policies and directives of the local government agency governing confidentiality and preservation of records in accordance with state and federal law; and that the institution will provide storage facilities capable of preserving records at least as well as those available to the local government agency. A copy of this agreement shall be sent to the State Archivist and approved by the Archivist and Archives Advisory Board before any records are deposited at the alternative institution.

To become approved, the institution must meet the following criteria:

1. Provide security to prevent the loss of records both in storage and in reference areas. This shall at a minimum include locks on all doors and windows, plus an intruder alarm system and a fire alarm system. Minimum security shall also include direct supervision of researchers at all times when records are available for access.
2. Provide storage facilities situated in a physically safe location (i.e., not located in a flood plain; not located next to a hazardous chemical storage area; etc.). These facilities should have heating/ventilation/air conditioning capable of maintaining temperatures between 60 and 70-degrees Fahrenheit, and of holding relative humidity to less than 50 percent.
3. Provide reasonable access to the records as required by the Public Records and Proceedings statute (Title 1, Chapter 13). “Reasonable” should at a minimum mean that the facility is open to the public, by regularly scheduled hours or by appointment, at least two days each week throughout the year. There shall be no charge for retrieving or viewing the records, and any charge for obtaining copies shall be limited to the organization’s actual cost to produce such copies. However, if the organization’s staff is requested to research the records for the requestor the organization may charge any fee that it would normally require for research services.
4. Show evidence of a capacity to care for the records by providing evidence 1) of a mission statement; and 2) that a person who cares for the records has had basic archival training, such as a workshop approved by the Maine State Archives, formal education, or related experience.
5. Maintain a non-profit corporate status.
6. May be inspected by Maine State Archives staff before approval is granted, with re-inspection possible at any time after approval.
7. Notify the State Archivist of any changes in its facilities or policies that relate to the standards described in this section.
8. Approval may be revoked by the State Archivist at any time, after notice and opportunity to correct, if standards do not continue to be met.

To accept confidential records, the institution also must show evidence that it has staff capable of maintaining confidentiality in accordance with policies of federal, state and local government agencies.

B. Approved Institutions. An institution must be approved by the State Archivist and Archives Advisory Board as a depository for local government records and/or to accept confidential records before a local government agency may deposit its records with the institution. The State Archivist shall maintain a list of approved institutions (available on the Maine State Archives website).

USE OF COMMERCIAL RECORDS CENTERS

Local government agencies may use commercial records centers to store their closed records. Before any records are transferred, the commercial records center must be approved in writing by the Archives Advisory Board. The following criteria must be met:

1. Security must be provided to prevent the loss of records, both in storage areas and during transfer;
2. Fire protection must be provided;
3. Stored records may be released only to employees of the local government agency (which shall be responsible for making records available to the public);
4. Only bonded employees of the Records Center may handle boxes or provide reference services;
5. Routine reference service must be available within one business day;
6. Emergency reference service must be available within 2 hours or less during normal business hours;
7. Records must be stored in a physically safe facility (i.e., not located in a flood plain; not located next to a hazardous chemical storage area).

Commercial records centers used by local government agencies may be subject to inspection by the Maine State Archives, which will notify the Archives Advisory Board of any failure to meet these standards. Local government agencies which use commercial records centers must maintain accurate listings of all records stored.

Commercial records centers used by local government agencies shall be liable for damage, destruction or loss of records, whether in storage at the facility or in transit between the facility and the local government agency's offices.

VAULT FOR PERMANENT RECORDS

State law requires each local government to have a fireproof safe or vault to protect permanently valuable records. Fires in several towns provide a reminder about the perils of not protecting critical records. 5 M.R.S.A. §95-B. (provisions for local government records) states the following:

- 2. Safe or vault for preservation. Each local government shall provide a fireproof safe or vault for the preservation of all records that must be retained permanently but are not required for business purposes. The official having responsibility for those records shall deposit them in the safe or vault where those records must be kept except when required for use.*

General Guidelines for Budgeting and Planning Purposes, to Insure Conformity with State Law:

Vault should be either ground-supported (i.e., capable of standing on its own if the building around it collapses) or located within a fire-resistive building (one that will not suffer structural collapse even if its contents is completely consumed). Walls of the building may only be used as walls of the vault if the building is fire-resistive.

The vault should be planned, and its construction supervised by a registered engineer or architect. Its walls may only be pierced for necessary services and should not be open to any type of shaft. Floor and roof may not be pierced. All walls, floor (if vault is structure-supported rather than ground-supported), and door should at a minimum meet 4-hour fire resistance standards per a nationally recognized standards organization. The vault door may not be a standard “fire door” or other design not specifically intended for vault use. The door locking mechanism should provide for escape by a person accidentally locked inside.

No combustible materials may be used in the vault’s construction, including in any necessary damp-proofing. A ventilating system that conforms to nationally recognized standards should be provided, and all services (electrical, heating, etc.) should conform to national and local codes. Open flame heating shall not be used under any circumstances.

The vault should be installed by qualified and experienced personnel, in conformity with its manufacturer’s requirements. “Fireproof” cabinets or other portable fire-resistant records storage equipment may not be substituted for a properly designed and constructed vault.

Specific Guidelines for Vault Construction

The National Fire Protection Association’s Standard (NFPA 232, Protection of Records) provides guidance concerning vault construction. This copyrighted publication may be obtained from the NFPA website: www.nfpa.org.

HOW TO USE THE SCHEDULES

Records (regardless of media) are scheduled for retention by the office which has legal accountability. Additional copies held only for convenience are not records and may be destroyed when no longer needed. Drafts and working documents only need to be retained until no longer needed dependent upon several factors. (See Appendix E for more information.) Drafts and notes incorporated into official files become part of that file and have the same retention period as the other records contained therein.

The retention column indicates either 1) a limited period after which the records will be destroyed, or 2) the word "Permanent," indicating the records may not be destroyed and must be retained permanently.

Confidential Records

For confidentiality restrictions on records, agencies should refer to state and federal law or consult with their legal counsel. There may be records that are confidential by statute or records which are confidential in part. There may also be conditions where certain final judgements may be released, even though most of the case file remains confidential. As one example, most personnel files are confidential, however there are exceptions. Agencies are encouraged to view MRS Title 30-A, §2702. PERSONNEL RECORDS.

APPENDIX D – RECORDS / ELECTRONIC RECORDS AND RETENTION

RECORD means all documentary material in any format (paper, digital records including e-mail), made or received and maintained by an agency in accordance with law or rule, or in the transaction of its official business.

SPECIFIC TYPES OF RECORDS

- Archival/Permanent Records – Records required to be kept indefinitely because they have a high enduring or archival value.
- Closed Records – records which no longer have value--administrative, legal or fiscal--for the current business of the originating office or official, and would either be destroyed or stored/transferred as permanent records (final disposition).
- Confidential Records – Confidential records are public records that are exempt from public inspection according to the provisions of state and/or federal statutes and/or regulations.
- Current Records – records needed and used in the day-to-day conduct of the current business of a local government office or official, and which therefore must be kept in office space and equipment for that purpose.
- Non-Record – additional copies of materials for which official or record copies have been retained; stocks of publications and processed documents intended for distribution or use; or records relating to personal matters that may have been kept in an office for convenience.
- Temporary Records – records which will be destroyed once they have lived out/met their agreed to retention period. These can be either short term or long term retention records.
- Vital Records – Vital records are those records that are necessary to re-start an organization's operations in the event of a natural or human-made disaster. They support necessary services and preserve the legal, financial, and/or functional status of the agency.

ELECTRONIC RECORDS

Electronic records are records containing machine-readable information which cannot be read without the aid of hardware or software.

Electronic records are public records and subject to the same laws as paper records. Public records include anything created in the course of public business regardless of format. This includes email records. Email itself is only a format. It is the content of the email which will determine the actual retention.

Maintaining Electronic Records

If a rule of law requires that certain records be retained, that requirement is met by retaining electronic records as long as the following conditions are satisfied:

1. The information contained in the electronic record remains accessible;
2. The electronic record is retained in the format in which it was created or in a format that can accurately reflect the information as originally created; and
3. Any information that enables the identification of the source or origin (any attached metadata).
4. (See MRS Title 16 §456-A. Admissibility of Electronic Records for additional information)

Scanning Original Paper Records

Once paper records have been converted to a scanned digital image, those original paper records can be destroyed as long as it's not a permanent record and no other state or federal laws apply requiring the original document. Currently, the National Archives recognizes paper and microfilm as archival media.

Key differences regarding keeping original paper vs. electronic-only versions are this: whether or not records are born digital and whether they are permanent or temporary records. An agency does have the option of scanning original paper records and storing them, using an electronic version as their “working” copy. If records are fragile, they may use the electronic version for public use to preserve the original documents (see MRS Title 5 §95. Powers and duties of State Archivist (under #3) for additional information.)

Electronic Record Formats

Short-term or daily function records – agencies can use standard file formats such as TIF, JPEG or PDF.

Long-term records – PDF/A is the standard set by ISO (International Organization for Standardization). The PDF/A is an ISO-standardized version of the Portable Document Format (PDF) specialized for use in the archiving and long-term preservation of electronic documents.

When records are kept in more than one format, identify an official “record copy” the full retention period will be applied. When the record copy is electronic, identify the storage location so all changes are made and records purged once they have met their retention.

Electronic Information Systems

The following types of records management controls are needed to ensure that records in electronic information systems can provide adequate and proper documentation of agency business for as long as the information is needed.

- Reliability: Controls to ensure a full and accurate representation of the transactions, activities or facts to which they attest and can be depended upon in the course of subsequent transactions or activities.
- Authenticity: Controls to protect against unauthorized addition, deletion, alteration, use, and concealment.
- Integrity: Controls, such as audit trails, to ensure records are complete and unaltered.
- Usability: Mechanisms to ensure records can be located, retrieved, presented, and interpreted.
- Preservation: Ensure that all records in the system are retrievable and usable for as long as needed to conduct agency business and to meet approved dispositions. Agencies must develop procedures to enable the migration of records and their associated metadata to new storage media or formats in order to avoid loss due to media decay or technology obsolescence.

APPENDIX E – WORKING DOCUMENTS AND DRAFTS

Working documents and drafts are public records but they might only need to be retained for a brief period of time if they do not have significant administrative, legal, fiscal or historical value.

Considerations when retaining working documents and drafts:

- Significance of the document being drafted;
- Specific legal requirements relating to the retention of certain preliminary drafts;
- Need for records as evidence that the agency practiced due diligence in the drafting process;
- Unique/substantive information relating to formulation and execution of high-level policies, decisions, actions, or responsibilities.

Other types of working documents and drafts supporting certain financial, legal, and other mission-critical functions, however, may continue to have value even after the final, official copy has been approved. Agencies should have clearly defined policies and/or schedules regarding the retention and disposition of these types of working documents and drafts. Any record management decisions (not clearly defined) should be made on a case-by-case basis in consultation with your Records Officer.

Examples of drafts that might be immediately discarded following the creation of a new draft are:

- Documents which do not contain unique information documenting significant policy development, action, or decision making.
- Preliminary drafts produced solely for proof reading or internal discussion, reference or consultation. Materials may include notes, associated transmittals, and reference and background materials.
- Documents containing only minor non-substantive changes such as correction of grammar and/or spelling or minor "word-smithing."

Agency policy should address internal record requirements for staff and also target record management procedures for those documents circulated to outside agencies, including but not limited to working documents and drafts. For some agencies, statute and/or rule dictate the retention of this type of material.

APPENDIX F – APPRAISING RECORDS FOR ARCHIVAL VALUE

Once the record fulfills the purpose for which it was created, the administrative, fiscal or legal requirement of the record (its primary value) will be complete. While local government creates records for these specific reasons, it may also produce records with historical value. Such records are said to have a secondary value; they document things of interest to other people or organizations by providing information about subjects, events, or people in the State of Maine. Typically, less than 5% of any organization's records will be archival.

Archival/permanent value of records will vary from local government to local government and from region to region. The people, places, or events in each community, and the unique circumstances of each government, determine which records are significant.

Records might contain information about the people, places or events within the municipality or about the decisions made in relation to them. This information can be very valuable to staff, researchers, and the public, but only if the information itself is significant. Make sure records contain enough information to adequately document the purpose for which they are being retained.

Determining archival significance:

- When the records were created – consider records created during a time of significant change, which are scarce or cover a long period of time
- What kind of information the records contain – how in-depth is the information
- What other records exist – is this information duplicated in other records or available elsewhere
- The uniqueness and value of the records – do the records document important time periods, events or governmental policy/procedure

Questions to Consider

- Do the records document important, or precedent setting, decisions or transactions?
- Do they shed significant light on how important decisions were reached?
- Do the records contain information on people, places, things, phenomena, or events that will be useful to researchers, historians, scholars, genealogists, etc. for hundreds of years to come?
- Is the information unique, or are there other available sources that contain essentially the same information in a usable form?

Ask the People Who Know

It's also a good idea to ask experts – people who have knowledge of historical/archival records – instead of guessing at the value of the records you have. (Just because they are old doesn't always make them archival worthy or because they are important to the one doesn't mean they have historic value to the many.)

It is sometimes easy to default to archival/permanent dispositions for records because of the nature of government business or because keeping records “permanently” is easier than developing a true retention period, when in fact, records retained for trending and analysis or similar needs may have value for those purposes for only a few to several years. It can sometimes be difficult for municipalities to remove themselves from the records they are creating. Remember – permanent is forever. Do your records warrant a permanent retention or would 50-100 years suffice? These are things which are important to consider.
