Proof of Coverage Forms are submitted by insurance companies to document proof of workers compensation insurance coverage. All employers with employees in the State of Maine are required by law to either have workers' compensation insurance or file with the Bureau of Insurance proof of self insurance. These forms are effective for a period of one year and are kept on file for the effective policy year. This information is kept on the workers' compensation board data base. The Workers' Compensation Board keeps this record in case questions arise for a policy period. They are also used by the Monitoring, Audit and Enforcement Unit to establish if a fine should be issued for late coverage. Proof of coverage forms are batch filed by the week so a typical file would contain all forms received for the week.	Paper	1/19/2007	Years 50	0	Destroy	Current

Schedule #: 1716 22#:Predetermination of Independent Contractor Status

Workers' Compensation Board law allows an employer to submit an application for predetermination of independent contractor status which when approved states that there is no employer employee relationship between the two parties. There are three types of applications. 1) A landowner or landowner's agent files a conclusive application which when approved established there is no employer/employee relationship between a landowner and the person harvesting wood on the landowner's property. 2) An applicant files a rebuttable application for a contractor performing a specific job. For example, a general contractor contracts with a painter to paint a house and 3) A wood harvester files for a certificate of independent contractor status. When approved the wood harvester can harvest wood on any landowner's property and not be considered an employee or require workers' compensation insurance. A landowner, wood harvester or individual hiring the independent contractor completes the application, it is signed by all parties and mailed to the Workers' Compensation Board for review. A decision is issued approving or denying the request and sent to both parties. The decision or approved predetermination is effective for up to one year. The approved request means that the applicant does not have to provide workers compensation insurance for the contractor. A typical file contains the original application and a copy of the approved or denied decision.	Paper	1/19/2007 Years	3	0	Destroy	Current

The Legislature enacted P.L. 1997, Chapter 486 which created the Office of Monitoring, Audit and Enforcement. The Monitoring Division creates compliance-related reports and manages the data quality and transfer of that information between the insurance community and the Workers' Compensation Board. The information is used by the Monitoring Division to compile quarterly and annual compliance reports that are issued to the Workers' Compensation Board, the Legislature, the insurance community and the public. The information is also used to file Complaints for Audit against insurers who display poor compliance and is also used as evidence in legal proceedings to identify "Questionable Claims Handling Practices" and "Willful Violations of the Act". The Agency keeps these records to support future Workers' Compensation Board audits as well as market conduct exams conducted by the Bureau of Insurance on referral from the Workers' Compensation Board. Schedule #: 1719 24A:Audit Working Papers and Reports

Department Series Report

90: Independent Agencies - Regulatory

Description	Media	Last Updated	In Agency Retention	Rec Center Retention	Disposition	Status
The Legislature enacted P.L. 1997, Chapter 486 which created the Office of Monitoring, Audit and Enforcement. The Audit Division supports the Office of Monitoring, Audit and Enforcement by auditing the compliance of insurers, self-insureds, and third-party administrators with the Maine Workers' Compensation Act, Title 39 A M.R.S.A. The auditor conducts either a desk audit or an on-site audit. Audit working papers are defined by statute as “all documentary and other information acquired, prepared or maintained by the Workers' Compensation Board during the conduct of an audit or investigation, including all intra-agency and interagency communications relating to an audit or investigation and draft reports or any portion of a draft report.” A typical file contains the auditor's working papers and the final audit report including the underlying reconciled information (sample attached). The files are used to gather information regarding the audited entity's compliance with the Maine Workers' Compensation Act. During the course of an audit, the audit files are shared with the client. Once the audit is completed, the auditor prepares an audit report reflecting any statutory violations and penalties due. Per statute, the final audit report, including the underlying reconciled information, is not confidential. The Agency keeps these records to support future Workers' Compensation Board audits as well as market conduct exams conducted by the Bureau of Insurance on referral from the Workers' Compensation Board.
